Leaders Push Annual Seed Program.

A better quality wheat crop is the objective of a concerted campaign against diseases being conducted by agricultural leaders in Nebraska. Posters urging farmers to clean and treat their seed wheat are being distributed throughout the winter wheat section pointing out that wheat treated with "Ceresan" usually gives better stands and higher yields, in addition to controlling stinking smut.

Official poster of the 1950 campaign is shown above being inspected by J. C. Swinbank, Secretary of Nebraska Grain Improvement Association; George Round, Director of Public Relations, and Dr. J. E. Livingston, Assistant Plant Pathologist, all of the College of Agriculture, University of Nebraska, Lincoln.

An increased number of seed cleaning and treating establishments are operating this year to provide this vital service to more farmers throughout the wheat area.

Show How People Lived In Pre-Industrial New England

Mill stones more than 100 years old still do service at the historic Wright grist mill at Old Sturbridge Village, Mass., museum and crafts center. During the process of grinding grain, the stones become glazed and must be sharpened periodically by experienced millers.

Sometimes the museum workers lifted the large grinding stones to prepare them for sharpening and the exacting task fell to Mr. Charles A. Almquist of Milford, Conn., one of New England's few old-time millers. The top stones, which turn during grinding, weigh about 1800 pounds each and only one can be sharpened a day. The job is done by hand with a small steel-headed hammer that resurfaces the face of the stone each time the hammer is dropped by the miller. The bed stones, which are stationary, weigh approximately 1500 pounds.

The stones were imported more than 100 years ago from France and saw service at the Porter grist mill, Hebron, Conn. Almquist once operated the museum's mill until his retirement a year ago. Earl L. Morey, present miller, himself an old-time miller, assisted Mr. Almquist. The mill is one of the 26 communal buildings currently comprising this re-created New England town of the year 1800. It is one of the several functional craft shops where students and tourists may see how people worked and lived in pre-industrial New England.

SHORT STORY

See What I Mean?

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

EXCEPT FOR the fact that Allen Bursley was a coward, Maybelle's happiness was complete. Being a Wesleyan, even though the once vast properties of her forefathers had shriveled to a mere 20-acre farm on the outskirts of Stockbridge, she could not abide cowards.

Worst of all, Allen Bursley didn't seem to think that being branded a coward was at all important.

"Why," he asked, "should I want to fight Steve Legge? I've nothing against him. He's done nothing to offend me."

"Why?" she stormed. "You ask me why? Isn't it enough to be told he's saying such dreadful things about you?"

"But suppose the stories aren't true? And what if they are?"

"Allen Bursley," Maybelle said tensely, "you listen to me. When you came up here and bought the Thompson place and tried to make a go of farming, everyone laughed. But you fooled 'em. You made the place pay by dint of hard work, and then you made me fall in love with you — and I was tremendously happy and wanted to get married only—"

"Only," said Allen, "everybody figured you were Steve Legge's girl, and when we became engaged Steve began to threaten. And now you won't marry me, till I've licked him."

"I wouldn't marry a coward," said Maybelle scornfully.

The word spread like wildfire. Maybelle Wesleyan had broken off her engagement with Allen Bursley, because Allen had admitted being afraid of Steve Legge. Steve became more swaggering. He yearned for some excuse to bully the city man.

THE OPPORTUNITY came a fortnight later in front of the village postoffice. It was evening and more than half of the town's population was gathered there. Allen Bursley came out onto the porch, his attention concentrated on a letter in his hand. He did not see the outburst of Steve Legge, and fell over it, saving himself by grasping a post.

Look where you're going, you clumsy idiot! Kicking a man in the leg."

Allen withheld the apology that rose to his lips, and said instead: "Keep your legs under you if you don't want them kicked."

"Say! Who do you think you're talking to, you shriveled-up city sissy?"

Allen hesitated, carefully folded his letter and tucked it into his pocket. "Legge," he said, "I don't want to quarrel with you—"

Steve let out a roar of contemptuous laughter. "Afraid, eh? Well, we don't abide cowards—"

"But," finished Allen quietly, "since you insist, let me advise you, you brought it on yourself." Steve lunged and something

Earth Gets 'Spring Fever'
Slows Down Its Rotation

When the sap rises, the crocus starts budding and the robin's on the wing, the earth seems to get "spring fever" and slows down its daily rotation just a little.

Scientists at the University of California's Scripps institution of oceanography have investigated this phenomenon to determine the cause of the seasonal slow-down.

They have found that there is just enough shift in weight due to the rising of the sap in vegetation and to the increase in foliage during the spring to cause the globe to decrease its speed 0.02 milliseconds per day. Atmospheric currents, particularly prevailing westerly winds, contribute 1.5 milliseconds per day loss in speed, and ocean currents are responsible for 0.10 milliseconds per day.

There is also evidence that human activity makes a slight contribution to the slow-down. For example, the research shows that if all the automobiles in the United States were driven from Fairbanks, Alaska, to Mexico City at about the same time, the earth's rotation would be affected by .000002 milliseconds per day.

Another fact brought out in the study is that these factors seem to affect the earth's velocity more when they occur in the northern hemisphere than when they happen below the equator.

Dr. Walter Munk, associate professor of geophysics, is in charge of the investigation. Purpose of the study is to see whether it is possible to use accurate astronomical observations in conjunction with the atomic clock as a means of studying the circulation of the atmosphere.

New Schools to Relieve Veterinarian Shortage

A 70 per cent increase in the number of schools of veterinary medicine is expected to relieve the shortage of veterinarians. Prior to World War II, there were only 10 such schools in the United States, but in recent years seven new ones have been opened in order to meet the growing demand.

Graduating classes totaled more than 800 this spring—nearly double the annual average during wartime—and authorities estimate that the 17 schools soon will be graduating nearly 1,000 every year.

Five years of college training formerly were required for a degree in veterinary medicine, but the requirement has now been increased to six years.

Following state board examinations to obtain licenses to practice, most of the current crop of graduates will locate in rural areas. Much of their work will be devoted to the care of farm animals and to public health service in meat and milk inspection. A large percentage of this group will devote part of their practice to the care of pet animals, with fur-bearers and zoo animals also coming in for a share of attention.

Lice Lower Profits

Lice on laying hens cut deeply into the profit from the laying flock. Poultry producers do not realize that lice is causing loss of eggs until the egg production takes a big drop. Lice worry the hens and the nervous reaction will cause the egg production to drop. Lice is one of the easier forms of poultry parasites to control. The producer can treat the roosts with a nicotine sulfate compound just before time for the hens to go to roost. This compound will be evaporated by the warmth from the hens and the fumes, going through the feathers, will kill the lice. This treatment should be repeated in 10 to 12 days so that the young lice that have just hatched will be killed.

Blamed for Horse Disease

Research men in Georgia have uncovered new evidence that mosquitoes are spreaders of the virus that causes the horse disease known as encephalomyelitis or sleeping sickness. Laboratory tests with mosquitoes trapped at random in the state showed that some of them were harboring the virus of this deadly infection. Veterinary medical authorities say this finding re-emphasizes the need for eliminating insect pests on farms where horses and other livestock are kept.

'Super' Cottons

"Super" cottons, triple-hybrids that spin into yarns of from 25 to 50 per cent greater strength than present yarns, may become virtually a new raw material for use in cotton manufacturing. In early experiments, it has been found that some of these cottons spin more easily and produce yarns of greater smoothness and uniformity. Some varieties are reported to have luster like certain synthetic materials.

Test for Tuberculosis

A new, cheap blood test for tuberculosis, the first usable one in medical history, has been announced by a Duke university bacteriologist. The discovery clinaxes a 50-year search by scientists. Until now no tests have been satisfactory because they were not sensitive enough to detect early tuberculosis, or because they gave false positive reactions when patients had other diseases besides tuberculosis.

Migration of Land Plants Into Sea Water Explained

About 60 species of flowering plants have "gone to sea." Like the whales and the seals among animals, they have abandoned the land and become thorough-going marine organisms. For the most part they have remained in shallow water.

The higher plant, even more than the mammal, seems to be tied to the land and it is highly probable that any ever originated in salt water. Only lower orders of plant life, such as algae and fungi, can have lived always in the seas.

But the marine migration of the land plants has played an important part in the economy of sea life. Eel grass, abundant everywhere along temperate shores, is the favorite food of waterfowl. Another migrant from the land furnishes the food of the manatee, or sea cow, an essentially vegetarian animal. Most of these plants grow in dense patches in submarine fields, affording shelter for many kinds of animal life. A few other land plants have just "stepped in the water." Presumably they became accustomed to salt-impregnated soil near the shore for countless generations before venturing farther.

There is some evidence that the plants which went to make up the great coal deposits grew at sea level and not far from the shores of ancient oceans.

There is no evidence, as to when the seaward migration of the higher plants took place.

Develop New X-Ray Method Picturing Muscles, Veins

A new X-ray method which may help science understand and possibly slow down the process of aging by photographing hitherto hidden parts of the body is reported.

Quicker diagnoses of thrombosis and malignant tumors as well as substantial aid to polio victims in regaining the use of their muscles are promised by the technique, which photographs muscles and veins for the first time. The method was perfected at the Academic hospital of Uppsala, Sweden, by Dr. Bo Ingelmark and Dr. Arne Frantzell, two members of the hospital staff.

Formerly X-ray pictures could be taken only of skeletal parts and of organs containing air. Such organs as the digestive tract could be photographed only with the use of registering substances, such as barium. Pictures obtained with the use of registering substances, however, show virtually only the extent of the substance. The new method allows photography of both skin and muscles, showing the size of the fat content of the soft parts.

Acid concentration in the skin can be determined, thrombosis can be detected at a much earlier stage than formerly, and malignant tumors can be diagnosed.

Allen withheld the apology that rose to his lips, struck him like a sledge-hammer and set him back on his heels.

He struck out blindly, accompanying his blows with foul curses, only to have the curses jammed between his teeth with the same sledge-hammer.

Above him Allen Bursley heard a feminine cry from behind and turned to see Maybelle running toward him. He held out his arms, but she stopped, hand over mouth, trying to get out the cry of warning, and falling. The club, held in the hand of Steve Legge, descended crushingly on the back of Allen's head . . .

When Allen opened his eyes his head was pillowed in the lap of Maybelle. She was looking up at someone and talking. "Allen licked him," she was saying. "He's much stronger than he looks—"

Allen's eyes twinkled. "No, I'm not," he said unexpectedly. "It wasn't because I'm strong. It was knowledge—knowing how to handle myself, like knowing how to farm. That's the trouble with you folks up here. You don't know how to do things. See what I mean?"

"All I ask is that you teach me how to—make you a good wife forever and ever."

Pasture Rotation Called Key to Livestock Health

The grass isn't always greener in the next pasture, but it's likely to be a lot healthier for livestock, a bulletin from veterinary medical authorities points out.

Pasture or animal rotation is as necessary to the health of livestock as rotation is to successful crop production, the bulletin adds.

Farmers are urged to start the spring pasture season right by practicing complete rotation for each species of livestock they raise. This calls for either keeping all livestock off a given pasture for two years, or shifting pigs, sheep or horses to grounds that were used by cattle the previous year.

Such rotation is necessary because continuous use of pastures, lots, or ranges for the same species of animals causes the land to become heavily contaminated with parasites and disease germs. The only way to beat the problem is to keep the parasites and germs from getting at their favorite host, thereby starving them out. For example, with few exceptions the internal parasites of sheep do not thrive in cows or other animals, and those lingering on pastures usually die within one to two years if sheep are removed.

Pasture management as practiced by most farmers consists of rotation every three to eight weeks. This system is good for the pasture, the bulletin says, but it is ineffective from the standpoint of parasite control.

For best results, at least a year and preferably two years should elapse before any herd or flock is returned to its original pasture.

State Tree of Maryland

Maryland's choice of the white oak as the official state tree is credited to the majestic Wye Oak at Wye Mills, Talbot county, on the state's "eastern shore." One of the nation's largest, the far-spreading Wye Oak is 95 feet high and about four centuries old.

SHORT STORY

Tables Turned

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

FLIRTING was second nature with Deborah Bellamy. No one would have guessed, after one glance at her gay, laughing face, after one look into her mocking, tantalizing eyes, that inwardly she was afraid.

3-Minute Fiction

Afraid that sometime some one of her victims was going to turn the tables. That is to say, she knew that one day she was going to fall in love with one of the men with whom she flirted. And that, she knew, would be the end. The end to all her gay, reckless happiness. She never dreamed—that this man would prove to be a cowboy, named Lon Fairweather.

Deborah had joined a party who planned a month's vacation at a dude ranch in Wyoming. Lon was the foreman. He was tall, fair, handsome. After one look into his sober blue eyes, Deborah began to lay her snares.

Lon was different, but he was also human. Hence he succumbed to her wiles, just as had the others. The night he told Deborah of his love they were seated on a high boulder overlooking a hemmed-in lake.

Something about the beauty and grandeur of the scene stirred Deborah's soul. She found herself listening to Lon's love-making more soberly than was her custom.

"Oh, Lon," she said a little breathlessly, "Not now..." She pushed him away and ran up the path toward the ranch house. Once back in her room she faced herself in the mirror and laughed.

In the days that followed Lon persisted in occupying her thoughts. Some what in desperation she cast about for escape. And then a plan came to mind. She'd ask him to come to New York. She'd get him on home ground, compare him with the sort of life she was used to.

The idea seemed a good one and strangely enough Lon agreed to come—in the fall.

FALL CAME, and she planned a party. She invited all those who had been at the Double O Bar that summer.

Lon arrived in due time and called at Deborah's apartment. She was a little taken aback at the ease and grace with which he wore his smart new tuxedo, and in spite of herself she thrilled when he swept her into his arms.

The dinner was set for 8. At 7:30 the guests began to arrive. Lon was surprised when he saw that the men wore chaps and high-heeled boots; that the women were garbed in divided riding skirts and gay-colored blouses.

A butler came to the door and yelled: "Come and get it, cowboy!" Deborah felt a little uneasy as Lon escorted her to her seat. Her uneasiness grew as he looked slightly puzzled upon discovering there was no silverware at his place save a broad-bladed knife. He hesitated, watching in amazement as the other guests picked up their knives, and with suppressed chuckles began to scoop up peas and shove them into their mouths. He watched as they poured coffee from their cups and drank from their saucers.

She found herself listening to Lon's love-making a little more soberly than was her custom.

"I understand," he said, looking directly at Deborah. "And I regret I can't appreciate the humor of the thing. You see," he added, "we westerners have had it drilled into us by you easterners, that we're crude and have no manners."

"But," he paused and made a little, perfunctory bow toward Deborah. "Now I know something else; know that whatever other manners you folks might have you don't know the meaning of hospitality."

And with this he carefully placed his napkin on the table, pushed back his chair and strode from the room.

"Lon! Lon!" she called. "Please come back. It was all my fault. I'm sorry. Please!"

But Lon was already through the door and halfway down the stairs. Above, on the landing Deborah stood as if dazed. There was a terrible gnawing sensation inside of her, a great, desolate, miserable feeling. She knew then that Lon Fairweather had been the man she was afraid of meeting.

Decorative Interest Rooms that are square and uninteresting in shape can be improved by having one wall painted a color that is different from the other three. This provides a focal point of interest. If there is a fireplace in the room, the decorative interest is usually placed on the fireplace wall.

The working end of each bristle used in a paint brush is divided into several fine hairs known as flag ends. These are the highly important parts which hold the paint in the brush and help to spread it smoothly.

LONE STAR

A group of ladies surprised Mrs. George Bartholomew last Wednesday on her birthday anniversary. Those present were Mrs. Otto Cassidy, Mrs. Rudolph Hoesek, Mrs. Archie Shafer and Mrs. Hazel Guggenmos. Mrs. Franklin Ackles called after school. Lunch was served about 5 p. m. and everyone enjoyed the afternoon. Otto Cassidy took the group to the Bartholomew home.

More than 3 inches of rain fell in this vicinity from Saturday evening to Monday morning. Mrs. Rudolph Hoesek spent the week end in North Platte visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jay Stoddard. She went with Mr. and Mrs. Tony Schmidt. She returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Spilanek were at the Dean Bonsall home Saturday. Joe helped Dean stack his alfalfa.

Friday, Otto Cassidy and Rudolph Hoesek sold cattle on the Burwell market.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Ackles called at the Hazel Guggenmos home Saturday forenoon.

Public Transit It would take 37 highways stretching from New York to San Francisco to equal the 112,700 miles of route over which public transit systems operate streetcars, trackless trolleys and buses.

Nautical Mile

Nations disagree on the precise length of a nautical mile. According to U. S. calculations, it is 6,080.20 feet. Britain used 6,079.93 feet; France and Germany, 6,073.10 feet, while Iceland makes it 6,085.95 feet.

Book Notes

The book Kon-tiki is an adventure story. The fact that it is a true story makes it even more exciting.

The author, Thor Heyerdahl, a Norwegian scientist, developed a theory that the Polynesian islands had been peopled by migrants from South America.

To prove his theory he, with five other adventurers built their own raft from trees felled in Peru. They then set out from Callao, Peru and April 28, 1947, 101 days later their raft grounded on the Raiora reef not far from Tahiti.

These six men lashed together nine logs, the longest a 40 footer, built a dinky cabin on it, and on this raft they set out to make a landfall over a vast expanse of ocean.

There is little point in telling you about the sharks they fought, about the snake mackerel that slid into their beds, about the giant whale shark longer than their raft that visited them, or the raft wreck. All in all it is a magnificent adventure story.

Dr. Harold Grohosky of Houston, Tex. arrived here Monday night for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Grohosky and his daughter, Mary Kay, who makes her home with her grandparents, and attends the Scotia high school.

Steve Grohosky, who has been employed by the Prudential Insurance Company, for the past 15 years as fieldman will retire Nov. 1. He has been training Jack De Wulf of Cedar Rapids to take his place. Contrary to rumors, the Grohoskys will continue to make Scotia their home. Steve will spend his time writing insurance and will be more active in his real estate business. Mr. De Wulf will make his headquarters at Kearney or some central point.

Sunday night visitors at the Bert Murphy home in Grand Island were three of their sons and their families. Nick of Riverton, Leonard of Scotia and Joe of Campbell.

We have some good 160 acre farms, near town, we would like to show you. Good improvements. One on gravel road and one near oil road. Some nice small acreage lots with improvements. A good section with 480 acres pasture, some improvements.

North Loup, Nebr.

Word has been received from Mrs. Louise Dault and her daughter, Phyllis, that they expect to be home by the first of the week. It is thought they will drive in the latter part of this week. They have spent the past two months in Washington and Oregon.

Art Miller has been redecorating the inside of the Horace school. The roof has also been repaired. The Walter Placke family went to Omaha this week to attend the 4-H calf judging and will spend the week until the stock is sold on Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Mark Wagner planned to attend. Harold Placke, Donald Wagner and David Peterson were the three boys to show calves this year from our territory.

Mr. and Mrs. Fay Gillham visited with the Tim Selk and Delmar Stinson families at Cushing Sunday.

Mrs. Joe Murphy of Campbell and her sister, Mrs. Don Thornton and son of San Francisco came Saturday to see their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Halpin and other relatives. Mrs. Halpin is improving since her hospitalization. Joe Murphy and Mr. Thornton came Sunday. Both families called on the Leonard Murphys.

The Neighboring Neighbors club met last Thursday with Mrs. Dick Foster. The afternoon was spent sewing. This club has received honorable mention for its work for public institutions. At this time they are sewing tea towels and canning vegetables to be sent to some worthy home.

The Bill Cook family came down from Atkinson, Friday night. Bill refereed the football game between Comstock and Scotia. They stayed with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Selk. Saturday accompanied by Harry they drove to Lincoln to see the Indiana-Nebraska game. They returned to their home Sunday night.

Chas. (Kebe) Keown was able to come to his home, Tuesday, after undergoing major surgery in a Grand Island hospital last Tuesday.

Harry Selk attended a corn meeting in Fullerton, Monday night.

To honor three family birthdays, Mrs. John Burton planned a Sunday dinner. From a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. B. Conner and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Mitchell of near Amelia, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Steffen and sons and Mrs. Donald Hutchings and Debby of North Loup, Mr. and Mrs. Al Sautter, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gydesen and family, Mr. and Mrs. Egan McBeth and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Burton and family besides the host and hostess of Scotia.

The Brownie Scouts met Friday after school at the home of Mrs. Clarence Sixel, their leader, and Mrs. Wendell Bell assistant leader. Election of officers was held. Janet Jo Sixel was chosen president; Delores McNeilis, vice president; Judy Farrell, secretary and treasurer. Sharon Bell, news reporter and Sally Gebhardt, scrap book. Shirley Johnson is a new Brownie. The girls will hold a candy sale Saturday afternoon at Ashley's hardware.

Sunday visitors at the Melvin Lund home were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Neilsen and Bert Neilsen of Cushing and Miss Hazel Post of Dannebrog.

The Frank Barry family have moved to Hastings where he is employed. He was a former reclamation employee.

Van Smith accompanied his grandfather, Evan Smith sr., to Shelton, Friday. His parents drove after him Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale May went to Kearney to see Dale's father, Edgar May, who is in a hospital there. Dale's mother returned from the clinic at Rochester, Minn. where she had received treatment Saturday night and Mr. May entered the hospital at Kearney on Monday. Mrs. May is spending part of her time here with her son and his wife, and also at Hastings with relatives. Reports on both are "good."

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Schmidt and daughter of Ord were guests in the Wendell Bell home Sunday. Mr. Bell's brother, Ray Gray of Nebraska City was a visitor last week.

When You and I Were Young

Ten Years Ago. — Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Thodal left for New York City after disposing of the effects of the City Cafe at auction. — C. E. Rusmisse opened his Western Auto store in the Keown building, but moved to his present location later. — Harry Wolte resigned as janitor in the Ord schools and Ralph Hatfield became head janitor. New maps in the schools was Thomas (Buck) Williams. — Gould Flagg made the golf rounds at the annual handicap match in 70 strokes, which with a handicap of 4 made him low man for the meet. — The Ord post office moved to the new building, while the Valley County Farm Bureau and the FSA moved into the basement rooms designed for them. — The first draft board for Valley County was announced as I. L. Sheldon, North Loup, A. H. Hastings, Arcadia, and Martinus Biemond, Dr. F. A. Barla and John P. Misko, all of Ord. — The Burlington railroad was making plans to discontinue passenger service on the Burwell and Sargent branches. — Ben Janssen had handed in his resignation and Ed Oetkin was to head the Co-op Oil Co. after Oct. 1.

Twenty Years Ago. — Henry Ohlsen and sons of David City were awarded the contract to build the Ord Theater by M. Biemond, and the new building was to occupy the site of the former People's Store. — Theodore Toenig was to be the new leader of the Ord band and orchestra. — The Ord Implement company was demonstrating the New Idea Cornpicker, which was supposed to pick two rows at a time. Pickers have improved greatly since that time. — The new license numbers 1931, were to be brilliant red letters on a pure white background. Later it was found that the red faded. — Connie Mack's Athletics won the world series behind the fine pitching of George Earnshaw, who crushed the St. Louis Cards by a score of 7 to 1 in the sixth game of the series. — An aerial rodeo was to be held on the Ed Zikmund place with four planes taking part. One of the features was to be a parachute jump by a local man. — A green Ord football team lost to Scotia, 7 to 0. — A. M. Mutter, old resident of Ord, died at his home in Grand Junction, Colo., at the age of 81 years.

Thirty Years Ago. — The Ord fire department was called to the Frank Norman place in north Ord to extinguish a fire in a shed. — Willis Waite's car collided with a horse ridden by C. R. Kingston near the Vinton school. The horse's leg was broken and the car considerably damaged, but both men escaped without serious injury. — Charley Mutter, son of Orin Mutter, fell and broke his right arm while skating on Ord's new paving. — Arthur G. Wray was running for governor of Nebraska on the Independent ticket, and was received with much enthusiasm in Ord while on a speaking tour. — A lecture of the Ord city hall, which was still to be built, was shown in the Quiz, and it was strikingly accurate except that it was just the reverse of how the building was finally constructed. — A Mr. Millman, real estate man from Stromsburg, had been employed as the new secretary of the Ord Community club.

Forty Years Ago. — Perry Luse had been appointed carrier on rural route No. 2, taking the place of W. A. Anderson, who had been carrying until the new man was appointed. — Carl Olson and Morris Sorenson left for Canada to make their home, shipping their household goods by freight. — Marriage licenses were issued to Edward C. Helbig and Miss Nellie Rich, both of North Loup, and L. E. Knapp and Myrtle Ruth Eglehoff, both of lower Davis Creek. — Lou Schwaner went to Osceola, Nebr., to look the place over relative to starting a jewelry store. — Tom Kusan went to Grand Island to buy new outfit for doing sign work. He intended to specialize in gold leaf, as doe optical school and complete a course in watchmaking and fitting glasses. — E. M. Williams of the First National bank went to Omaha where he attended the fourteenth annual convention of the Nebraska Bankers' association.

Fifty Years Ago. — McKinley and Roosevelt were running for the head of the national ticket of the republicans and the democrats were yelling "Imperialism." The democratic candidate for president was one William Jennings Bryan, but nobody seems to remember who the candidate for vice-president was. — Cashier E. M. Williams returned from Omaha, where he had gone to attend the fourth annual convention of the Nebraska Bankers' association. — A large crowd went from Ord to Grand Island Oct. 3 to hear Teddy Roosevelt speak. — The Quiz added a wire stitcher to the bindery department for the purpose of binding books and pamphlets. — Miss Emma Robbins went to Chicago to begin a four year course in the study of medicine. — Oct. 4 was the day set for the marriage of R. M. Laverly to a Miss Horton of Lexington. With a fine disregard for details, the Quiz left out any further information.

Sixty Years Ago. — Oct. 17 J. C. Kinley was to sell his stock and implements on the John Calligan farm 2 miles east and half a mile south of Manderson. The Charlie Palmatiers remember them, but do you? — R. W. Hayslip and wife of Lewiston, Pawnee county, arrived in Ord, and he planned to teach school, which he did for many years. They rented the house vacated by W. H. Clark. Mr. Hayslip was postmaster at Lewiston, but resigned the job to come to Ord. — The farm home of Robert Stone of Round Park was completely destroyed by fire, together with most of its contents, making a loss of $2,000, with $1,000 insurance. — E. W. Waterman (grandfather of the present generation) sent four samples of sugar beets to the department of agriculture in Washington, D. C. in accordance with instructions from the government. Now, after 60 years, the beet industry is definitely established in the North Loup valley, except that the output is restricted and not too many are raised.

Fats for Cooking
Are you pennywise in the matter of fats for cooking and table use? Butter or margarine, of course, are preferred for spreading bread and rolls. But lard, vegetable fats or oils are fine for baking, while bacon fat and meat drippings make excellent meat pies, and for seasoning casseroles, stew and warmed up foods.

Vets Get Helpful Insurance Advice

The Veterans' Administration today gave veterans four pieces of advice that, if followed, will enable them to keep their National Service Life Insurance (G. I. Insurance) in force with little effort and practically no trouble.

Ashley Westmoeland, Lincoln regional office manager, listed these four points: 1. Checks, money orders or postal notes sent to the VA in payment of NSLI premiums should be made payable only to the Treasurer of the United States.

2. Checks, money orders and postal notes should be identified with the name and address of the veteran, as well as his insurance number and service serial number.

3. Veterans shouldn't take chances by waiting until near the end of the 31-day grace period before mailing the VA their premium payments. By waiting, they run the risk of allowing their insurance to lapse.

4. Veterans making premium payments by mail should use the premium envelopes furnished by the VA. If they do not use this envelope, they should identify fully the remittance by giving full name, address, insurance number and armed forces serial number. Also they should make certain they address the envelope to the proper VA insurance office, which, for this area, is the VA Center at Fort Snelling, Minnesota.

Obituary

CORA DELL STANTON
Mrs. Cora Dell Stanton departed this life early Monday morning, September 25, 1950, at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Stalnaker in Cairo, Nebr., where she had been visiting for a week. Death was due a heart attack and other complications.

Cora Dell Timmerman was born June 19, 1871, at Greenwood, New York, and was the eldest of five daughters, born to Montgomery and Augusta Timmerman, being 79 years, three months and six days of age at the time of her passing.

When eight years old, her parents moved to Valley county, locating near Ord, where she resided most of her life, with the exception of a few years spent in North Dakota.

On Sept. 21, 1891, she was united in marriage to William Stanton, at the home of her parents, at Springdale, near Ord. They observed their 50th wedding anniversary four days prior to her passing. Three children were born to this union, one dying in infancy. She is also preceded in death by a sister, Mrs. Harry Dye, of Ord.

Four years ago she and her husband moved to Arcadia, to make their home.

Besides her bereaved husband, she is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Stalnaker, of Cairo, and a son, Wayne Stanton, of Hastings. Two grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Three sisters, Mrs. R. C. Hunter, of Oakland, Calif., Mrs. C. C. Brown, and Mrs. Fern Anthony, both of Lincoln. Funeral services were held Thursday at the Arcadia Methodist church, with Rev. Beuhler officiating.

Mrs. Chas. Weddell, Mrs. Clyde Gogan, and Ruth Masters sang, accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Ben Mason.

Pallbearers were Chas. Weddell, Art Armstrong, Max Wall, John Duryea, Alvin Pierson, and A. C. Wilson.

Young Calves
Young calves that get too much grass and too little hay and grain may scour and fail to put on weight.

State Department
The U. S. state department was established as the department of foreign affairs, in accordance with the act of July 27, 1789. Less than two months later, on September 15, 1789, the name was changed to the present department of state.

Dogs and Children
The approach of a friendly dog will not frighten a child who has first had a chance to observe one from a safe distance or has seen his mother or father pet and play with one.

Kebby's Comments

We're still a little breathless from the baseball game Sunday in which the Phils eked out a win over Brooklyn. There may have been more thrilling games, but we can't remember one.

Going out on our well-worn limb once more, we're predicting that the Yankees will win the Series in five games.

And while we're predicting, we will prophesy one whale of a battle between Ord and Albion Friday evening at the Ord athletic field. Albion, you know, disposed of Neligh by a 19-0 count last week. And Neligh was touted to win.

Albion has a fine, aggressive team and a lot of fans will come here to boost them. But the Ord team is beginning to find itself after a slow start, and we owe it to the kids to be out there pulling for 'em.

A couple of weeks ago we picked Albion as the team to upset. And we still think it will happen.

Hipp Norman, the mail carrier, and a dog stood eyeing each other when the lady of the house came to the door. "Don't be afraid of the dog," she said. "She's a female, you see, and she likes you." "Madam," replied Hipp, the mere fact that she's a female dog does not mean she has any affection for me. I'm a mail man, not a male dog."

We see that Joe Louis may fight again. We wish he wouldn't. During the years that he's been champion, he's earned the respect of a lot of people who would hate to see him become just another slap-happy ex-pug. And that's just what would happen to him if he kept going.

We promised to tell the story of the horse who wouldn't kick field goals, but you can save yourself the agony by turning the page.

Once the Chicago Bears had a horse on the team. He was only a mediocre player, so he warmed the bench most of the season.

But came a day when the squad was hit hard by injuries and the horse was sent in to play half-back. He was sensational. His sparkling runs left opposing tacklers in the dust. His passes hit the receiver unerringly.

But despite the horse's best work, the Bears were two points behind with only a few seconds left in the game. The ball was on the opponents' 20-yard line, with the Bears in possession. There came a message from the bench to try a field goal.

The horse took a kicker's stance as the ball was snapped to the quarterback. But the horse just stood there as a whole swarm of the opposition broke through the line. The game was over.

After the game the coach angrily demanded to know why the horse hadn't kicked the field goal.

"Don't be silly," whinnied the offender. "Who ever heard of a horse kicking field goals?"

Mira Valley

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Huffman went to North Platte Saturday night where they attended the wedding of Mr. Huffman's cousin, Odeth Huffman and Robert Dykes. They returned home Monday evening.

Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Huffman entertained at a pinocchio party. Six tables of players were present. Mrs. Rose Fuss and Loree Hornickel won the high prizes and the low prizes went to Mrs. Alma Bredthauer and Walter Foth.

Hybrid Seed Corn.

This week the Cornhusker Hybrid people started to harvest their seed crop and they report a very good crop of excellent quality seed. In the past Cornhusker Hybrids have been at the top in test plots and for field performance it is very hard to equal their yields. Locally 148, 75, 63, 85, 84 and 83 all show very good yield prospects and they are well matured. Of course 107 has been matured for several weeks. You will be very well pleased with Cornhusker Hybrids. We are booking orders now and you should place your order now for preference in kernel size and hybrid number. We can make you a very nice discount if you care to pay cash for the corn when you place your order.

Hy-Line Chicks.

This week we received our 1951 price list for Hy-Line Chicks. There has been a small reduction on the chick prices for the coming season. We would like very much to take your order now for your chicks for next year. If you want more information on Hy-Lines let us tell you of your neighbors that have them. Last season we were able to place many flocks in our section of the State and we have had some very good reports on them.

Alfalfa Seed.

If you have alfalfa seed to sell we are in the market for your seed and believe that we are paying a higher price than other buyers. We want to buy enough local seed to take care of our spring demands. It will be impossible for us to ship out seed at the prices that we are bidding on seed. We can also use a couple of hundred bushels of sweet clover seed.

Fertilizer.

The war situation is tightening up the prospects for fertilizer for the coming year. At present we do not believe that we will be able to get enough Nitrate to take care of all the demand next year. We have several carloads ordered that we do not have full confirmation as yet on all of them. Our orders will be filled in rotation and if you plan to use Nitrate or mixed fertilizer next spring or summer we feel that your orders should be placed now.

Grain.

The grain markets have been a little better the past few days but export orders on wheat are hard to get and the market does show considerable weakness. It would seem to us if you have wheat to move to market that now would be a good time to move it. Local corn price remains under loan price but we would be glad to handle your corn and give you prompt service. We have some very good quality corn and barley for the local feeder trade.

For Sale.
We have an 8 by 28 poultry house for sale. This is a well made building and we would like to have it moved the last of Oct. Also have a very good portable grain elevator for sale. Ask to see these and get prices.

Conscription.

Conscription is not a pleasant word. It is not a word that sounds agreeable to anybody, and especially to people living in a democracy. It is foreign to our principles of democracy, in that it compels the citizen to do what he should do of his own volition in emergency, come to the defense of his country when the exigency demands it.

In America we have conscription, and have had it for the past ten years, not because we desire it, but because it has been forced upon us by other nations who use conscription, not only for the armed forces, but also for work in the factories and on the farms; not only conscription of man power, but also conscription of resources.

Conditions prevail in our democracy that would not be there except for outside influence. The use of force, compelling a citizen to do this and that, except in the case of convicts who have lost their right to self-determination, is repellent to the mind, but necessary for the preservation of our American way of life.

The trouble is, that, if given the right to control a man's life in one field, the government seems bent upon controlling the lives of all citizens in all fields, and it is this tendency that must be guarded against at all times. Today, for example, the government is telling the farmer what he can grow, how much he can grow, and where and how he must grow it.

Compared with the horse and buggy days, the farmer of today has lost much of the freedom he once enjoyed. If the planners could have their way, what liberties still remain to him would speedily disappear. And it is all being planned by men who claim to have the welfare of the farmer at heart. Sad to admit, many are being deceived.

Labor and industry are already pretty definitely regimented and the trend is more in that direction every day. The last stronghold of democracy as we once knew it is the farm, where man has always lived close to nature. If we value the liberties we have we must make a definite stand, and at once.

Bookwaller Land.

According to the records in the county treasurer's office, there is still 640 acres of land in the name of Bookwaller. This is Section 33 in Davis Creek township. Some fifty years ago the Bookwaller interests owned 9 section in Davis Creek alone, as well as a large amount of land in most of the other townships of the county.

Ten years ago the widow of W. H. Bookwaller, Nancy Jane Bookwaller, died at the age of 83 years. Her husband died many years before that. Her death called to mind, at that time the early day investment of the Bookwalters in Nebraska land, and investment that paid dividends to the buyers and was also of benefit to those who bought the land later.

Many phases of the story are difficult to attain, but the history of Nebraska, and Valley county in particular, would not be complete without a few paragraphs devoted to this interesting phase of the early history of the state. E. B. Weekes knows much that has not been told, and this information will be incorporated in a complete story in the near future, it is hoped.

The story all hinges on an arrangement made with the railroads in the early days by the state government, whereby they would build roads to certain sections of the state, they to receive in return the alternate odd sections of land for a distance of twenty miles on either side of the track.

The possession of this land by the railroad did not constitute a tangible asset at that time, but was more of an investment, which, if held for a number of years, might bring back the original with some interest. Money was needed for building track, and so this land was placed on the market as soon as there were settlers in Valley county to buy the land. The village of North Loup, for example, was started on land Mr. Green purchased from the Burlington railroad.

The Bookwalters, of whom there appear to have been two, W. H. and John W., were men of wealth at the time, and what was more to the point, they had funds immediately available for investment in land. They spent a large sum of money in acquiring land throughout Nebraska from the Burlington.

In this arrangement John W. Bookwaller acquired a large amount of land in Valley county, especially in Davis Creek township. Just what the maximum was it is not certain, but it is known that he owned about 65 quarters of land in the county about 1900, now fifty years ago, and forty quarters of this were in Davis Creek. In addition there were eight quarter sections in North Loup township, seven in Ord township, six in Enterprise township, three in Independent township and one in Springdale township.

This made a magnificent estate of 10,400 acres, except that the land was not in one solid block. However, it was not the intention of the Bookwalters to hold this land indefinitely, but rather to turn it to suitable buyers when the land would sell for a price that would yield them a profit on their investment. Today only one section of Bookwaller land remains.

Ten years ago there were sixteen quarters, and these were distributed among five members of the family. This faith of the Bookwalters in Nebraska was justified, and they realized a good return on their original investment. They did the railroad a good turn by taking the land off their hands, and they made it easy for settlers to come in and buy the land from them.

Many a farmer has leased Bookwaller land, saving the money he made on it until he acquired enough to buy the land and own it himself. The land has always been offered on favorable terms, and to people who were desirable citizens.

Thus ends the brief story of one of the greatest gambles in western land in the nation's history, a gamble that paid well for the risk involved. The Bookwalters had no assurance that the land would ever be worth the price they paid for it, but they were willing to take a chance. So also were the people who bought this land from the Bookwalters, and today Valley county is among the best in the state largely because people had faith in the land and bought it.

++ Something Different ++

Making the same trip to Minnesota over and over, year after year, sometimes I think it will be monotonous, and I've seen it all before, even the lovely scenery.

So when we left Cullen Lake early Thursday morning, I decided to jot down a little list of things and views intriguing.

To keep an eye out for that something different.

There seemed to be new items. At Worthington, there were big signs "the turkey capital of the world." We did see a good many turkeys. (But I've seen more in the sandhills, enroute to Alliance.)

At Redwood Falls, Minn., a beautiful name for a beautiful country, we stopped at a marvelous colonial building. It was the memorial building, the gift of someone named Gilfillan, "farmer, legislator, and good neighbor."

It was a beauty, inside and out. The rest room was one of the handiest I've seen. In a country of granite quarries, they had set chips of black granite into green cement to make floors and walls bow.

In one window (steel casement type), someone had stretched a wooden nursery gate... for ivy to climb. Visiting on the street, a salesman told us the "loveliest jewelry store in the world" was in Redwood Falls. We didn't take time to visit and check on this extravagant remark.

A large pighthouse bore a sign that amused me "Park Sheraton." What fun that farmer had mounting that sign.

We kept seeing groups of rectangular houses without doors or windows. Big government houses of hay, so neatly stacked.

The small lakes on the farmsteads bounced with a frosting of gulls. Evidently gulls had started south. But what fun they were having riding the waves. Or floating on the air currents. They are grace personified.

Big two-story barns abound. Built broadside on a hillside, in other words. The teams tour in the doors at the lower level, or perhaps haul hay into the upper level. Often the lower floor is of rock.

Those signs of Kandiyohi county. That name, Indian, I'm sure.

Quail's place. He's the duck-calling man. You may stop for lessons, or buy his duck-calls. He is good and famous, either way. He lives, should you wish to know, out of Spicer, on Green Lake.

Detours, paved. That's Minnesota. That's the way they remodel highways up here. Pave the detour, then put up detour signs and REALLY work on the highway proper.

Sumac, colored. Mostly red. My favorite color, as you know, all of its shades and nuances so gorgeously represented.

Fur farm signs. Rare in Nebraska. As fur farms are, also. Up here, for years, undesired fish end up as feed for minks, foxes, and so on.

Piles of rock in so many fields. Those poor settlers, how did they ever get up their courage to lug off the surface rocks?

And what would a buried rock do to a plow?

Peanuts, salted in the shell, not on sale in Nebraska very often, are they? Luscious, taste like more.

Seven white crosses of death mounted beside the road near Sibley. And making us pause to remember those seven young people who piled up there one spring night of 1950.

Remember the gruesome story?

Signs saying "Night crawlers for sale."

Have to explain those to many a Nebraskan. Once I had to ask. A nightcrawler is a worm, friend! You know... fish bait!

—Irma.

—Mrs. C. E. Rasmussen drove to Kearney Tuesday morning to spend a few days with her son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. T. S. Elliott and family.

Ward's 'Cookin' Column'

My thanks to good fortune for the opportunity of being the first North Loup fireman on the job for the first time since I joined the department. It happened when the preacher's chicken house across the street caught fire. We were sitting at the dinner table and the fire whistle rang at about 12:15. I remarked, "There is a fire somewhere" and son Jim, who was sitting on the north side of the table, said, "Yes, and the fire is right over there." So I jumped up, ran across the street as hard as I ever ran, but not as fast, and got there ahead of the entire department. The fact that the preacher and his wife, Mike Brennan, had the fire practically out, didn't matter so much. At least, from now on I can claim that I beat the whole department to a fire for once in my life, and I am happy.

In regard to that same fire, Preacher Harbour had to come in for some ribbing at the Lions club dinner when he was accused of smoking in the chicken house. One thing about Carl, he is big, both physically and in every other way, and enjoys jokes at his expense just as much as anybody else does.

That is one of the fine things about living in a small town where everybody knows everybody else. Nobody has much more privacy than a goldfish, and nobody seems to care. In a big place you might live there ten years and not even get acquainted with the family across the street or in the next apartment. And yet there are people who wonder why I like to live in a small town in Nebraska, when I could be living in Honolulu.

And, since I spoke of goldfish, I might just as well take a whack at Mary Kelschult, who, as everybody ought to know by this time is news editor of the Ord Quiz, and doing a fine job of it. Since he does not have time to get out and fish for the big fellows, he is going in for little fish, and has quite an aquarium on his desk. He is particularly proud of some of a fancy variety, Kentucky Warblers or some such name. They never get more than half an inch long, and he has to use a microscope on cloudy days to tell whether they are still in the bowl. He can have them, I prefer fish that can put up a fight when caught, like the carp that broke my new rod in two.

In this column recently I spoke of having a Golden Jubilee of the Century Class of Ord high school next year, and I mentioned three of the class still living in the community. I did not have the class roll to consult when I wrote it, and I unintentionally left out the member still living right in Ord, Mrs. George Parkins, the former Mrs. Purdum. My apologies to one of my good friends, who would make an ideal chairman for the local committee of one of the outstanding classes of Ord high, the class of 1901.

Belatedly, as most of this column has to be, I wish to acknowledge a visit of Mrs. Alice VanKirk Bower of Mossy Rock, Wash. She arrived shortly before Pop Corn Days and stayed for that event. They left Ord 14 years ago, and her husband, Mel Bower, died five years ago. Like so many North Loupers, she likes to get back occasionally to visit the old friends and neighbors. She stopped in to tell me how much she enjoyed reading this column. I try to make it as interesting as possible, and appreciate knowing that people are enjoying it.

I have never ridden on a merry-go-round, for the reason that it always seemed to me that it is a waste of money to pay for a ride that gets you nowhere. When I was a little kid I couldn't afford it, and when I got so I could afford it, I was too big to enjoy it. Likewise, I have never ridden in an airplane, and that is only half the story. The other half is, I never will. For a man who likes walking as well as I do, the thoughts of getting both feet off of the ground at once is abhorrent. Besides, I know of no place I may wish to go that cannot be reached in plenty of time by that most popular mode of travel, the auto or the bus. Besides, you travel at a speed that enables you to enjoy the scenery as you go along. It is true that travel broadens a man.

The trouble with airplane travel is that, if something goes wrong, it flattens you instead, and being broad minded is of very little value to a dead man.

Speaking of auto travel, it may be none of my business if some fellows want to drive at a speed that will kill them eventually, but it is my business if such drivers put my life in jeopardy. The speed maniac should keep in mind that his next ride may be slower and in a different vehicle. He will then have a following and it will be his last ride. There are many beautiful things to see in this world, and the fellow who takes his time will live long enough to see and enjoy a lot of them. The autos grow old and go to the junkyard, but the mountains, the streams, the valleys and the plains, the lakes and the oceans, like all things of God, will endure to the end of time.

Ten years ago George Gowen was writing his column, "A Few Things to Think About," in the Ord Quiz. Since then George has gone the way of all flesh, but many of his articles may still be having some effect in this world, for he was a variety, an original thinker. He did not depend on others to do his thinking for him; as too many are doing today.

The Lord gave man a brain, the idea being that he should think. He gave all men brains so that all men might do their own thinking. Fifty years ago most people were still doing their own thinking. They left many of them having their thinking done for them. John L. Lewis, for example, does the essential thinking for 800,000 coal miners, and, when he thinks they should work three days a week or quit work entirely, that is just what they do.

George Gowen was different. He thought for himself, and he wrote as he thought. Often he got under the skin of some group and they went after him hot and heavy, but that did not change his way of thinking. If everybody would be like George and think for themselves, this world would not have to worry about communism. If everybody would be like him and say what they think, we would no doubt have a lot of excitement until everybody got used to it. Just think of the things we think but do not say, because we do not wish to hurt somebody's feelings. Perhaps it would be better for them if we did say what we thought. They might change their ways, and the world would be better for it.

In my youth I developed a violent dislike for snakes and skunks and killed them at every opportunity. Now I know I was wrong, for they attend strictly to their own business, which is catching bugs, mice, grasshoppers and other small fry that do so much damage on the farm and in the home every year. I never thought much about one of the most useless of all creatures, the flea, but recently, but not by actual contact, I have come to conclusion that he is of no value, unless it be to wake people up in the morning. The flea is lower than a skunk. Who has a fair amount of spunk? To sponge his food he would de-test. So seeks it where the hunting's best.

He goes his quiet way at night. And does not need investigation; The flea, with his tormenting bite, Just lives upon the population. The flea is lower than the snake. He gives me quite a tummyache; The itch would be the better word. For he is always seen, not heard; He stays within the bedroom walls. And makes no sounds aricular; The snake on his own belly crawls, The flea is not particular.

SLIDIN' DOWN THE CHUTE

What fun these youngsters have on the numerous contrivances designed for their exercise and amusement! The children of past generations would have been delighted with such elaborate provisions for their enjoyment.

Physical training has become an important part of our modern educational system. Regular periods are assigned to it in most schools, and instructors are employed to supervise the children's play.

We are thus spending billions of dollars each year to develop the minds and bodies of our children. But what are we doing for their spiritual development? The body without the soul is dead, and education without spiritual growth is a hollow mockery.

The Church has the stupendous task of supplying this vital need in human life. Its function is to show people the way of God and teach them to think and feel and act in accordance with His will. Body, mind and spirit—but the most important of these is the spirit.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of the community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Fisher-Nielsen

A lovely fall wedding Sunday, Sept. 24, united in marriage Miss Karen Nielsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Nielsen of Oberlin, Kans., and Clarence Fisher, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Fisher of Comstock.

Rev. R. E. Wells of the Atwood Methodist church performed the double ring service before an altar setting of harmonizing baskets of pink gladioli and varied pastel asters, flanked by two seven branch candelabra. The bridal party entered through an aisle which was marked with lighted candles and white satin bows.

Proceeding the ceremony Mrs. Duane Witt accompanied by Sidney Morrish sang "I Love You Truly" and "Always." Mrs. Witt sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt for prayer at the altar.

Misses Marilyn White and Ina Louise Coster attired in aqua and pink gowns respectively lighted the tapers. Their wristlets were of pink asters.

The bride wore a simply styled gown of white slipper satin, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and sleeves that gently tapered over the hands. The lovely gown fell into folds of an aisle wide train. The illusion veil was held in place by a crown of pearl orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible topped with pink roses from which flowed streamers with pink rosebuds attached.

Mrs. Don Mines, friends of the bride, acted as matron of honor and wore a gown of rose taffeta. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Paul Fisher, brother of the groom, served as best man, with Donald Hurst and Darwin Higgins acting as ushers.

A reception was given following the wedding in the church parlors. The serving table was beautiful cloth on which was centered the tiered cake, topped with the miniature bride and groom. On either side of the cake were lighted tapers and bowls of pink and white asters.

The wedding cake was served by Dorothy O'Toole with Mrs. Bob Chambers pouring and Mrs. Allen Wurm acting as hostess. Miss Carolyn Miller was in charge of the gift table and Mrs. Darwin Higgins presided over the guest book. During the reception, Miss Olive Rallsback accompanied by Sidney Morrish sang "At Dawning" and "Will You Remember."

Morris Fisher, brother of the groom sang "Forever and Ever." Mr. Fisher was accompanied by Miss Shirley Hurst. Miss Hurst played soft piano selections during the reception.

For her wedding trip to the Black Hills, the bride wore a luggage tan suit with brown accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The bride is a graduate of Decatur community high school and has been employed at Ber's Super Market. The groom was graduated from the Comstock high school and attended St. Paul Business College. Recently he has been engaged in farming. The young couple will be at home at the Nielsen Dairy after Oct. 1.

Better Buy Buick!

PERHAPS you've noticed that there seem to be a lot of these brawny beauties running around on America's highways — and it isn't just that boldly gleaming front-end that spreads this impression. It isn't just the fact that folks who own a Buick get such a bang out of it that they do a lot of driving.

Back of all this is another fact. It's a fact that contains a broad hint to anyone who'd like to know what's what in motorear buys. 1950 Buicks are breaking all past popularity records, as registered in sales.

So we suggest that you do some personal investigating. Find out, for example, how masterful you feel, with Fireball power purring away the miles, at a polite touch of your toe on the gas treadle.

Find out how the jolts and jars seem to disappear, when you have big soft coil springs on all four wheels, and fat low-pressure tires on wide Safety-Ride rims.

Then there's Dynaflo Drive, which Buick owners vote the biggest automotive hit that has come along in years.

With all this, there's room, and comfort, and road-hugging heft combined with a light and willing response to your hand on the wheel — and prices that start down with the tires.

Seems like almost everyone wants to own one of these Buicks — and most people can. How about you? Isn't it a smart idea to see your Buick dealer now and get your name on his list?

Only BUICK has Dynaflo — and with it goes: HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve in head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models) • NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD fenders, less over-through fenders • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all coil springing, Safety Ride rims, low pressure tires, ride-steading torque tube

Abnormal Conditions Make

Phone Wires Hum

If you occasionally are delayed in completing your long distance calls these days, there is a reason for it.

The reason is that the calling load has been aggravated by the Korean situation, market fluctuations, merchandise orders, and other factors, thereby straining long distance telephone facilities beyond their normal capacity.

During the past several weeks long distance usage has been from 25 to 30 per cent above normal and it should be born in mind that other telephone companies with which we connect are having difficulties, too. In short, the condition is not confined to any local area; it is nationwide.

We are making extra efforts to handle this increased traffic load; meanwhile, your diligence and understanding will be appreciated.

Omaha Paces Markets Monday

Omaha this week made it five Mondays in a row as world's largest livestock market. The Monday total there was better than 10,000, and included were 16,000 Western cattle and calves, 6,500 Western sheep.

Trade on replacement stock was spotty. Stock calves sold steady - mainly $30.00 to $35.00 - Wyoming steer and heifer calves to a new all-time high of $37.00. Yearling stock steers sold steady with last week's 50c-$1.00 break, mostly $28.00-$32.00, one drove $32.30. Stock heifers, as much as $2.00 under the recent high time, Monday bulked at $25.00-$27.50. Feeder steers 500 pounds up, last week $1.00 lower, Monday lost up to another 50c to clear at $25.00-$27.00, scattered loads $27.50-$29.25. Stock cows sold at $21.25, quotable top around $23.00.

Western feeder lambs sold steady, mainly $29.00-$29.25. Short-term breeding ewes also sold steady, mostly $17.00-$18.00. Fat lambs also held to an even keel, better native and just-good Western springers $27.50, plain to medium kinds $24.50-$26.00. Shorn lambs with No. 1 belt bulked $26.50. Slaughter ewes held at $12.00-$13.75.

Fat cattle Monday sold steady to 50c over last week's 50c-$1.50 break, early trade best. Some steers 1100 pounds up continued hard to sell. But bulk of the run cleared at $28.00-$31.00, better yearling-type steers to $31.75. Mixed yearlings reached $31.00. Plain to medium shortfords brought $24.00-$26.50. Heifer top was $30.25. Cows sold steady against last week's $1.00 break, canners and cutters $16.00-$18.00, beef to $21.50, top Westerns $22.00, $22.25, heiferettes to $23.50. Bologna bulls sold to $24.50, beef to $23.00, Western bulls to $22.50. Vealers sold to $31.00.

Chants Outplay Albion, But Lose Grid Tilt, 7-6

Ord Nearly Tops Potent Cardinal Football Crew

Blocked Kick for Extra Point Prevents Tie Game.

The Ord Chanticleers are still looking for their first 1950 football victory.

Ord had everything—but the score. A slashing offensive style netted Coach Rolland Moore's lads a total of 15 first downs while alert defensive play held the Cardinals to eight.

Scoreless First Half. The first half was scoreless, even though Ord made eight first downs to Albion's two.

Here's the way play went during the first half:

Albion kicked into the end zone and the ball was put into play on the Ord 20 yard line. Two plays later Ord had earned a first down, but Moore fumbled on his own 22 and Ord was penalized for taking too much time, forcing a punt.

Ord drew a 5-yard penalty for offside, but on the next play Albion was penalized 15 yards for holding. Two plays into the line gained no ground for the Cardinals, and Penas recovered an Albion fumble on their 48 yard line.

Ord drove to the Albion 33 and a pair of passes from Wolfe to Penas put the Chants on the Albion 14 yard line. Maurice gained 5 yards, but a fumble was recovered by Albion and they booted out of danger.

Another Ord drive stopped when Wolfe fumbled and Albion recovered. The first quarter ended with Albion having the ball on the Ord 46.

Second Quarter.

Some excellent running by Bob Moore, behind the best blocking that Ord has shown this year, got the Chants to the Albion 26 yard marker after a Cardinal punt. But any scoring chance was lost when a pass thrown by Falter was intercepted by Flanagan.

The Cardinals were held to short gains and were forced to kick. The punt went into the end zone and Ord took over on the 20 yard line. After racking up two first downs, the Chants kicked—a short kick by Penas to the Albion 40.

The two teams battled in midfield for the rest of the quarter.

Ord Scores First.

Ord kicked to Albion to open the second half. On the first running play of the half, an Albion fumble was recovered by Ord on the Albion 27. Moore and Falter alternated in carrying the ball deeper into Cardinal territory.

A pass netted Ord a first down before the defense stiffened. Three fine plunges gained nothing for Ord, but a pass, Wolfe to Penas, was good for the touchdown. Falter's try for point was blocked.

Albion came roaring back, rolling downfield to a touchdown in a dozen plays. Myers drove to paydirt from the Ord three yard stripe and tied the score. Johnson's kick was good.

Chants Drive Again.

The final stanza was played on even terms, with a last minute passing spree by Ord driving to the Cardinal 16-yard line as the gun sounded.

The highly touted Albion squad took its third victory in 13 years by the narrowest of margins. Both teams fumbled often, but the hard driving Ord line proved more adept at recovering opponents' bobbles.

For the Chants, Bob Moore played consistently and well, both offensively and defensively, while Frank Adamek's rugged play in the line was outstanding. The passing of Ord showed improvement, with Wolfe and Falter connecting with Penas time after time.

Mail Carrier Gassed, Is Recovering

W. L. (Dutch) Blessing, carrier on rural route No. 1, Ord, has been ill with pneumonia in the Ord Cooperative hospital as a result of being gassed Friday. He was able to return home Tuesday.

While he was on his route that day the exhaust pipe on his automobile broke without his knowing it and deadly monoxide gas poured into the sedan from the broken pipe. He completed his route but complained of being ill and went home to bed. Two hours later it was found that he had

United Nations Day Will Be Observed in Valley County

Mrs. C. C. Dale Is Chairman of Local Committee.

United Nations Day will be observed in Valley county on Tuesday, October 24, according to Mrs. C. C. Dale, county chairman for the observance of UN Day. Communities all over the United States are joining in a salute to the global organization.

Mrs. Dale has announced the following appointments to the Valley county committee:

Mayor F. L. Blessing of Ord; C. C. Thompson, superintendent of Ord schools; Mrs. Elmer Zlomke, representing county women's organizations; presidents of the American Legion Auxiliary of North Loup and Arcadia; Wm. Pafaita, commander of American Legion, Fidelity Post No. 7029; Wm. Steen, president, Ord chamber of commerce; R. E. Daughette, representing church groups; Robert Noll, president of Ord Rotary club, and Fred Appelget, county superintendent of schools.

The committee will meet next week to make plans for observance of United Nations Day in Valley county.

Said Mrs. Dale: "We should do all in our power to uphold the hands of the delegates to the United Nations General Assembly as they work and strive to bring about a better world for all of us. Each of us should do his share in observing United Nations Day."

Former Ordite Pays Visit Here

An Ord visitor Saturday was Guy Abrahams of Lincoln, who was brought to see his sister, Mrs. Fred Martinsen. He and Mrs. Abrahams were driven here by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Eckery of Lincoln.

Mr. Abrahams has been in the Veterans Hospital at Lincoln the past several years, and the trip to Ord was one of the very few he has been able to take outside the hospital.

He has been bedfast or in a wheel chair the past 12 years, as the result of a plane crash a few miles north of here which also took the life of his brother, John.

Ord Trap Shooters Go for Doubles

An innovation in blue rock shooting—doubles in place of singles—proved highly popular Sunday afternoon when the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars staged their regular trap shoot at the fairgrounds.

Bird hunters—with the opening of the pheasant and duck seasons just a short time away—jumped at the chance to sharpen their shooting eye. Some of the better shots were getting 8 and 9 kills from each five pairs of rocks.

Ord veterans are debating whether to hold their regular scheduled shoot on October 22, or to defer trap shooting till after the duck and pheasant seasons close. There is a possibility that a practice shoot will be held the afternoon of the fifteenth to give hunters a last chance to brush up on wing shots, but since the trap equipment must be moved a hundred yards west, the shooting grounds may not be ready by that time.

Sister, Brother, Meet After 31 Years

Tuesday was an important day for Lester Norton, of Ord, for it marked his reunion, after 31 years, with his only sister, Mrs. Nettie Benson, of Washington, D. C. She is a guest in the Norton home here.

In 1917 she received a civil service appointment, after taking commercial work at the old St. Paul business college, and went to Washington to work. Two years later she returned for a visit with her brother, Lester, at Elyria. The two had not met since.

Mrs. Benson is on her way to San Francisco to attend a conference of national park executives and arranged for a two-day visit to Ord. Her nephew, Shirley Norton, of York, met her in Grand Island and brought her to Ord on Tuesday.

Winners of Contest to Be Named Soon

Winners of the big Quiz fishing contest will appear next week in the Quiz.

Winners in the various classes will divide $250 in prize money as a reward for their fishing skill.

Ord Selected for 'Tops in Our Town' Popularity Contest

Ord homemakers who listen to the Betty Crocker magazine of the air over KMMJ or WNAX at 9:25 a. m., will be pleased to know that some person from Ord will appear on that program on Friday, December 8.

Ord has been selected for the Betty Crocker "Tops in Our Town" contest, scheduled to start November 2 and to continue through the month. The contest is sponsored by General Mills with the cooperation of the Quiz.

Winner of the contest, who may be anyone living in Ord, male or female, old or young, will receive an all-expenses paid trip to New York for two people; the winner of the contest and companion of choice. In addition to entertainment planned, which will include trips to famous New York night clubs, tickets to Broadway shows, the winner will make a radio appearance on the Betty Crocker Magazine of the Air, and receive a special gift.

Runner-up candidates, and those who write the winning nominating letters will also be given gifts. Watch for full details in forthcoming issues of the Quiz.

GOP Caravan Will Arrive Thursday

Senator Kenneth S. Wherry will be the featured speaker when the Republican caravan comes to Ord Thursday morning. He will rejoin the caravan here after an absence of several days during which he spoke at Ft. Wayne, Ind., in behalf of Senator Homer Capehart.

Wherry is expected to arrive in Ord Wednesday night by plane. Wherry spoke to a crowd of cheering Hoosiers at Ft. Wayne, Tuesday night. He slashed hard at Vice President Barkley, who is on a cross-country tour. The Nebraska senator declared that Barkley was ordered to take the stump to give a cloak of respectability to the fight of Truman Democrats to seize control of Congress.

"Let Mr. Barkley explain why his administration and its predecessor nullified military victory by secret concessions and appeasement in the agreements of Teheran, Yalta and Potsdam," Wherry challenged.

"Let Mr. Barkley explain what has become of the 50 billion dollars you taxpayers put up in the last four years to provide adequate national defense."

Congressman A. L. Miller will be another speaker with the caravan.

The caravan has been on a whirlwind tour of the western part of the state, working mainly in the fourth congressional district.

In Ord, members of the caravan will appear in front of the court house. Most candidates for state office are appearing with the group, according to Clarence M. Davis, county GOP head.

Mrs. Loren Good Heads Extension Clubs

The October meeting of the County Council of Extension clubs was held in the library of the high school on Saturday, Oct. 7 Mrs. Loren Good of the M.A.O. club of Ord was chosen to be the County Chairman, Mrs. Herbert Goff, Springdale Kensington club, Group Chairman of Ord Center; Mrs. R. F. Mettenbrink, Homemakers club, Group Chairman of Arcadia center, and Mrs. Marilyn Van Horn, Progressive club group chairman of North Loup Center.

Mrs. Loren Good, delegate to the state meeting of the Council of Extension in North Platte, Sept. 26-27-28 gave a report of the conference.

Fund Drive Nets Ord Presbyterians $36,800

The building fund drive by the Presbyterian church has netted about $36,800 in cash and pledges to date, the Rev. Allen Strong, pastor of the church, told the Quiz Wednesday.

Add to this is the $8,000 balance in the fund at the beginning of the drive, or a total of $44,800. "We feel that the support has been very good and we're confident that our building project will be a success," said Rev. Strong.

Building of the new church structure will begin as soon as plans are drafted. Present intentions are to begin building this fall, but if cold weather arrives before building is begun, construction will be delayed until spring.

Gail Fenton Hurt in Traffic Accident Thursday Afternoon

Is Second Mishap Involving School Child This Fall

Gail Fenton, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fenton of Ord, was injured in a traffic accident about 4:30 Thursday afternoon.

The little girl, a sixth grader in the Ord schools, was crossing the street from west to east near the Presbyterian church. She walked between two parked cars and into the path of a truck, owned by the REA and driven by Leonard Suminski.

She was taken at once to the Ord Co-operative hospital where she received medical attention. She suffered a broken nose, abrasions, and bruises.

She left the hospital Saturday afternoon and returned to school Tuesday.

Second Accident. It was the second traffic accident since school began. Several weeks ago Billy Burrows was involved in a similar mishap, but his injuries were much more serious.

He suffered a fractured skull and was unconscious for several days. He is now back in school.

In both accidents more serious consequences were prevented only by alertness on the part of the drivers of the trucks which struck the children.

Kid Parade Sunday in Observance of Children's Day

C. of C. Offers Prizes in Four Divisions; Also Movie Tickets.

Hey Kids! Children! Young People! Boys! Girls! Every youngster from Kindergarten through the eighth grade! Ord young and the young of Valley county!

Sunday, Oct. 15 will be the annual celebration of Children's Day, all over the United States.

To provide fun for local young, Bill Steen and his Chamber of Commerce committee have planned a parade for all school children of Ord and our county, up to and including eighth graders.

The parade begins from the grade school grounds promptly at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, and will march down to the square and around it, and back to the grade school.

Children may enter the parade in any one of these groups: bicycle and rider; pet and leader; costume; miscellaneous. In each group a prize of $2 and $1 is offered.

Four or more youngsters may enter the competition in a group, for a first prize of $8 and a second of $4. Out-of-town judges will choose the winners.

All children entering the parade contest will be given free movie tickets by the C. of C. in recognition of their efforts.

The Ord band will head the parade, says Don Stewart, general chairman. Don will be at the grade school to collect an entry blank from every child or group entered.

In case of a downpour on Sunday, the parade will be held one week later, says the committee.

Glamour Girls Highlight Home Talent Show

These 24-karat beauties delighted the audience which saw "It's a Date," staged by the American Legion and VFW at the high school last Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Left to right, they are: Jack Fauble, Bill Goff, Carl Weckbach, Jim Gilbert, Junior Leach, and Hank Benda.

Traffic Violators Draw Penalties in County Court

Judge Also Hears One Check Case During Week.

County Judge Charles Clochon was faced with a full docket during the past seven days after several weeks which he described as "very slow."

As usual, most of the cases to come before the court were traffic violations, but one bad check charge also was heard.

John Stanek, who was arrested by Patrolman Otto Zapp last Thursday, pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to stop at a stop sign. He was fined $10 plus $4 in court costs.

Overloading a truck cost John H. Bothwell $10 and costs. He was arrested last month by a safety patrolman and pleaded guilty to the charge.

Bothwell also answered a bad check charge in county court. He was accused of giving two checks on the Chambers State Bank to Howard Huff of Ord. The checks totaled more than $20. He pleaded guilty to the check charge and was fined $5 and $15.10 in costs.

Wm. Witeberg, arrested Friday, was tried Saturday for running a stop sign. After he pleaded guilty the judge fined him $10 and costs.

C. J. Mortensen also paid a fine for a traffic violation. He was arrested by Patrolman Zapp for speeding, Friday evening. He was fined $15 and costs after pleading guilty.

Chants Face B. Bow Friday Evening

The Ord Chanticleers meet the Broken Bow Indians Friday evening on the Ord gridiron in a game that should thrill pigskin fans.

Broken Bow has a heavy team this year and apparently is headed for a successful season. So far the Indians' conference record is one win and no defeats.

Friday's game will be Ord's first conference test.

The Chants showed great improvement in their 7-6 loss to Albion last week and Coach Rolland Moore promises that the squad will be ready for a real battle.

6000 Head, $37.30 Top at Burwell Sale Friday

Over 6000 head of cattle went on the block at the Burwell Livestock Market last Friday and Saturday at the market's fifteenth annual calf and feeder sale.

Top of $37.30 was paid to Burke Bros. Brewster, who sold 46 head of 426 lb. Whiteface steers calves. A few 4-H club calves sold at $50.00. Hereford heifer calves topped at $33.50, Angus steer calves up to $37.10, Angus heifer calves at $38.20.

Purchases were made by 234 different buyers from 18 states, attendance at the sale was the largest in history.

Alwin J. Stewart New Manager of Safeway Store

Alwin J. Stewart assumed his new duties Monday as manager of the Safeway store in Ord. He replaces Arthur Kroeger, manager the past five years, who has been transferred to a similar spot at York, Neb.

Stewart will move his family here from Kearney, as soon as the Kroeger family moves to York. They will occupy the Kroeger house here.

The new manager started to work at Safeway shortly after his discharge from the Marine Corps. From Ord he went to Kearney where he was head produce clerk of Safeway.

Loren Young, head checker at the local Safeway unit, becomes manager of the store at Holdrege. He and his family left Ord this week for that town.

Judging Team Is Rated Second

The Ord high school livestock judging team ranked second at the State Hereford Show in North Platte, on Tuesday.

Two members of the group, Lonnie Dye and James Svoboda, won plaques for superior ratings. Also on the team were Edwin Penas and Eugene Novak, while Gary Nelson and Francis Zablou-dill competed as alternates.

Atkinson won the contest, with Ord second, North Platte third, Curtis fourth, and Broken Bow fifth.

Other schools in the competition were Benkelman, McCook, North Loup, Sutherland, Chappell, Ogallala, and Gothenburg.

Off Campus Courses to Be Given in Ord

Arrangements are being made for the formation of Off Campus courses in education, music and possibly American history.

Four courses in education have been suggested, from which the teachers are selecting the one which appeals the most to their needs.

The classes are to begin within the very near future and those wishing to avail themselves to the opportunity of obtaining University of Nebraska credits, or for others who wish to enroll may get further information at the office of the county superintendent.

Twenty students are necessary for the formation of each class, so it is requested that you contact the superintendent's office at once.

Legion, VFW Net $100 Each from Talent Show

The home talent production, "It's a Date," staged last Wednesday and Thursday evenings at the high school, was a success, says Wm. Pafaita. Pafaita is commander of the local American Legion post which sponsored the show with the VFW.

County Attorney Files Action in Satterfield Case

Asks That Tax Sale Certificates Be Declared Void.

Valley county is bringing action to set aside tax sale certificates issued while George Satterfield was county treasurer, it was revealed Tuesday by Ralph W. Norman, county attorney.

The suit asks that the certificates, issued to T. W. Moore, be declared void and that the lien of Valley county for taxes be restored.

The county maintains that Satterfield bought the tax sale certificates in Moore's name, using money embezzled from Valley county. The activity occurred during 1946, 1947, and 1948, according to Norman.

There are 17 tax sale certificates involved. If the court declares them void, the county would have a chance to recover the taxes owed on the properties covered by the certificates.

It would also clear the way for a settlement with the bonding company, Norman stated. A suit asking for an extension of time in which to file a claim against the Satterfield estate is now pending appeal, after the claim was denied by the county court of Custer county.

Satterfield died as a result of burns early this spring at the Sargent bank. After his death an inquiry by the state auditor revealed a shortage in his accounts and irregularities in the handling of tax sales.

Statute provides that no county treasurer shall receive tax sale certificates, either directly or indirectly.

Natural Gas Will Be Turned On in Arcadia Oct. 20

Natural gas will be turned on in Arcadia, Friday, October 20, in a special street ceremony that evening which will see a huge gas torch lighted to signalize the coming of the new fuel to that village.

While plans are still incomplete, the evening will see officials of the village and the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Company joining in the special turn-on ceremony, very similar to that in Ord on September 14.

Laying of gas mains in Arcadia will be completed this week, and testing and blowing of lines will be done before the huge torch is lighted. "If things work out right it may be possible for us to get several meters set and inspected before the October 20 date," L. R. Squier, division superintendent for the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co., told the Quiz.

Burwell Starts Today. In the meantime the laying of gas lines in Burwell is expected to start today (Wednesday). Construction crews are expected to move out of Pleasanton Tuesday to Burwell, where they will be joined by a similar crew from Arcadia as soon as that town is completed.

The Burwell extension of the K-N gas mains has been held up for several weeks due to difficulty of securing a right-of-way between Ord and Burwell. A new route has been selected by the company and approved.

"The contract for the main line between Ord and Burwell has been let," Mr. Squier said. "And we hope to be delivering gas in Burwell before snow flies."

WSCS Convenes at Local Church

A meeting was held Wednesday, Oct. 4, at the Methodist church when the Women's Society of Christian Service of Ord entertained members from Arcadia, Bartlett, Burwell, Ericson, Greeley, North Loup, Scotia and St. Paul in honor of several of the Nebraska Conference officers. One hundred and eighteen ladies were present for the luncheon served by the Presbyterian ladies.
Mrs. Hilding Pearson was toastmistress for the program following the luncheon. Mrs. Mark Tolen sang "Great Peace Have They That Love Thy Law," by Roger, accompanied by Mrs. Orin Kellison. Rev. Daughette welcomed the guests on behalf of the church and Mrs. John Haskell, president, welcomed them for the local W.S.C.S.
Mrs. Pearson then introduced Mrs. Elmer Zlonke, Ord, Conference Secretary of Missionary Service, who in turn introduced the honored guests: Mrs. Max Gentry, Gering, conference president; Mrs. Henry Cox, Lincoln, vice-president; Mrs. Don J. Merritt, Alliance; promotion secretary; Mrs. Lillian Brigham, Tamora, recording secretary; Mrs. I. L. Labart, Grand Island, secretary of spiritual life; Mrs. A. R. Marquardt, Lincoln, secretary of missionary education; Mrs. W. Harold Alice Bassett, secretary of Christian social relations and local church activities; Mrs. A. J. Rich, Aurora, youth secretary; and Mrs. Adrian Edgar, Cozad, secretary of missionary personnel.
Three district officers were presented by Mrs. Pearson. They were Mrs. Carl McConnell, Mitchell, secretary of missionary education and service of the northwest district; Mrs. Glen Auble, Ord, secretary of missionary personnel and Mrs. Vernon Mentzer, Ericson, supply secretary of the Hastings district.
A quartette consisting of Mrs. Glen Auble, Mrs. J. W. Severns, Mrs. C. M. Davis and Mrs. Robert Noll sang "At the Close of Day."
The afternoon program was in charge of Mrs. John Haskell and opened with an organ prelude by Mrs. Robert Noll. Don Auble sang "My God and I" accompanied by Mrs. Noll. Devotions were led by Mrs. I. L. Labart. Mrs. A. J. Rich sang a hymn from Johann Cruger.
Mrs. Henry Cox gave an address on "Togetherness," and Mrs. Max Gentry, talked about "The Purposes of the Women's Society of Christian Service."
The benediction was led by Mrs. R. D. Daughette after which the guests were invited to a tea prepared by Mrs. Lorea McMinder and her committee, Mrs. Leo Long poured.

Wed in Presbyterian Church Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Stewart.
Sunday afternoon at 2:30 in the First Presbyterian church in Ord, Donna Lee Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Clyde Wilson, became the bride of Lyle Stewart, son of Mrs. Sylvia Stewart. Rev. Allen Strong officiated at the double ring ceremony.
Beuna Petersen and LeRoy Noll were the only attendants.
The bride wore a street length dress of brown with navy blue accessories and an orchid corsage. Her attendant wore a dark green dress with brown accessories and a red rose corsage.
Immediately following the ceremony the newly weds left on a trip to New Mexico.
In a couple of months they will make their home on a farm near Fullerton.

by two white satin rosettes. Her fingertip veil edged with lace was held in place by a tiara of seed pearls. She wore a pearl necklace a gift from the bridegroom and carried a white prayer book, also a gift from the bridegroom. Her bouquet was of red roses.
Lorena Petska, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Clara Kusek of Grand Island, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. They were dressed in identical gowns of orchid and yellow taffeta respectively and carried colonial bouquets of yellow and white carnations.
Andy Kusek served as best man for his brother and Stanley Petska, brother of the bride, was groomsmen. Paul Petska and Rolland Zulkowski were ushers.
Father Thomas Siudowski sang a solo, "Ave Maria" and John Galka sang "Panis Angelicus."
A dinner was served at Johnson's cafe and supper was served from 5:00 until 7:00 p.m., at the home of the bride's parents.
Mrs. Leonard Mroczek had charge of the guest book and Mrs. Henry Larson took care of the gifts. Mrs. Richard Petska cut the three tier wedding cake.

Following a wedding trip to Colorado the newlyweds will make their home on a farm north of Elyria.

Millions Now Follow "The Series"

"Play by play" action of the World Series now is radioed and televised to millions who cannot attend this great sports event. Young and old alike are familiar with the famous athletes who compete, the "name" coaches whose long experience helps younger players develop into stars, and with the team play that wins pennants.

Nebraska tavern men, too, employ team work in improving their operations. They learn by experience—their and other tavern owners—and by cooperating in the educational program conducted by the U.S. Brewers Foundation. By practicing the teaching of industry "coaches," they strive to conduct their places so as to gain public approval, essential to modern tavern operation.

Registration.

Every now and then the question of alien registration pops up, and a lot of fuss is made about it. Here in the middle west we have comparatively few aliens, and these are taking out their papers for citizenship as rapidly as they are permitted to do so. However, the percentage of aliens, especially undesirable aliens, is much greater in the large cities.

In spite of registration for the draft and the many other means the government has of keeping tabs on the people within our borders, there still remain many who have not registered at any time, and who have no intention of registering, for the reason that they are not here for any good they may do the nation, but for subversive activities. The fact that they are here is admitted, but it is difficult to locate them.

Congress recently passed a law requiring registration from a different angle, the communist angle. This does not concern the question of where a person is born, a fact not to hard to establish, but rather the attitude of a person's mind, something difficult to prove, especially if the person concerned has little to say on the subject.

The need for the law is apparent to any student of government. To have people by the thousands who advocate the overthrow of our government by force, going about when and where they please throughout the land with no check being kept on them

Now She Shops "Cash and Carry"

Without Painful Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead to many ills to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, depression or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Duan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Duan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Duan's Pills today!

is essentially a danger to our way of life. These people will not of their own accord admit their affiliation with the communist party, the more so now that they are to be kept under constant surveillance by the FBI. Like everybody else, these people have the right to be considered innocent until they are proved guilty, and it will be a real job to prove some of them guilty.

All communists do not come from abroad. Too many of them were born here, and these are the members who will be difficult to locate. While the law may be difficult to enforce, the fact that it is being enforced will have a hampering effect on their activities, and this is one of the real objects of the law.

There is a different angle to the registration proposition, and that is the hundreds of avowed aliens in Hawaii, who are aliens and proud of it and who have neither desire nor intention of becoming citizens. These, include the Davies clan from England, the Baldwins from Scotland and the VanHamms from Holland.

These and others were established in the Islands before they became a territory of the United States in 1900, and they are still citizens of their respective countries. They did not care to become citizens of Hawaii under the old monarchy, and they still hold to their old world allegiance while deriving the benefits of being under the laws of the United States.

With them it is not a question of hiding, for they are proud of the fact that they are citizens of their respective countries. When it is suggested to them that it is their duty to become citizens of the United States, they turn it down. The country that gives them the opportunity to accumulate wealth is not good enough to claim their citizenship.

For years the question of Hawaii becoming the 49th state has been agitated in Congress, and it now seems that the desire of the many fine Americans living in Hawaii is to be realized. But, before statehood is granted to them, the aliens now living in the Islands and controlling the destinies of the people should be required to become citizens.

Yes, registration of everybody living under the jurisdiction of the United States should be required. It will not do any harm to those whose intentions are what they should be, but it will place a decided curb on all subversive elements, and from a basis for immediate action if any of them are caught in acts of subversion.

Members of legal parties or organizations should not be required to state to what party or organization they belong, but the members of the dozens of organizations that exist for the one purpose of tearing down the government that gives them the opportunity to do so should be hampered in every possible manner.

They Also Serve.

The soldiers of democracy who drove the North Koreans back behind the 38 parallel have found proof of shocking brutality on the part of the invaders from the north. Not only have thousands of defenseless prisoners and civilians been killed, but they have been tortured to death in every manner that the mind of depraved man can devise.

They number far more than the people who died in actual battle, but, like them, they died for a cause. Furthermore, they in death have done far more for the cause of liberty than they could have done in life. It is deplorable that innocent men have lost their lives, but it is certain that they have not died in vain.

In death they serve as one of the worst indictments that communism has ever known. By their actions the communists have placed themselves on a par with the barbarian hordes of all history. They have proven themselves worse by far than the totalitarian rule established by Hitler, by Japan, by the Kaiser or by any of a hundred other ambitious figures throughout history.

It has been ever thus in the war of might against right, but never worse than in Korea today. By nature the Koreans are an offensive people. All they have ever asked is the right to toil for their meager living, to have the rights that God intended for all mankind. Spurred on by the fanaticism of communism, a part of these people have become barbarians of the worst possible type. In the massacre of innocent men and women can be seen the doom of North Korea as a separate entity. That the United Nations will now authorize going beyond the 38th parallel is a definite fact. The armies of democracy will not stop until they have conquered every foot of Korean territory and established a just government for all its people.

Further, the fate of Korea will serve as a deterrent to any similar group of people who may have dreams of world dominion. It may serve to save the lives of innocent people in any forays made in the future. In any case, the cause of justice has been well served by those who lost their lives through the brutality of the conqueror.

Now that it is over, so far as Judge Ciochon is concerned, perhaps a story on him will do no harm. He went into the Grill for dinner one day, and after eating he passed out his cards to those who were present. He handed one of them to "Buz" Bonsall, and Buz handed it back to him with the remark that he would not vote for him. Asked why, he said: "You would hardly expect me to vote for you after being fined in your court, would you?" Ciochon then recalled that he had fined Buz for an infraction of highway regulations. What he did not think of at the time was that Buz was ribbing him all the time. Since he lives in Scotia and in Greeley county, Bonsall couldn't vote for Ciochon anyway.

My old friend Albert Busse was in Ord on a visit from Madison, Wis. Last week, and dropped into the Quiz office to call on me, only to find to his regret and mine as well that I was not there. Not that I object to the present arrangement, but I do not like to hear about old friends being disappointed, and one of the bright spots in the newspaper game is to have them call. Albert left Valley county fifty years ago and came back in 1948. I knew him as son as he came into the Quiz plant—by his voice—but he failed to remember me at first. Fifty years is a long time to remember people by their features, and I am slightly less beautiful than I was half a century ago.

Speaking of Albert Busse reminded me of how that man could sing. He wasn't much of a hand to talk, because of his habit of stammering, but he had a fine tenor voice, and he liked to use it. He was one of a group that sang for what was then called the German Evangelical church, now the E. U. B. church in Mira Valley. Others who sang about that same time were Andy and Ed Cook, E. H. Marks and Herman Koelling. The other Cooks and Koellings doubtless sang, but I do not recall so much about them. Speaking of quartets, I believe there was a good male quartet in that church since the beginning, and that may be the answer to why this church survived while so many other country churches have disappeared from the scene.

Going back to the beginning, the records show that the Evangelical Association of North America, as it was then called, was incorporated as the Mira Creek class Dec. 10, 1880, now nearly 70 years ago. The incorporators were Ernest C. Marks, F. G. Marks, Conrad Boettger, Henry W. F. Marks, — Marks, — Marks, Johanna Marks, Louisa Marks, Win. Marks and Anna Marks. Of special interest to me was that the articles of incorporation were certified to by my father, A. Ward, who was justice of the peace in Mira Creek precinct at the time. This was done on the third day of March, 1881, and filed for record March 22, 1881, with H. A. Babcock, county clerk.

At that time the church people met for worship in the school house, Dist. No. 10, then located a mile east and a mile south of where it is now, just across the corner from the Will Koelling farm buildings. The present Koelling farm then was owned by the H. W. F. Marks mentioned above, the father of Henry and Ernest Marks, still living. While the church was incorporated as of the above date, meetings had been held by the group for several years before that, and it is believed that the 75th anniversary is about due this year. The first trustees of the church were Conrad Boettger, Ernest C. Marks and Frederick C. Marks. It is interesting to note that a country church can exist for 75 years and still be in a flourishing condition at the end of that time.

How come the electric blanket manufacturers are missing a bet? How come they don't advertise that electric blankets are a great comfort to "rheumatics"? How come they don't advertise that electric blankets' smooth heat relieves tension by unlocking wind-up nerves?

That is what happened a little more than forty years ago. It made the corn look pretty good, and many thought it would be all right to shell the corn and put it in the bin. This was a sad mistake, as the moisture in it caused it to heat, and much valuable feed was lost that way. Today we use a different system, however, and these modern bins and cribs, with their air spaces, give damp grain a chance to dry out. Then, there is the angle of the new seed. Hybrid seed is far ahead of the old type in every respect, and one of the most important of these is that it ripens faster and so can be planted later in the spring and still produce a good crop in the fall.

That's what your car needs for the cold weather ahead. And that's what it gets when you choose new Phillips 66 Premium Motor Oil. It's improved four ways to help your car stand up better under severe driving conditions.

To a man who has been off the farm for forty years, the modern way of doing things is a constant source of amazement. In those days the man who wanted the best seed corn went through his field ahead of husking and selected his seed corn. The late John G. Biemer and his brother Lou were advocates of this method of selecting seed, and they always had seed that would germinate and produce a good crop. One of the advantages of the modern system of using hybrid seed is that the husks are not so thick and the stem is smaller and breaks off easier. This makes the new corn easier to husk, but most people do their husking by machine these days and that advantage is lost.

Some time ago I ran across a pretty good gag some of the boys worked on John H. LaCoru of the Ord Grill. It was before the primary and the many candidates were handing out their cards right and left and putting them in every conceivable place. John slipped them under the edge of the glass on his candy case, where everybody could read them when they paid for their meals. One day a new card appeared beside those of Ball, Ciochon, Andersen, Hall and the rest. It was neatly printed and read as follows: "John H. LaCoru, Non-Political Candidate for County Dogcatcher, Valley County Nebraska. Impartial, Qualified, Experienced. Your support will be appreciated." John just left it there with the rest until after the primary election and then took them all out. At that I will bet he would make a good dogcatcher.

My living room curtains are fading. They are a soft, dull, queer green. I think they are about the green that was called "puce" in Revolutionary War days. I keep meaning to look up that word "puce," and find out.

When I look out the window today, the soft green leaves of the elm almost match my living room curtains. They are gray and dulling, with golden overtones. And blowing off.

To little children it is fascinating to read and learn about Jack Frost painting leaves gay colors, every autumn time. I remember how delighted I was. It really did seem magical, wonderful.

So now I learn the latest idea of our researchers is that the fall colors of every leaf are determined by stuff like the sugar content in the sap of the tree. The turning of the leaves is a chemically determined phenomena, and whether we have early frost or late frost has little to do with it all!

Disillusioning, ain't it? I vote for Jack Frost. —Irma.

It is certainly a fine ad for a small city like Ord when they can send a beautifully uniformed and well-trained school band to march in a parade like the one at Hastings on Saturday.

Forty towns were represented at the Hastings homecoming celebration.

Hastings seems to have quite a clutch on this community. Many Ord young people go there to school when they have finished with us. The clutch will never grow less after a handsome parade and fine celebration like that of last week.

Even if I weren't a Republican. Even if I hadn't planned to vote for Governor Val Peterson. I'd be tempted greatly, on learning he heartily recommends potato salad! It is one of my favorite fruits, and my eyes always say yes long after my stomach says no, not another bite!

Don't forget, you have a chance to meet our governor Thursday morning, right here in Ord. You don't have to travel to Lincoln! You can see him right here in your home town.

And all the other Republican bigwigs to boot.

So if you have any hands you want shook, or any babies to be kissed—either over or under sixteen—be there!

This is the first year that Children's Day has been a national affair. Sunday, October 15 is the day our lawmakers set aside, and see that you set it aside at your house!

A gala day for children is a grand idea.

Though I sometimes think every day is their day, don't you?

This is the Last Week that we will have new Wood Bros. Corn Pickers Get your corn picker now and have your corn in the crib early. Every week you delay picking after your corn is ready to crib means you will have less corn. We are getting just one-third the number of pickers we received last year. We sold 75 new Wood Bros. corn pickers last season, and are receiving only 24 this year. We have the following used corn pickers for sale, all reconditioned and ready to pick corn for you. 1 Single row Case 1 Two-row Case 1 1-P IHC 1 Wood Bros. Loup Valley Tractor & Implement Co. Who Runs America?

the Congress?

the President?

OR YOU AND THE MAN NEXT DOOR?

RUNNING AMERICA is the joint job of 150,000,000 people. It's the biggest job in the world today —keeping it running for liberty and for freedom. And the whole world's watching to see whether Americans can do it!

IN MUCH OF THE WORLD today, the people have resigned from running their own countries. Others have been quick to step in—first with promises of "security"—and then with whips and guns—to run things their way. The evidence is on every front page in the world, every day.

FREEDOM COMES UNDER ATTACK. The reality of war has made every American think hard about the things he's willing to work and fight for—and freedom leads the list.

But that freedom has been attacked here recently—just as it has been attacked in other parts of the world. One of the most serious threats to individual freedom has been the threat of Government-dominated Compulsory Health Insurance, falsely presented as a new guarantee of health "security" for everybody.

THE PEOPLE WEIGH THE FACTS. In the American manner, the people studied the case for Socialized Medicine—and the case against it.

They found that Government domination of the people's medical affairs under Compulsory Health Insurance means lower standards of medical care, higher payroll taxes, loss of incentive, damage to research, penalties for the provident, rewards for the improvident.

They found that no country on earth can surpass America's leadership in medical care and progress. They found that able doctors, teachers, nurses and scientists —working in laboratories where Science, not Politics, is master—are blazing dramatic new trails to health for Americans—and for the world.

THE "GRASS ROOTS" SIGNALS CONGRESS. In every community in the Nation, people stood up to be counted on this important issue. Thousands of local women's clubs, civic groups, farm, business, religious, taxpayer, medical, educational and patriotic organizations spoke out—giving the great United States Congress its unmistakable Grass Roots signal from home!

And ever watchful, ever sensitive to an alert people, The Congress saw that signal, and heard the people speak out, loud and plain. That's democracy in action. That's the American way!

Today among the 10,000 great organizations on militant public record against "Compulsory Health Insurance" are:

- General Federation of Women's Clubs
- American Farm Bureau Federation
- National Grange
- Veterans of Foreign Wars
- National Conference of Catholic Charities
- American Protestant Hospital Association
- American Legion
- National Association of Small Business Men
- United States Chamber of Commerce
- National Association of Retail Grocers
- National Retail Dry Goods Association
- American Bar Association

• Doctors of this Nation are grateful that the people refused to be wooed by the fantastic promises of this un-American excursion into State Socialism. • Doctors of America are dedicated to serve their fellow citizens at home and their comrades in uniform, wherever service to this Nation may take them. • And the thing they stand ready to fight for—to sacrifice for—to die for—is not the alien way of life of Socialism, but the prideful security of a free and self-reliant people!

THE VOLUNTARY WAY IS THE AMERICAN WAY!

• Throughout the Nation, free men and women, working and planning together, are finding the American answer to every question of medical service, care and cost. Hundreds of Voluntary Health Insurance Plans are in healthy competition—sponsored by doctors, insurance companies, hospitals, fraternal organizations—by industry, agriculture and labor. • Today in America—70 million people are protected by Voluntary Health Insurance! • Throughout the Nation, families are insuring themselves against the major costs of illness—at reasonable, budget-basis prices. Voluntary Health Insurance takes the economic shock out of illness. Protect your family now. • For information, ask your doctor—or your insurance man.

An American's greatest heritage is the right to learn the facts—and to speak his mind. Maintained with honor and used with sincerity—that right will guarantee forever that

Garland - Foley

Gold and bronze chrysanthemums and lighted cathedral candles formed the background for the marriage Saturday morning, Sept. 30, at Sacred Heart church in Greeley, of Miss Patricia Jeanne Garland, daughter of the William J. Garlands and Maurice F. Foley. The double ring ceremony was performed at 10 a. m. by Fr. Jacob Bauer, assistant pastor of Sacred Heart parish. Music was furnished by Mrs. Frank Dunning of Spalding as organist and assisted by Miss Marcella Vandenberg and Mrs. Mike Naughton as soloists who sang the Nuptial High Mass which followed.

Miss Mary H. Garland attended her sister as maid of honor and was groomed in a gold-toned satin and net dress with matching mits and halo. The Misses Mary Jane Rooney and Mary Anne Foley acted as bridesmaids and were groomed in identical frocks of lettuce green satin and net combined. They wore matching Queen Ann hats and mits. The gowns were made with a tightly fitted bodice and long bouffant skirts with a hoop effect. They carried harmonizing bouquets of gold and bronze chrysanthemums.

Frooked in identical gowns of ivory satin were the junior bridesmaids, Karen and Lily Rooney, cousins of the bride. Their dresses were tied with sashes of velvet in the green and gold tones and they carried nosegays of yellow mums.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, William J. Garland and appeared in a gown of ivory slipper satin topped by a yoke of illusion netting around which was a three inch band of shirring of the matching satin. The deeply scalloped neckline and long fitted sleeves ending in points over the hands accentuated the moulded bodice of net and the full circular skirt of satin tapered into a cathedral train. Ivory satin fashioned the caft which held her tiered veil of illusion net. The caft was bordered with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of gardenias edged with calladium leaves, and wore a pearl necklace a gift of the bridegroom.

Serving Mr. Foley as best man was his brother, Patrick J. Foley, and the ushers were his cousins, Paul J. McDermott and Felix Kerrigan of Omaha. Jack Doyle and Ted Finn also served as ushers.

A wedding breakfast was served at the Legion club immediately following the ceremony to 60 relatives and friends of the bride and bridegroom. At the reception for 100 guests which was held from two to five at the home of the bride's parents, the lace covered refreshment table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake encircled with gold colored mums and appointed with tall white tapers in double candelabra.

Sargent Bank Asks Exhumation of George Satterfield's Body for Autopsy

Claim Is Made That Cashier's Death Was Not Accidental

Suit Also Filed for Recovery of Transferred Funds.

The Farmers State bank of Sargent has asked for a court order to exhume the body of George Satterfield. Satterfield was cashier of the bank at the time of his death last winter.

The bank's request came in answer to a petition for workman's compensation payments by his widow, Olivia. She claims that his death, on Jan. 22 was the result of an accident the day before in which he received severe burns.

In her petition, filed in workman's compensation court, she asks "such benefits as they may be entitled to under the provision of the workman's compensation act."

The bank's answer denies that death was accidental and claims it did not occur in the course of Satterfield's employment as cashier. The fire took place in the evening, after regular banking hours.

The bank asks that Satterfield's body be disinterred and that an autopsy be performed by Dr. P. H. J. Carothers of Broken Bow to determine whether or not death was accidental.

Mrs. Satterfield's suit against the bank alleges that a stove at the bank "exploded or in some way sent out fire which enveloped said deceased, causing his death."

Another suit filed.

Meanwhile, the Hartford Accident Indemnity Co. has filed a suit against Richard W. Satterfield, the Farmers State Bank of Sargent, and the G. A. Satterfield Insurance Agency.

The petition alleges that Satterfield wrote a check for $2,000 on the G. A. Satterfield Insurance Agency account in the Sargent bank shortly before he died. It further alleges that $1,000 of this amount "was deposited in the account of Richard W. Satterfield and that $1,000 was credited to the agency."

The insurance company maintains that the money was deposited without the knowledge of the younger Satterfield for the purpose of defrauding the Farmers State bank of Sargent. The insurance company, which has issued a $25,000 bond covering Satterfield, has paid a claim of $1,052.62 to the bank.

The claim was paid on July 3 of this year and the insurance company is now trying to recover the $1,000 which was credited to Richard Satterfield's account, claiming that the transaction was illegal and fraudulent.

Four Actions Pend in Satterfield Case

Four separate legal actions now are pending in "the Satterfield case."

A request for extension of time in which to file a claim is on appeal after being denied by the Custer county court. Mrs. Olivia Satterfield has sued for workman's compensation. The Hartford Accident Indemnity Co. is attempting to recover $1,000 from R. W. Satterfield et al, and Valley county has filed suit to set aside tax sale certificates which it claims are illegal.

George Satterfield was county treasurer of Valley county before resigning his position to become cashier of the Farmers State Bank of Sargent.

At the time of his death, his accounts were found to be about $12,000 short.

The bonding company has not yet paid the loss, but Ralph W. Norman, Valley county attorney, says, "We have now taken the first steps necessary to recovery of some of the funds that were lost. After these matters have been adjusted, we can settle with the bonding company."

Attend TB Seals Sales Meeting

Twelve Christmas Seal chairman, County Tuberculosis Association board and committee members from eight Nebraska counties attended an all day meeting, Oct. 11, at Hastings, in the Clarke hotel.

During the morning session the workers previewed new educational tools and exhibits and discussed plans for the 44th Annual Christmas Seal Sale which opens November 20.

The 1950 Christmas Seal features three little angels—one singing from a scroll and two playing musical instruments.

"This year's Christmas Seal reminds us that the fight against tuberculosis is a fight to make our State and Nation a safer and healthier place in which children may live, play and grow," declared Mrs. Luella Griffen, Christmas Seal Director.

Speaking on the need to intensify our program efforts, Delmar R. Serafy, Executive Secretary of the Nebraska Association, stated "The fight against tuberculosis was one of the most successful campaigns in the drive to raise health standards in the United States. Fifty years ago tuberculosis was the nation's most deadly disease. Today's death rate represents an 85% reduction, but tuberculosis is not conquered. It still holds seventh position among all diseases as a cause of death, and is the first cause of death in the age group from 15 to 35. We cannot relax our efforts if we are to win this fight."

Those in attendance from Valley county were: Katherine Helzer, chairman; Mrs. Roland Norman, secretary, and Mrs. R. F. Mettenbrink of Arcadia.

In addition to Mr. Serafy and Mrs. Griffen; Marguerite Pfeffer, Field Director and Lillian Sorenson, Field Secretary of the Nebraska Tuberculosis Association participated in the meeting.

Summer Weather Dries Corn Fast; Picking Begins

'We Need Three Weeks of Drying,' Says County Agent.

Summer has arrived! After one of the coolest, wettest seasons in 60 years, warm, sunny days kept up 1950's reputation of being a "backwards" year.

The farm weather is just what the doctor ordered for the corn standing in the fields. Most of the corn will not be ready to crib until after November 1, even with the warm, dry weather.

County agent Dale says that an examination of the corn on the test plot on the Floyd Wetzel farm show that the corn is still very wet.

The condition of the entire plot indicated that it will take about three weeks of drying weather to reduce the moisture to a point where the corn could be safely stored.

Many Pickers Work.

Many farmers have their pickers at work in the fields and many more are snapping ears for their hogs.

Despite the wet growing season, the yield is expected to be one of the largest on record. Although the quality of the corn is not what could be desired, farmers are considering themselves very fortunate to be able to harvest such a good crop.

Prize Winners Pose for Camera After Children's Day Parade Sunday

Children's Day Parade Sunday Draws Big Crowd

More Than 160 Kids Compete in C. of C. Event.

The Children's Day parade in Ord Sunday afternoon was a big event for the 160 children who took part in it and for the hundreds of spectators who lined the streets around the square.

The Ord Chamber of Commerce arranged the parade as the city's observance of National Children's Day. Don Stewart headed the committee with C. C. Thompson, Hilding Pearson, and Ray Falter assisting him.

The parade formed at the grade school and after marching down town and around the square the kids received free movie tickets and the winners were awarded prizes of $2 and $1 for first and second place.

Out-of-town judges rated the children who competed in the following groups: bicycles, pets, costumes, groups, and miscellaneous.

Here are the winners:

Bicycles, Dennis and Donnie Vasicek; Ray Wojtasek.

Pets: Charles Clement; Shirley Hlavinka.

Costumes: Dick Armstrong, Lannie Hughes.

Groups: Strong group, first; Marshall, Ringtein, Wilson, second.

Miscellaneous: Doug and Bruce Pearson; Dennis Aramek, Jimmy Stewart, Judy Stewart.

Walter Raecke to Appear in Ord

Walter Raecke, Democratic candidate for governor and Hans Holtorf, nominee for congress, will be in Ord Tuesday, Oct. 31. Don L. Moody, Arcadia, made the announcement Wednesday. He is the county chairman of the Democratic party.

Raecke and Holtorf will appear at a dinner at the Methodist church basement at 7:30, and reservations for the dinner should be sent to Mr. Moody at once.

Raecke and other Demo candidates are now on a speaking tour through the state. In the primary elections, Raecke nosed out Frank Morrison and Terry Carpenter for the nomination.

Broken Bow Tops Chanticleers by Score of 20 to 13

Ord Rally in Fourth Quarter Thrills Grid Fans.

The Ord Chanticleers found the Broken Bow football team to be just a bit too strong Friday evening. The Chants dropped a 20-13 verdict which represented quite accurately the difference between the two squads.

The Chants held firm through the first quarter, but in the second period the Indians gained a 14-point advantage. Thompson did all of the scoring in the first half as well as most of the ground-gaining. He crossed the goal line for both touchdowns and plunged for both extra points.

It looked like a walkaway win for Broken Bow in the third frame when they scored again on a short pass from Spencer to Belf, but Ord came back when Moore skirted end, for 25 yards and six points. A pass for point failed.

Just a couple of minutes later Moore repeated his dash for another point. He kicked the first extra point of the season for the Chants.

Ord staged another rally late in the game but it was effectively smothered by the heavy Broken Bow line.

Ord was outdone by the Indians, 13 to nine. Broken Bow completed four of nine passes while the Chants connected only six times out of 20 attempts. In net yardage, the Indians held a margin of 233 to 195. An unusual feature of the game was the lack of penalties. Dick Pulliam and company assessed each team only five yards.

Rapid Robert Moore played a fine game for Ord while Duane Wolfe continued to show improvement. The Ord line held up well under the battering of the Indian forward wall—which, by the way, is the finest line fielded by Broken Bow in recent years.

Thompson was the most consistent ball carrier for Broken Bow, with Spencer and Prescott being checked fairly well by the Ord defense.

Score by quarters:

Broken Bow	0	14	6	0	20
Ord	0	0	0	13	13

Officials: Dick Pulliam, Bob Day, Don Day, and Ben Schoenrock, Grand Island.

'Appeasement Policy Leading to War,' Says Sen. Wherry

State Department Assailed in Speech at Ord, Thursday.

"The State Department's policy of appeasement is leading us into another world war," Senator Kenneth Wherry told a group of 200 persons at Ord, Thursday morning. "Mr. Acheson, our secretary of state, is confused," he added. "On the one hand our boys are being killed in Korea to curb communism while on the other hand the Secretary of State continues to appease the Reds."

Raecke and Holtorf will appear at a dinner at the Methodist church basement at 7:30, and reservations for the dinner should be sent to Mr. Moody at once.

Raecke and other Demo candidates are now on a speaking tour through the state. In the primary elections, Raecke nosed out Frank Morrison and Terry Carpenter for the nomination.

Second Municipal Concert Season Begins November 1

Harold Borden, Tenor, Will Open Recital Series.

The second annual campaign for new members will be launched by the Loup Valley Municipal Concert association on Monday, Oct. 23, and will continue until Saturday, Oct. 28.

The local talent committee, with Father Thomas Siodowski as chairman, has selected three concerts to be presented in Ord during the coming season; Harold Borden, tenor, will be heard November 1; Leonid Hambro, pianist, January 30; and the Philharmonic Mixed Quartet, April 23. A fourth concert will be selected later if the funds raised during the membership campaign make it possible.

The membership campaign will be directed by Mrs. Leslie Nash, with the advice and cooperation of Miss Florence Britton, representative of Municipal Concerts, Inc., Houston, Texas. Campaign headquarters will be established from October 21 to 28 in the office of James B. Ollis of the Loup National Farm Loan Association.

Again this year, concerts will be presented only to members of the Loup Valley Municipal Concert Association, or to their special guests, who must live farther than forty miles from Ord. Members must arrange for the bringing of guests in advance of each concert with Mr. William Nelson, concert manager.

Memberships are of two classifications, adult and student, at $6.00 and $2.40, respectively. Both figures include tax. Renewals of last season's memberships may be obtained in advance of the campaign week, and until its close, October 28.

In North Loup, the membership drive will be directed by Mr. Richard Babcock. Mr. Glenn Trent will be in charge in Scotia; and in Burwell, Mrs. Dwight Johnson is membership chairman.

Ord residents wishing to obtain memberships are urged to contact any of the following campaign workers: Mrs. Stanley Abscon, Mrs. Wm. Stoen, Mrs. Duce Armstrong, Mrs. Edwin Armstrong, Mrs. Ed Swopes, Mrs. Bruce Covey, Mrs. E. R. Horner, Mrs. Wm. The program is being sponsored by the health department.

United Nations Day Will Be Observed

United Nations Day, Tuesday, Oct. 24, will be observed in Valley county by churches, schools, and civic groups. Mrs. C. C. Dale, county UN Day chairman, reports that plans have been made for church and school bells to ring and whistles to blow as a signal for a minute of silent prayer for the success of the United Nations.

Tuesday will be the fifth anniversary of the founding of UN, which has struggled bravely to maintain peace in a world split by ideological differences.

County superintendent Fred B. Appelget said that many of the rural schools in the county were planning special programs for UN Day.

The county chairman told the Quiz that this year's program for first of a series that will last "as long as there is a union of nations to preserve harmony and peace."

Highlighting the fifth anniversary of UN will be the appearance of official United Nations flags for the first time. The flag is now flying in Korea where the UN has sent troops to halt communist aggression.

Arcadia Natural Gas Turned on Friday Eve

Wm. Ramsey Will Light Torch at Huge Ceremony

When Wm. Ramsey, chairman of the village board of Arcadia, lights the big torch on Arcadia's main street Friday evening, it will mark the arrival of natural gas in the second town in Valley county.

Assisting Ramsey in igniting the symbolic flare will be Cecil Baker, the district manager from Loup City who is also general manager at Arcadia.

Officials of the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co. will be on hand for the ceremonies, along with city officials and civic leaders. Leo Nelson, vice president of the company; Frank Soldan, general sales manager, and Howard Hollan, main line superintendent, all of Hastings, will be in Arcadia as will L. F. Squier and Harry Corbitt. Corbitt is replacing Squier as division manager of the company, with Squier taking over as manager of a new area which will be plied next spring. The new territory includes Fullerton, Albion, O'Neill, Neligh, and other towns.

The Arcadia high school band will furnish the music at Friday's celebration, and plans are under way for speakers to appear on the program, which begins at 8 p. m.

The turn-on ceremonies follow the arrival of gas in Ord by a month. It is the latest step in the expansion program of Kansas-Nebraska, which has brought natural gas for the first time to the main Broken Bow, Loup City, and other towns in central Nebraska.

Korean War Becomes Real to Former Quiz Writer; She Sees Wounded Return

By Lillian S. Beloin
I saw the war today.
In my job as a writer for the Armed Forces Public Information Office in Seattle, I've been very close to the Korean battles. I've stood on the piers at the Seattle Port of Embarkation and watched tanks, jeeps and guns loaded aboard ships bound for the Far East. I've watched freighters packed with ammunition and bombs head out to sea while empty ships stood by ready to slide into the place just vacated. And I've seen troops, jammed with G.I.s who lined the rails laughing and shouting to the Army photographers to "get my picture for the papers," heading for the battle fields.

seas, gave only a faint smile of recognition to members of the office force as he boarded the bus for the hospital. Both his arms were in casts and it would be a long time before he took any more pictures.

Below decks, in a silent room, was another boy. He had started out with the rest, but he wouldn't be getting off the ship at Tacoma. His body would be unloaded later at the Seattle Port of Embarkation.

Ammunition, tanks, jeeps . . . even outgoing troops . . . are abstract portions of the war. The war really comes home when the wounded return.

When You and I Were Young

But today, I SAW the war. I saw it in the horror-stricken eyes of some of those same boys who left Seattle less than two months ago. Today, 191 of them came back. Those who were able to stand . . . not by themselves but with the aid of crutches or the assistance of medical aid men . . . watched silently as the United States Navy Ship General Fred C. Ainsworth pulled up at the Navy Pier in Tacoma, Wash. There was no laughter . . . no shouting . . . and very little conversation. The others . . . 119 of them . . . were lined upon stretchers inside waiting for someone to carry them off.

As they were carried down the gangplank, a Red Cross worker standing behind me remarked, "Why they're just babies." True. Very few were over 19 years of age. But the expression in their eyes belied their physical appearance. They were men . . . men who have been through the worst ordeal possible. Men who had seen their buddies killed. Men who had fought outnumbered against superior equipment. Men who had battled tanks with rifles.

Not one of the newsmen gathered to cover the arrival of the ship asked, "How does it feel to be home?" No words were necessary. This was no joyful homecoming of triumphant heroes. These boys were hurt . . . seriously hurt . . . and they needed medical attention and understanding from the loved ones at home. They wanted to get into the ambulances and on their way to Madigan Army hospital as soon as possible.

One lad of about 18, a blanket thrown over the spot where his legs had been, turned his head to the side and sobbed loudly and unashamedly as the medics put him aboard the ambulance.

Forty Years Ago. — A party of North Loup people, including a speaker and a quartet, went to Elyria and put on a rousing temperance meeting. — Guy Laverty and Tom Jones rode from Burwell to Ord with F. J. Bell thus trying out the 1910 Buick, and from here they went to Omaha, where they planned to buy cars of the same make. — John Fike, a farmer living five miles northeast of Arcadia, was found in a field with his throat cut from ear to ear in an attempted suicide. — Norm Parks returned from a trip to the mountains and the Quiz opined that once more the Journal would make its weekly appearance on time. — The notorious Orville Phair case was settled by sending him to the penitentiary for a period of five years. — John K. Jensen was just recovering from a serious illness and was expressing his thanks to the public and especially to the firemen, for assistance rendered him.

Fifty Years Ago. — Jarvis Hall returned home from the hospital apparently improved, but grew worse again and died Oct. 23, at the age of 27 years. — Bud Shirley was wearing the Murschel trophy, having been high in four consecutive shoots in trap shooting contests. — The twelfth grade of Ord high school, the famous "Century Class," had challenged the rest of the school to a game of football to be played Oct. 31. — Mrs. Homer Daggett and children went to Clay Center where their future home was to be, Mr. Daggett having a job there as miller. — G. W. Mifflin and Sons were selling by legal process the Burwell irrigation ditch, the sale to take place on Nov. 17. — Prof. Rollin W. Bond had been contracted to conduct six band concerts at York during the winter. — There was a special occasion at the J. W. Beran home in Ord when their daughter Antonia became the bride of Joseph Krikac on October 24. — H. D. Leggett reported that Michigan would go Republican without the shadow of a doubt. It did.

Sixty Years Ago. — The Quiz commented upon the many improvements that were being made in Ord by J. W. Perry, who had finished a new building and was making improvements in the Martin building. — Prof. J. M. Hussey, former superintendent of the Ord schools, was in Ord visiting old friends, his school at Aurora being closed by an epidemic of diphtheria. — While Mrs. Clark Lambertson and Miss Birdie Johnson were out riding their horse ran away and they were thrown out of the vehicle. Mrs. Lambertson being paralyzed from the waist down. The doctor was hoping for her recovery. — A ten-pound daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Watson of Vinton Sept. 29, 1890. — The Frank Travis family must have been living in Grand Island, as note the following item from Vinton: "Frank Travis and family of Grand Island were visiting in our neighborhood a few days last week." — Ed Wilmoth and George Powell were building new homes on their farms near Vinton. — The Quiz was full of political dope of all kinds and there was little room for legitimate news.

Control of Lice Is Important in Fall
"From now until cold weather is the time to control lice on cattle," says Jack Lomax, extension entomologist at the College of Agriculture. It is rather hard to convince farmers and ranchers of this fact because the louse problem is not apparent in most herds at the present time. Spraying now, however, kills the lice that breed up during the heavy winter populations on cattle.
For a spray use 1/2% methoxychlor or DMDT or methoxy which are the same thing, on milking animals or cattle within 30 days of slaughter. Either methoxychlor or 1/2% DDT can be used on range animals. Rotenone is also effective. Use one pound of 5% rotenone and ten pounds of wettable sulfur in one hundred gallons of water. A repeat spraying may be necessary in 14 days to get complete control. All new animals should be sprayed before being added to a treated herd.

Shipstads and Johnson Ice Follies of 1951 at Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum, Nov. 6

Aja Vrzanova, Czech star of Ice Follies, demonstrates perfect form in difficult split jump.

Roy and Eddie Shipstad and Oscar Johnson were so pleased with their reception in Omaha last year they decided it was one place they must play, so Omaha is now on the permanent itinerary of the world famous "Ice Follies."

"Ice Follies of 1951," the great new show, will start the Omaha ice season when it appears at the Coliseum for seven days starting November 6th. Performances will be given each evening Monday, November 6th, through Sunday, November 12th, at 8:30, with matinees Saturday, November 11th, and Sunday, November 12th, at 2:15.

"Ice Follies" was the original ice show and this year will mark its 15th anniversary. To celebrate this event the old masters, Roy and Eddie Shipstads and Oscar Johnson, have come up with a recipe for entertainment which combines fantasy, fun, beauty and glamour.

New Stars Added
The dozen production numbers include: "The Baker's Treat," in which all the important bakery products—bread, pies, doughnuts, cakes, gingerbread cookies and cup cakes—all come to life in giant form; "A Beautiful Rainy Day," a beautiful fantasy complete with fairies, pixies, and leprechauns with fantastic plastic costumes in delicate shades of green; "Ballet De Splendour," with the sheer grandeur and tradition of old France plus the grace and poised beauty of the figure-skating ballet.

All the old favorites are on hand, including (among many others) Betty Schalow, Mae Ross, Marilyn and Ruth Take, Phyllis and Harris Legg, Norena and Norris, Frick and Frack, and Omaha's own skating stars, the Scottold Twins. Also, two new stars have been added to the always top talent for which Ice Follies is noted. They are Aja Vrzanova and Richard Dwyer.

Aja Vrzanova, twice winner of the world's championship, portrays the routines that made her queen of figure skating. A Czech girl, who evaded the Iron Curtain and now calls Montreal her home, she is amazing everyone with her speed and power and her sensational split jumps.

Richard Dwyer, whose parents formerly lived in North Platte, Neb., bids fair to rival Roy Shipstad in his "Man About Town" presentation. In top hat, white tie and tails, Richard Dwyer looks the perfect part when he skates out on the ice.

Comedy has not been neglected. Ice Follies returns with the greatest of them all, Frick and Frack, in their frantic antics; Les Hamilton, in one of his trickiest garbs; Ole Eriksen and John Mulvey, portraying "Ponchito," the recalcitrant burro; and Dick Rasmussen and Bill Cameron, with a side-splitting skit in the "Roaring Twenties" production number.

Ice Follies presents a combination of speed, beauty, dazzling costumes, marvelous lighting and extravagant production never before equalled. It is truly a show for the whole family.

Early Orders by Mail Urged
Prices are: Rinkside and box seats $3.50, Reserved seats $2.40 and $1.20. All prices include federal tax.

Tickets may be ordered by mail now and it is urged that requests be placed early, as last year many were disappointed. Address orders to Omaha Coliseum Corp., Box 5, Elmwood Station, Omaha, Neb., and enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope and check or money order made payable to the Omaha Coliseum Corp. Be sure to state clearly the number and price of tickets wanted and the date of performance desired. It is advisable that a first and second choice of performance be given.

Letters from Quiz Readers

To the Editor of the Quiz: "Time surely flies! It doesn't seem possible that it is two years since I sent your father our two-year renewal for the Quiz, and here it is time for another two years. I am enclosing check for $7.00."

We were sorry to read of your father's passing and I know he is greatly missed by many people. Your parents and mine were friends in the early days of Ord's history. It is 66 years next February since my father, A. M. Daniels, settled in Ord and first subscribed for the Quiz, and our family have had a continuous subscription ever since. That is a long, long time and it is no wonder the Quiz holds such a place as it does in our household.

Many names are, of course, new to us, but nearly every issue brings back memories of old friends and days gone by. We have lived in Denver now 26 years. Especially interesting is Irma's column. I hope some day I can meet her. I've heard such nice things about her from your cousin, Gertrude, in Cody.

We are very happy over the fact that our daughter Rosemary, (Mrs. Roy Lee Logsdon) and family have recently moved to Denver from their home in Redondo Beach, Calif., and are getting settled in their new home. They are located just a few blocks from us.

Our son, Charles, is a junior in Denver University this year and is a very busy young man. He is Co-Captain of the varsity swim team and practice has already started for the various meets that will take place in February. He is also quite active in his fraternity—Beta Theta Pi.

We have thought many times of making a visit to Ord and renewing old acquaintances and in fact had made plans to go back for the swim meet held there last August. However our plans were changed at the last minute.

Some day will visit the old scenes. Best regards to you and your family and continued success for the Ord Quiz. Sincerely, (Mrs. Charles C.) Mildred Daniels Davis.

School Study Group Meets in Kearney

The Nebraska Cooperative School Study Council met in Kearney on Sunday evening, Oct. 15, and all day on Monday. The organization is a new one, having been organized in May of 1949. The purpose of the Council is to promote the cooperative study of problems, confronting schools in Nebraska. The organization gives school men in Nebraska a chance to get together and discuss their problems, exchanging "know-how" and practices which they have found successful in their own situations.

The program Sunday evening began at 6 o'clock with a dinner and discussion period. The problem discussed at the evening session was "Citizenship Education in Nebraska." Dr. Knapp of the University of Nebraska talked on this problem.

On Monday the following topics were discussed: First, "What can be done to help the new teacher?" Dr. Street, Director of the training school at Wayne State Teachers College, leading the discussion; second, "What can be done during American Education week?" and Supt. Farrow from Fremont led the discussion on this topic; and third, "How can we expand lay participation in schools?" with Dr. Beggs from the University of Nebraska leading the discussion. The program in the afternoon was in charge of Supt. Morris of the Kearney public schools who present some of the high lights of work being done in the Kearney system. Supt. Wittes of the Grand Island schools presided at all the meetings.

Supt. Martin Dunklau attended this meeting.

Maybe we're in a rut. Maybe it's a groove. We'll let you be the judge.

It's just that we have a habit of buying nothing but choice young beeves and porkers, and fattening them to perfection in our own yards before we put them on the block.

We're pretty sure that's one way of insuring that our customers get nothing but the best. And it also helps us keep prices to the same level you would have to pay for ordinary quality meat.

Her basic training has prepared her for entrance into Air Force technical training and for assignment in specialized work. The course included a scientific evaluation of her aptitude and inclination for following a particular vocation and career.

Ancient 'Queen' Auto Is Bought by Farmer-Mechanic from Ohio

An Ohio farmer, F. F. McNichols, bought this ancient "Queen" automobile from Mrs. Mildred Auble of Ord. The car was built between 1900 and 1905, says the new owner. See story below.

The ancient "Queen" automobile that L. J. "Bud" Auble used to drive at Valley county fairs and other special occasions has a new owner. He is F. F. McNichols of Sunbury, Ohio.

McNichols bought the car from Mrs. Mildred Auble who has had the car in her garage for several years.

The old vehicle was built between 1900 and 1905, says McNichols, a farmer who likes to tinker with a horseless carriage.

The Ohio man first heard of the car when his nephew, a pipeline worker for Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas Co., told him of it.

The car was bought in Chicago and driven to Nebraska in two and a half weeks, Mrs. Auble told the Quiz. Mr. Auble bought the car about 1930 and put it into running condition. He drove the car occasionally until the tires wore out and the war prevented him from getting new ones.

A "490" Chevrolet, a 1918 Baby Grand, a 1911 Model T Ford, and a 1920 Star are also in the collection of McNichols. He says that his newest (or oldest) car appears to be in fine condition with the exception of tires.

Tires for the old "Queen" must be bought on order, with a set of six costing nearly $200.

"I wish I knew the year it was made," McNichols said. "I hope to find out after I steam off the engine and find a serial number."

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Pierson.

The Congregational parsonage at Arcadia, Oct. 12 was the scene of a joyous ceremony in which Miss Joan Masters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Masters, became the bride of Gerald Pierson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albin Pierson, of Arcadia.

Two seven branch candelabra with white tapers formed the setting for the 7:30 o'clock double ring ceremony performed by Rev. E. T. Gunsolley.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Joyce Ritz, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a wine suit with black accessories and a white carnation corsage.

The bride wore a light brown suit with dark brown accessories and carried a white Bible ornamented with a brown orchid. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and a pin of her late Grandmother Masters.

The bridegroom attendant was Floyd Smith. The bridegroom and his attendant wore light suits.

Following the ceremony a reception for the immediate families was held at the home of the bride's parents. A lovely three-tiered wedding cake which was baked and decorated by Mrs. Letha Hawley and Mrs. Alberta Lutz was decorated with white daisies and topped with a miniature bride and groom.

The bride and bridegroom were both graduates of Arcadia high school in 1947. Since then the bride has been teaching school.

The bridegroom has been engaged in farming the old Cash Beach place now owned by A. H. Easterbrook, where they will make their home.

A. L. Weinrich Dies at Age of 53 Years

This community was saddened Thursday by the passing of one of its leading business men, A. L. Weinrich, 53 years of age.

Mr. Weinrich owned and operated a general merchandise store here for a number of years, until he became ill in May of this year. Since then he has been in various hospitals most of the time. For the past 18 years he has been a member of the village board and at one time was president of the Cotesfield Cooperative bank. He was a very fine citizen always ready to help in anyway to the betterment of the community.

Albert Nicholas Weinrich was born December 15, 1896 at Grand Island, and passed away at the Memorial hospital in St. Paul, Oct. 12, 1950, at the age of 53 years, nine months and 27 days.

Funeral services were held at the E. U. B. church Sunday. Rev. Robert Holbrook had charge of the services. The Masonic Lodge of Scotia and members of the Elk club of Grand Island were present. Al was a member of both organizations.

Pallbearers were George Ferguson, Robert Herzog, Dr. R. M. Romans, Rudolph Bebernis, Erving Hanzel and Rasmus Rasmussen. Flower bearers included Eva Coombs, Elsie DeLand, Thelma Bebernis, Joy Jesse, Opal Werle and Edna Gress. Mrs. Dale Johnson sang "Beyond the Sunset" and "Going Home," accompanied by Mrs. Erving Hanzel at the piano.

He leaves to mourn his passing his wife, Georgia, two sons, Richard of Long Beach, Calif., Russell of Des Moines, Ia.; four brothers, George of Kansas City, Kans., Walter, California, Arthur, Tulsa, Okla.; and Robert, Casper, Wyo.; other relatives and a host of friends. A son Donald preceded him in death.

Some out-of-town friends that attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. John Gee, Mr. and Mrs. Maxon Gee and Marvin of Chapman; Mr. Elmer Hansen, California; Mr. and Mrs. Neils Lassen, Grand Island, Mr. and Mrs. John Rasmussen, Mr. and Mrs. Elden Rasmussen, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lint, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hill, Mrs. Floyd Findley, all of Grand Island, Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Donscheski and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Donscheski, Albion; Mr. and Mrs. John Beck, Scotia; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cushing, Kearney; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Werner, Colorado; Mrs. Lois Lincoln, Scotia; Mr. and Mrs. Ivan McCracken, St. Paul, Mrs. Mayme Pedersen, Fremont, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Chambers, Grand Island, Mr. and Mrs. Edie Oppie, Colorado, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Durrell, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jesse, Fullerton, Pete Moore, Grand Island, Mr. and Mrs. Jens Jensen, Central City, Bob Cummings, Grand Island, Mr. and Mrs. Heubner, of North Loup, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Johnson, of Burwell.

Legal Notice

John R. Sullivan, Atty. NOTICE OF ESTATE HEARING. In the County Court of Valley County, Nebraska. In the Matter of the Estate of Frank S. Hosek, Deceased. The State of Nebraska: On October 18, 1950, the Administrator of said Estate filed Final Account and Petition for Distribution. Hearing thereon is Ordered held in the County Court Room in Ord, Nebraska, at 10 o'clock A. M. Nov. 11, 1950. (SEAL) Chas. Clochon, County Judge.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF VALLEY COUNTY, NEBRASKA. IN THE MATTER OF THE APPLICATION OF GORDON SEERLEY, ADMINISTRATOR, FOR A LICENSE TO SELL REAL ESTATE. ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE. Now on this 13th day of October, 1950, Gordon Seerley, Administrator of the estate of Helen Thompson, deceased, having presented his Petition under oath praying for a license to sell the following described real estate of the said Helen Thompson, deceased, to-wit: Lot One in Block Thirty-one, Original Townsite of the City of Ord, Valley County, Nebraska, for the purpose of obtaining money to pay the debts allowed against said estate and costs of administration for the reason that there is not a sufficient amount of personal property in the possession of said Gordon Seerley, Administrator, belonging to said estate to pay said debts and costs. It is therefore ordered that all persons interested in said estate appear before me, E. G. Kroger, one of the Judges of the District Court within and for Valley County, Nebraska, at Chambers in the District Court room in the City of Grand Island, Hall County, Nebraska, on the 20th day of November, 1950, at the hour of ten o'clock A. M., to show cause, if any they have, why a license should not be granted to said Gordon Seerley to sell the above described real estate to pay said debts and costs. It is further ordered that a copy of this Order be served upon all persons interested in said estate by causing the same to be published three successive weeks in The Ord Quiz, a legal newspaper printed, published and of general circulation in said County. BY THE COURT, E. G. Kroger, District Judge Oct. 19-31

Announce Winners of Big Quiz Fishing Contest

Victors Divide Prize Money of 250 Dollars.

For a state which was once described as part of "the great American desert," a lot of fish are caught in Nebraska every year. Some of the biggest and best fish are caught right here in Valley and surrounding counties—proved by the success of the Quiz fishing contest the past two years.

Now it's time to divide the prize money, the $250 in cash which the Quiz awards to the best fishermen.

Gets 12 1/2 Pound Catfish. One of the first fish was the 12 1/2-pound catfish which Adolph Jensen of Cotesfield caught on July 2. Mr. Jensen sent a picture of his catch as required by contest rules, but he had bad luck with it and it wasn't clear enough to print in the paper. But his entry wins in a walk for first prize.

Adamek With Patrick's Bass.

Frank Zadina takes second prize in the catfish division. His effort on August 15 got him a 10 lb., 14 oz. beauty.

Bob Philbrick is in third place with a 7 lb., 16 oz. catfish that he hooked on July 28.

The carp division was new this year. Although not regarded as a game fish, the carp can put up a good fight when he feels like it and a lot of people like to fish for him.

Mrs. John Ward

George Mueller of North Loup took both first and second prizes. One of his fish weighed 7 lbs., nine oz., and the other was just one ounce lighter. He caught them on July 30.

Ronald Sobon's 5 lb., 4 ounce catch was good enough for second place in the carp division.

Hike More Plentiful. Walleyed pike apparently were more plentiful this year than last. There were half a dozen entries this year.

Mrs. Forrest Swanson caught one below the Burwell dam that weighed 2 lbs., 8 1/2 oz. She showed up all the male anglers with her catch and the Quiz is happy to give her the first prize.

Mrs. John Ward is second with a 2 lb., 1 oz. entry.

Toots Harris tried hard to get a two-pounder for the contest, but he missed by an ounce. His catch weighed 1 lb., 15 oz. for third place.

The crapple division of the contest was bound to be close, because it seems that the fish attain a maximum size of about three quarters of a pound around here. Don Kapustka hooked one that weighed 11 oz. for first place in the division, with Mrs. John Ward coming in second together with Bud Patrick of Ericson with 13 oz. efforts. And it looks as if Lewis McCaslin takes third place with a 12 oz. catch, together with Linda Gebhardt, who's fish weighed 12 oz. also.

The bass contest is always a corker. This fine game fish is a challenge to the skill of any fisherman and a lot of Nebraskans spend many summer hours trying to outwit him.

Faye Patrick did the best job of outwitting the bass. He landed a 4 lb., 9 oz. specimen for first place, followed by Bob Adamek with a 4 1/2 lb. effort and Anton Kapustka with a 3 1/2 lb. beauty.

Mrs. C. C. Dale caught the largest fish of the women entrants. Her catfish, weighing 6 1/2 lbs., was an easy winner in the ladies open division.

Denice Finley places second with a 6 lb., 7 oz. catfish, and Mrs. Dora Ward's 3 lb., 6 1/2 oz. northern pike is good enough for third place.

Winners may pick up the prize checks by calling at the Quiz office.

Deer Loses Fight With Auto

It might have been a serious accident. It wasn't—but it was unusual. Walt Jorgensen, North Loup, was driving to Ord on Highway 11 when a deer leaped out of the ditch directly in front of his car. The auto hit the doe and broke her leg; the car went into a spin and stopped in the ditch, headed toward North Loup. Sheriff Bob Hall and Joe Cetak killed the deer and put it in cold storage.

In top picture Sheriff Hall examines the damage to Walt Jorgensen's car which resulted from a collision with a deer on Highway 11. Lower photo shows Sheriff Hall and Joe Cetak with the doe.

Soil Judging Meet Slated for Tuesday

"Know your soil" will be the theme of the Mid-State Soil Judging contest held at Loup City Tuesday, October 24.

This event will be open to everyone with special emphasis on 4-H, F.F.A., and Vets groups. Soil is the most common and most basic thing we have in agriculture and yet, so few people know anything about it.

The contest will follow the golf course pattern, whereby the contestants will score the profile in each hole according to the rules set up in the score card. The score card will be divided into five divisions. Part I will cover the physical features of the soil, part II the land capability classification, part III appropriate land use, part IV suggested cropping system, and part V suggested conservation practices.

Wilbur Ringler of the Extension Service and Bill Bryan of the Soil Conservation Service will team together and put on a type demonstration and also give the official placings of the various soils in the contest.

This contest will be sponsored by the Sherman County Extension Service, Sherman County Soil Conservation District, Nebraska Conservation Foundation Inc., and the Loup City Chamber of Commerce.

Ord Seconds Lose by 32-0 Score

The Ord high school second team went to Broken Bow to play the Indian seconds under the lights Monday eve, losing 32 to 0. The Broken Bow squad, seemingly three deep in every position, pushed over two touchdowns in the first quarter and dominated play throughout the game.

Kerry Leggett, center and game captain for Ord, looked best for the Chants on defense and also handled the punting job capably. Crosley and Mason looked best in the Ord backfield, each getting off some nice passes when Ord's ground attack stalled, as it did often against the heavier Indian team.

Seven in Row for Omaha as Biggest Market

Omaha this week made it seven Mondays in a row as world's largest livestock market. Western cattle and calves on sale Monday totaled 20,000, Western sheep 7,000. Total receipts were near 35,000, salable 35,000.

Replacement cattle and calf trade was a firebrand—25-50c and more higher. Steer calves hit a new all-time high of $40, heifer calves a record $37, and yearling feeder steers weighing 772 a record-equaling $33.50 and bulk brought $30-$33. Feeder steers bulked at $27-$30, plain to medium kinds $23-$26.50, good 3's weighing 1325 $27.25. Stock cows brought $18-$22.75. Besides the record price steer calves there were numerous sales at $32-$38.

Meanwhile, fat cattle sold mostly a quarter higher, plain to medium steers 1100 pounds up, steady. Price range was $24.50-$32.50, bulk $29-$31, heifer top $31, mixed yearlings to $31.50. Cows sold strong to 25c or more up; $15-$22.50, heiferettes to $23. Bologna bulls sold to $24, Westerns to $22.50. Vealer top was $30.

Hogs sold steady to 25c lower, after gaining $1-$1.50 last week. Butcher's weighing 180 to 360 Monday brought $19.25-$20, top freely paid. Sows weighing 270 to 550 sold at $18-$19.50, stags $13.50-$15.50.

High-selling fat steers at Omaha last week included a shipment from Ore Koelling of Valley county, 56 head weighing 1153 at $31.25.

Grain.

The grain markets the last week have been lower all week. The demand for all grain has been very limited and thus the lower market. We are in the market for your grain and will pay as much as the Omaha market will justify, so if you have grain to move let us make an offer on it. Have room for some good barley now and if you have some to sell we will buy enough to fill our barley bin again.

Alfalfa and Sweet Clover.

Our alfalfa seed market is very good but the sweet clover market is very weak. We look for a lower market on alfalfa seed as the national crop of red clover is the largest in eleven years and many of the States east of us use red clover in place of alfalfa whenever the price favors red clover. We can still use about 100 bushels of alfalfa seed that is bright colored at the premium that we have been paying the past couple of weeks. We believe that our local farmers could save a little money on their alfalfa and sweet clover seed for spring seeding if they would buy it now. We do have a very attractive price on the sweet clover seed.

Sudan Seed.

We have been buying a limited amount of Sudan seed that is free from cane and if you are threshing sudan we would be glad to see the seed and make you an offer on it.

Tulip Bulbs.

We have some very nice quality Holland grown Tulip Bulbs. We have 10 separate named varieties at 85c per doz., and they are surely nice. They should be planted this month.

Glad Bulbs.

We will have our Glad bulbs harvested in the next few weeks and they are very nice quality and we feel that the 15 varieties that we grow are some of the very finest colors. They are priced at 75c per doz., in named varieties per hundred but to get this price you must take 100 or more.

Grain Loader.

We have a used trailer grain loader that we will sell. It is very good for either threshed grain or ear corn. It is complete with engine and rubber tires. Just hook it behind your truck and take it anywhere that you want to use it.

Veterans Groups Move Trap Shoot to Airport

Equipment for the regular blue rock shoots being held this winter by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion has been moved to the Ord airport, where the shoots will be conducted from now on.

Sunday afternoon, October 22, is the date for the next shoot, which will combine prizes and practice on both singles and doubles.

The new shooting grounds are located just south of the hangar area at the airport. As soon as a field of corn at the airport is picked, the veterans plan to move their trap to a permanent location, and erect a trap house and club house.

Snyder Says Increase in Taxes Is Certain

Americans haven't seen the last of tax boosts. Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder says a pay-as-you-go defense program will call for a greater tax increase in 1951 "than most people realize."

Snyder told a group of industrialists and businessmen last week that any effort to pay for defense measures on a spot basis "will require a substantial increase in taxes next year."

Workers were beginning to feel the pinch of Uncle Sam's bigger cut of their paychecks, effective October 1. But steel companies already are facing wage demands.

North Loup Ties St. Mary's, 26-26

In an exciting football game played at North Loup Thursday evening, the score was tied at the end of the game 26-26. An extra large crowd of fans was present for the game.

The game opened with North Loup making the first score on a fine punt return of 55 yards by Gale Sintek.

O'Neill came back to score and go into the lead 7-8. The teams traded touchdowns and North Loup picked up an extra point. Score at the half was 13-13.

North Loup scored twice and O'Neill came back to tie the score, 26-26. With two minutes to go, North Loup took over the ball on their 35 yard line, with only one minute to go. A pass from Willoughby to Sintek was good to the two yard line. They had one running play, which failed to make the distance. Time ran out before they could run another play.

Sintek, Meyers, and Klingensmith stood out on offense. DeNoyer and Sintek stood out on defense.

Men who stood out for St. Mary's were on the offense, Don Donahue, Joe Vel, and Jess Willis, Defense, Jack Carney, Jerry Wance and Larry Kynl.

Bought and Paid For.

It would be interesting, if possible, to find out just how much is being paid for votes this year. Perhaps there are a few who actually do not believe votes are being paid for. The fact is, it is illegal to buy votes. But that does not alter the fact that votes are being bought and paid for.

The nation has come to a deplorable state when this can be said and said truthfully. First, there is the labor vote. While it is true that not all organized labor will vote the Democratic ticket, the fact is that the leadership is advocating that all its membership vote for the party that enacted labor legislation.

The fact is that many men in the ranks will not be misled by the statements made. They realize that labor cannot be given everything it would like to have without upsetting the equilibrium of every other department of our social scheme. They understand that the Taft-Hartley law is necessary for the benefit and protection of the men of labor in the ranks.

However, the one most important piece of labor legislation was the Taft-Hartley law, and it was put across by a coalition of both Republicans and Democrats. The Republicans could not have done this alone. Therefore, if the law is good, credit should be given both sides. If the law is bad, both parties must take the blame.

More recently efforts are being made to curtail the farm vote. Much favorable legislation has been enacted, and much more will be.

Personal To Women With Nagging Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, thinness or dietary indiscretions. If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 60 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Big Appetites . . .

Big appetites come from the crisp autumn days that will be here soon.

Mother doesn't mind those big appetites, even though they pose a problem in planning menus. If she's a wise mother, she'll let George's help her with the menu problem.

Their tender, satisfying meats are mainstays of autumn meals—and economical enough to feed growing children all they want.

and this is as it should be. However, laws favorable to the farmer should not be passed for the sole and only purpose of getting votes. Further, if any legislation, good or bad, is passed, it will be done by both parties, and both will be entitled to credit or blame.

What we need in Washington is statesmen and not politicians. We need men who will consider the good of their country, rather than their desire to win votes for their party. We need men who will do what their conscience tells them to do, and not, like Esau, sell their birthright for a mess of pottage.

Thirty Years.

Last week in Ord a certain event was celebrated, an event that might have passed unnoticed by all not directly concerned, but one that has done much in the past for the people of the county and will do even more in the future. It was the annual Achievement day of the Valley County Extension clubs.

This was a great event in itself, but no greater than the fact that it was the thirtieth anniversary of the founding of the first extension club back in 1920. The idea was new then, but has come to be an accepted fact since that time. It is of special interest to note that C. C. Dale, present extension agent, organized that first club.

Dale came to Valley county as a young man in 1919 and took over the work of county agent, a new idea in Valley county at the time. He came at an important time in history, when prices of farm land were soaring to unbelievable heights and the people who believed those prices would continue were riding for a fall.

Many farmers took a terrific beating at that time, and this condition of affairs continued for fifteen years or more. In such a time and under such conditions, the value of a farm consultant in the county capital can hardly be underestimated. Bad as it was, without the advice given by the county agent, conditions would doubtless have been far worse.

Farming practices are far different today than they were thirty years ago. Many of these changes might have come as a matter of course, but others might not have been tried out in experiment stations and found to be good, after which they were recommended for local use. Farmers are independent, and it takes time to get them to adopt any new idea, but the farm setup today is vastly different than it was thirty years ago.

Much of the credit is due to C. C. Dale, who has continued on the job all these years, giving his advice freely to those who have asked for it. He has had his troubles in that time, and has met with opposition, but he has never forgotten that his is a position of service. Our hats should go off to County Agent Dale.

United Nations.

Tuesday, Oct. 24, is United Nations Day throughout the world, or that part of the world represented by the United Nations. To us the celebration of the Fourth of July has become one of the most important observances of the entire year, but the principle behind United Nations Day is of far greater significance, since it is a sort of July Fourth on an international scale.

The day and what it means is important only in so far as it is accepted by the people of all the nations involved. It is important only as its importance is enhanced by all the people concerned. The Fourth of July would have no significance if the people had not, since the beginning of our nation, insisted on observing it with appropriate ceremonies.

The idea of United Nations Day is to enlist all the people behind the work of the United Nations General Assembly. In so doing the people of all the world will in time come to accept the idea of a united world as a matter of course, just as we accept July Fourth, Thanksgiving and Christmas today.

The idea of a united world first took definite form at the Geneva conference immediately after World War One, when the League of Nations was formed and the idea of a World Court was instituted. That both failed at that time is no indictment of the idea, but is an indictment of the nations involved. In fact, the failure was only proof that the world was not yet ready for such an arrangement.

Today the idea of United Nations has taken definite form in the police action, as it has been called, against North Korea, and the result of that action may have far greater significance than any of us realize. The action to date, while harmonious, has been marked by a certain crudeness which might well be expected of any idea not yet fully worked out.

But, if the first definite action by the United Nations can bring peace and unity to a war torn nation, then the idea is well worth while, and demands the fullest support by all the people of all the nations concerned. To do otherwise would be to admit failure, and the Korean action is certainly not a failure.

Something Different

Time for buckwheat cakes! When the leaves fall and that nip is in the air, it is time for buckwheats again.

Real buckwheats, not the mixed-up, ready-made pancakes that pass (pass with whom?) for buckwheat cakes.

They are so easy to make, the old-fashioned way. Let me tell you how to fix the batter. Put to soak in a half-cup lukewarm water a cake of your favorite yeast, with a bit of sugar if you like.

Then mix, about half and half, white flour and pure buckwheat flour with lukewarm water to make a typical pancake batter. When the yeast is bubbly, add that to the batter, cover it and let it set in a non-drafty place for at least twenty-four hours. Longer is better.

Whenever the batter doesn't have any bubbles in it, you can start them up again with: the addition of a half-cup of either kind of flour; a tablespoon of sugar, or half cake of yeast. And a little waer.

To be the best, they should develop a soury smell and taste. When you go to fry them, add salt to please.

Serve good and hot with syrup and butter.

Homemade sausage is the best accompaniment, but I will also settle for fried eggs, bacon, salt pork or what have you.

After breakfast, set the remainder of the batter aside.

Restart it in a day or two—see above.

Next time you have buckwheat cakes, in a couple or three days, they will be better. For they will have that old tang. If you think they are too sour, add a pinch, and I do mean only a pinch, of soda.

Kind of a gussy recipe. But awfully easy to do.

Our grandparents kept the batter going all winter.

I don't think you'll ever be satisfied with synthetic ones again.

And . . . free adv . . . for years I've bought pure buckwheat flour at the Farmers Store!

Congratulations to President Bill Steen of the Chamber of Commerce, and to the members of his committee for the good job they did on the Kid Parade Sunday they really drew a crowd.

There were some mighty cunning entries: the crowd liked the show.

For $25 the Chamber of Commerce couldn't cook up a bigger attraction than a pet parade like that with which they celebrated Children's Day.

Some kind soul evidently thinks it is none too early to get a start on our plans for an ice skating pond in Ord, for use this winter.

At least, they clipped and presented to me a story from the York paper about their plans there for not just one but TWO ice skating ponds. The Tertoman club (whatever that may be) is taking the two ponds in hand and will maintain them.

Well, it is easier to throw up that earthen rim for the pond before the ground freezes. No doubt about it. And of course Ord kids do like to skate, no doubt about that either.

What group will sponsor ice skating ponds in Ord? —o—o—o—

Say . . . where's our municipal concert series gone? I bought tickets. You bought tickets. We all want to hear and see more of those good features.

The fall season was to be the concert season.

The fall brings us many things besides this bright blue weather and the fodder in the shock.

Here we've already talked about buckwheat and ice ponds! —Irma.

Ward's Cookin' Column

Back in Civil war days, if you can remember that far back, the government had a rather clever combination of knife, fork and spoon which they furnished the boys in blue when they went forth to the camps. It was compact and could be carried in the pocket. It was built like a jack knife, with one regular blade, another blade like a fork and still another like a spoon, which folded up, partly inside and partly outside the handle.

They had their advantages, and also their disadvantages, among which was the fact that you could use only one of them at a time. Thus, while you could use the knife to cut your meat, you could not use your fork at the same time to hold it, and while you were using your spoon, the other two items were out of the picture.

But the worst part of it was the fact that the combination was not sanitary, and was condemned by the medical department and the more modern three-piece set issued instead. Still, if those combinations were still being made they would sell like hot cakes to campers and picnickers, who might not use them, but who would like to have them along in case of emergency.

So far as is known, those outfits went out of general use more than 70 years ago. My father had one when we were little kids, but it disappeared. It was the only one of the kind I remember seeing until I made the trip to Hawaii. About 8,000 of us workers were billeted in a place called Civilian Housing Area 3. That is a lot of people, and we had been there for several months when I made my discovery.

I was walking along the street one day when, right before my eyes, I saw what at first I took to be a badly battered knife. Picking it up, I found to my astonishment that it was one of those combination outfits from Civil war days. There wasn't much left of it. The wood was off both sides of the handle and the knife and spoon blades were gone, but the fork was still there and in a fair state of preservation.

Just how it got there is a mystery that will never be solved. It might have been carried there by some veteran shortly after the Civil war, but where had it been all those years. Your guess is as good as mine.

In writing such a column as this, one must of necessity write about the scenes and events that occur whenever you happen to be at the time. Since I spent five days of last week at Burwell doing sign work at Nebraska's Big Rodeo, that is where I picked up a number of ideas I will pass on in these paragraphs. The new dates are up now, and, in order to save you a trip up to Burwell to read them, they are Aug. 8, 9, 19, and 11 in 1951. Since 1952 is a leap year, they will doubtless move up five days to Aug. 13, 14, 15, and 16, 1952. What occurs to me is this: Burwell is one of the few shows in the nation that can announce a year ahead just what dates the show will be on. The reason is that the big shows pick out their dates and the other shows arrange their dates to suit.

I am not a smoker, but I do like to look at pipes, and that is where Ray Hahn's Grill in Burwell comes in. Ray believes in making a display of pipes, and he is doing quite a job of it. On the south wall, right in front of the lunch counter, he has pipes spread everywhere, more than two hundred of them, and very few duplicates. He has all the popular makes, including Furex, Medico, Dr. Grabow, Yello-hole, Wellington, Truline, Mel-O Cob, Honey Dew, Falcon, Americo, Cobbie, Missouri Meerschaum and Small Fry. The latter must be intended for babies to cut their teeth on. They certainly are too small for actual use.

Last week I commented on the boys running John LaCorna for dogcatcher and after I wrote the item and before it was printed, the President stated he would not appoint John L. Lewis dogcatcher. Since then I have been hearing quite a lot of comment on that remark, both in Burwell and North Loup. It seems to be generally agreed that nobody wants John L. for dogcatcher, but everybody deplors that fact that the chief executive should use such language. He certainly did not do the head of the miners any harm, and he of the most powerful figures in the world today, and most of his miners agree with him. The President cannot get the majority of the 90 men in the senate to agree with him much of the time.

I went to the Rodeo Theater, proprietor Warren Hall who is also arena director of the rodeo. I guess Burwell people do not have to be told that they have one of the best theaters in the country, as they fill the building. The seats are padded like car cushions, and I figured I would probably go to sleep. But I didn't. The picture was "Treasure Island," in technicolor. The play followed the lines of the book almost exactly with the exception of what had to be omitted. It goes to prove what a lot of movie goers have always contended that the way to make a picture interesting is to follow the plan of the book from which it is made.

The trouble with some people is that they forget that it takes as long in some cases to plan the job as it does to do the work. In a hurry to get the job done, they start in a haphazard manner and find in the end that it took them just as long or longer, and the job was one to be ashamed of. Which reminds me of a young man in Burwell who put on a window sign there with white paint. I asked him how it happened that the paint worked so nice, and he said he was using outside paint and putting a little kerosene in it. "It won't last long," he said, "but I will be out of town in a week or two, and you will get a job of putting it on again when it comes off." Every bit of that paint was off in less than two months, but the storekeeper decid not to have another sign put on, so I didn't get the job.

Monday afternoon a lot of Holt county cars went past the fair grounds going south. I would not have known where they were from if I had not seen Coach Bill Cook of Atkinson driving one of the cars. He is ag teacher now, however, so I reckon it was his ag class he had with him. Poor Bill. He had to put up with a John Ward when he was coaching at North Loup, and now the superintendent at Atkinson is a John Ward. Speaking of football reminds me that I have not seen an 11-man game for several years. I like the six-man game best, because you know where the play is going and where the ball is most of the time.

The latest thing is the imitation cigarettes made from candy. They now put out Westertes, Camales and Lucky Ettes in packs very similar to the regular cigarette cartons for the kids, the idea probably being to get them interested in the real thing that much earlier in life. Just sit back some time and listen to the crazy ads they sing and preach over the radio, or read the ones they put into the popular magazines, and you will agree that it is no wonder that Russia thinks we are crazy.

The boys hauling potatoes along the highway must have thought I was doing a real job of painting the signs on the fence. As they did not have any bouquets handy to throw, they threw potatoes instead. That would have been fine if they hadn't picked out the damaged ones to throw. Luckily for me, they missed the target.

Many of the autos passing honked, so I guess they still remember me after being away for 14 years. I wonder if they will remember me after I have been dead 14 years, but I am not planning on coming back to find out.

Last, but not least, they have a fine band in Burwell high school this year, as always. They must be planning, I mean, were planning, for the Harvest of Harmony, as they got to school at 8 a. m. and put in an hour marching and playing. The sound carried to where I was working and the music was most enjoyable. Quite by coincidence, while I was painting the word "Nebraska" on the fence, the band helped me out by playing the Nebraska U song.

Built to take Tractor Service

DEARBORN WAGON

*Rubber tires and box or rack not supplied with wagon
The power of modern tractors is just too much for old-fashioned wagons. They can't take it—for long.
You don't have to worry about "baby-long" this Dearborn Wagon. It's really built for tractor service.
It has a rated capacity of 5000 pounds. Automotive type steering permits the front axle to always remain in line with the rocking bolster. Tie rods give you accurate wheel adjustment and minimize "whip." Tapered roller bearings in all wheels cut friction, prevent axle and hub wear, provide ample load capacity, remove speed restrictions. Telescopic reach gives wheelbase of 7 to 10 1/2 feet.

VALLEY COUNTY SERVICE OFFICE

1633 M Street Ord, Nebraska

Fellow Serviceman: So, you have received "Greetings" and are taking the big step! Congratulations for your courage and patriotism—and here I go with my "two bits worth" of unwanted advice. Yet, eight years ago, when I took a similar step, I then wished there was some one to give me a few tips. Anyway, after it is all over and you come home, you will say, "I would not have missed it for a million and would not go back for another million."

Start your trip clean of body and clean of mind. You are in the service now—and God keep you safe and bring you home in good shape. Barring wounds that may come to you in the conflict, or accident or illness, the service life can make you or break you. You can come out a bum or you can come out as a lot of man. If you watch your step, keep your nose clean, your ears open and your mouth shut—you will be O.K. I know, as I have been through it. I want you to read the rest of this letter carefully. Then read it over a few more times. It may mean a lot to you later and may keep you from learning the hard way.

First off, in the service you will have all sorts of chances to make decisions. You can decide to drink or you can decide to stay sober and I mean to let it alone altogether. The service today has no room for a drunk or a bum. It is too highly specialized to have room for the man whose judgment is clouded with liquor. Promotion today is not fouled up with alcohol. In a combat area, you never know what instant you may be called on for a quick decision and your life and the lives of your buddies may depend on you—if one buddy's life is lost or his body maimed because you bent your elbow too long, you will never forget it.

It is not sissy to say "No." No one in the service will compel you to drink and no one will laugh at you if you say "No" and stick to it. Those days have gone by. The smart serviceman today is the one that is always sober.

Discipline will not bother you. It is taken for granted that orders are given to be obeyed, no matter how nonsensical they may seem to you. You will have 90 day wonders who will burn you up—but there is only one thing to do. If a dumb order is given, carry it out, then gripe afterwards. Remember this, no officers can make you do a thing if you do not want to, but they can make you wish you had.

Leave the handshaking to the other fellow. You will have one in your squad and one in your platoon and probably one in your file. Let him do it. He will get the promotion and the soft detail, but sooner or later it will catch up with him and he will be transferred. It may get you places with your commander, but not with your buddies, and remember this, my friend, you will live with your buddies. Some officers like it. You will notice that the guy that has the long nose always gets promoted or sooner or later. We called them "brown-nosers" and other more fitting names in the last war but such descriptive adjectives are not fitting for this paper. You didn't do it at home, so don't start. If asked about something, just don't know how it happened.

As far as women are concerned, use your head. Just remember you are coming back to America where there is a nice girl waiting for you. One mis-step can cause you a lot of grief for the rest of your life.

Go to church. No matter where you are, or what religion the services may be, attend them. There is nothing that will take the place of prayer when you get in a tight spot.

Get a hobby to pass away your spare time—an orchestra, reading, studying the points of interest and visiting them. Make a study of the history of the section you are in, then use the museums and libraries—you will come home with many memories that will stick to you. Travel all you can.

Get acquainted with your chaplain. He will help you get to school or get into the hobby you want. If you get into a jam, see him. He knows the score and is there to see that you get a fair shake.

Write home. Remember your dad and mother are always worrying and watching for every mail. It will be seldom that you cannot write home once or twice a week. It may seem like a small thing to you, but it is all your parents have to look forward to. To them, war is always combat, even if you are far from the lines.

Save your money. If you save $20 per month, in three years you will have nearly $800 with the paymaster and that is not hay. When you get that discharge, if you have $800 in ready cash, plus your last month's mustering out pay, you will have nearly a $1000 in your pocket. An honorable discharge, $1000 in cash, together with some trade that you can learn in the service will put you on easy street when you get out—There will be few boys at home that will have a thousand "iron men" in their hands after three years.

AND NOW, GUYS: If you are injured, no matter how slightly, if you are ill, or operated on, or are for any reason sent to a hospital, or to any hospital, even for a day or a couple of pills, make a note of it. Write down the day, the date and place and unit to which attached. Get the names and addresses of your buddies who know of it and write them down. A sprain, a bruise, illness, wounds, or operation—a cold or anything that you are treated for may show up as serious after twenty years and if it is not on your service record, you will have to prove it service-connected to get any pension or compensation.

You may have heard of my work as service officer—last quarter there were 653 veterans who came to me with troubles and many of them were because they were not on record. One lad with a certain disability needed compensation and it took 117 letters before we could service-connect it. Another is drawing $150 per month—but it took two years to get it—no record. Another case—I am still working on it after four years. Another veteran who was on a bulldozer that was turned over when it struck a mine on Omaha beach in France received, apparently, only minor injuries and he was treated accordingly at the time, and no record was made of it. However, someone had tipped him off to a few things and he had the name of the driver of the dozer behind him and other witnesses, the day and date of the event, the name of the doctor who treated him. With their names and addresses it took only seven weeks to get him his compensation. If he had not had those names and addresses I am afraid he would have been out of luck.

A service-connection for total disability means the difference between $150 per month plus an allowance for the family or parents if the compensation is over 50% instead of $60 per month. It means that at any time you are in need of hospitalization, you can get free treatment at a Veterans Administration hospital. And if it is service-connected, you get $150 per month after you have been in the hospital more than 21 days. If you cannot service-connect disability you get nothing and have to wait a long time to even get into a hospital.

In the event you die from a service-connected disability, your widow will get $75 a month plus $30 for the first child and $25 for each other child. If your condition is service-connected, but not on record or otherwise proved to be service-connected and you die from it, your widow will get $42 a month and $12 for the first child and $6 for each other child.

Hospitalization, compensation and pension for your widow or other dependents is worth taking care of—and you are the only one that can do it. A good many medical corps men and officers for some reason will neglect to put your treatment or disability on your record and you will not realize it until you are laid up with a bad back, a mental condition, bad knee, etc., and you claim pension or compensation. Five years after you get out of service may be too late to service-connect the disability unless you have the proof that may have to be secured by affidavits from buddies that know of the conditions under which it happened. There are hundreds of veterans unable to work and paying their own doctor bills for conditions that happened in the service but for which there is no record.

Write everything down, with the names and addresses and send two copies home, so that if one copy does not reach them, another will. It is easy to lose the record if you put it in your pocket or bag.

The same goes for dental work. If the service dentist fills your teeth and later the filling comes out or comes loose, the Veterans Administration will fix them for life. If the plate is made, see that it is on record, also all extractions. Any service-connected disability is good for compensation as long as you live, but it is up to you to prove that it happened in the service. The Veterans Administration will not come to you or write you to see if you are O. K. but if you can prove that it happened in the service they will give you the best of care and for compensation you deserve. Remember—it is up to you to prove it.

You have a right to see your record before you sign the discharge. Do so, and if there is anything missing in the line of medical or dental care that you have had, see that it is put on before you accept the discharge. It is your right and the service wants you to have it so. That goes for every illness and disability and dental care, no matter how small it may seem at that time. Day, date, place, number and location of hospital or dispensary, name and address of the doctors, nurses or corpsmen—get them and keep them.

That's about all this time. I am telling you what thousands of us have learned by bitter experience. For five years I have had veterans in my office every day—many in trouble and three-fourths of them are in difficulties because they kept no records of any medical treatments in the service.

Feel free to write to me at any time. Through the foresight of those two great service organizations, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and The American Legion, the county service office came into being for serving the needs of all veterans. Some day, you too will be veterans, and be entitled and privileged to associate yourself with one or both of these groups. I will be glad to hear from you and will answer, but write home first and often.

May God keep you safe and well and bring you home to us straight and strong in mind and body with nothing on your record except "Service—Honest and Faithful." A hitch in the service will bring you out a man and if you decide to stay in for retirement, you

History of Arcadia Is Story of Progress, Community Development

By John Ward

Arcadia, with the exception of Elyria the youngest village in Valley county to incorporate, has had an interesting history. Although a few homesteaders went up into that part of the Middle Loup valley nearly as early as they did in the North Loup, the town was not actually started until more than ten years later.

The first reference to the Arcadia area in the commissioners record of Valley county was made in the minutes for July 7, 1871, when it was decided that "We establish a voting precinct known as Brownsville." This took in all of the southwest corner of the county and included all of the present township of Arcadia and parts of Liberty, Yale and a little of the southwest corner of Vinton.

The line of this precinct was a zigzag line running from up near the present location of Comstock and ten miles north of the southwest corner of the county to a point ten miles east of that same corner. The number four coincided with the number of the school district east of Arcadia where the earliest settlers sent their children to school, but this may have been only a coincidence.

A further reference to Precinct No. 4 is made in the commissioners minutes as of Oct. 7, 1879, when it was voted that the predict be henceforth known as Arcadia. Meanwhile, probably about 1876, a post office had been established, and was known as Arcadia. This name was suggested by Mrs. Boone Hawthorne, mother of C. C. Hawthorne. The latter still lives in Arcadia.

From the book of miscellaneous record in the court house we find a plot of the original town of Arcadia, made by George M. Raymond, surveyor of Sherman county and filed for record Oct. 3, 1885, now 65 years ago, thus giving Arcadia its 65th birthday this year. Signing the incorporation record were Parley and Alice Round and John and Isabella Wall, owners of the land.

Of these four Mrs. Wall is the only one still living. She was born Febr. 23, 1857, and so will be 91 years old on her next birthday. She lives in her home in Arcadia. Mrs. Pearl Scott, lives with her and gets her meals, as Mrs. Wall, though still quite active, has nearly lost her sight.

As laid out the original town of Arcadia consisted of four blocks in each direction, with the exception of 1 1/2 blocks off the southwest corner, space presumably to be used by the railroad when it built into town a short time later. The town was bounded on the north by Owens street, on the east by Reynolds avenue, on the south by Landers street and, on the west by Hastings street.

Streets in between from north to south were Wall street, Bridge street and Round street, and from east to west there are Jonner avenue, Schmelzer avenue and Fuller avenue. With the exception of Bridge street, these streets and avenues were named for citizens of that time. Some of the names are still familiar, and others are lost with the passing of time.

A number of additions to the original town of Arcadia were made, and all within a space of a little more than two years, according to the records. The first of these, Hawthorne's addition, was made May 3, 1886, by William M. Hill, and was a plot of nine blocks, three each direction.

Next came First addition to Arcadia by Parley and Alice Round and A. P. and Minnie L. Culley, as of April 1, 1887. Two months later, June 1, Park Place addition was added by William L. Hill. The railroad addition to Arcadia was made March 16, 1888 and the papers were signed by H. R. Scott, president of the Lincoln Land company, and by John Wall and Belle (Isabella) Wall.

This last addition indicates that the railroad had built into Arcadia about that time. This addition was to the northwest of the main part of the town, and the depot is located well to the northwest. C. C. Hawthorne believes that the railroad built into Arcadia either early in 1888 or in 1887. Now known as the Burlington, it was then called the Lincoln and Black Hills railway.

From information furnished by Mr. Hawthorne, Brownsville precinct was doubtless named for Porter Brown, an early arrival who lived about two miles east of the present Arcadia, at the base of the hills and north of the highway.

Sam McKellar had a homestead cornering with the Arcadia cemetery. Mingserson Coombs and Alonzo Fradenberg had homesteads about two miles southeast of Arcadia. Mitch Mason, Jimmy Lee and Jeffry Hayes were located at the mouth of Lee's Park, southwest of Arcadia. Uncle Sam Hawthorne lived east of Arcadia.

These were the settlers when the Boone Hawthornes arrived in 1876. Clyde Hawthorne recalls this, partly from memory and also from what he learned later, as he was only three years old when the family came. Sam Hawthorne had a place on the creek just east of the present Arcadia, hence the name, Hawthorne creek.

Ed Fuller started the first store in Arcadia about 1883, in what is now the middle part of the building in which Otto Rettenmayer has his store at present, additions were built to the original building, both front and back, and the joinings can still be located in the present building.

W. B. Reynolds started the second store, a hardware, in a building on the site of the present bank. The old building was taken out and the new building was built there. This probably occurred in 1881. The first bridge was built across the Middle Loup river somewhere between 1882 and 1884. It was the first of three bridges built approximately on the present site.

The Arcadia post office was established and named by Sarah Hawthorne, about 1876. Mrs. Hawthorne also taught the first school in District No. 21, Arcadia, about 1879, and had charge of the first Sunday school in the area, probably not far from that same time. District No. 4 was doubtless established by and for the benefit of D. W. and Porter Brown and Alonzo Fradenberg and their families.

The Methodist church was the first church established in Arcadia, and Rev. Hale was an early minister, possibly the first. Much of the above information was furnished by C. C. Hawthorne, and corroborated by Mrs. Wall, whose memory of early events is exceptionally keen. The Walls had a general store in the building she still owns and where Waterbury now has his store.

Bill Vodehnal of North Loup has a book, published in 1889, which lists all the business and professional men in every town in Nebraska as of that date. This is what it has to say of Arcadia, and probably is correct with the exception of the location of the town, which it puts in the central part of Holt county, 113 miles north of Loup City.

The listings are given verbatim: "The Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. C. A. Hall, pastor; H. W. Albert, flour and feed; the Arcadia Courier, O. D. Crane, editor; the Arcadia Creamery, Warren Pickett, proprietor; the Arcadia Lumber company, H. E. Curtis, manager; the Arcadia Nursery, W. F. Jenkins, proprietor; the Arcadia Roller Mills, John G. Schoupp and Co., proprietors; G. H. Bartoo, station agent.

Beagle and VanAlstine, livestock; Barridge Brothers, proprietors of Highland Stud farm; Frank Bottsford, barber; Alfred Chambers, billiards; Peter Christian, farm machinery; Commercial Hotel, C. E. Rossiter, proprietor; J. B. Corey, meat market; Oliver Dubry, real estate; Peter Duryea, blacksmith.

William Dustman, carpenter; First Bank of Arcadia, A. P. Culley, president, J. R. Lombard, vice-president and A. E. Charlton, cashier; M. L. Fries, lumber; Mrs. E. Fuller, millinery; E. T. and J. H. Gardner, hardware; E. L. Hall, drugs; George E. H. Stang, confectionery, ice cream; Henry Hein, blacksmith, farm machinery.

Jaeger and Schaele, general merchandise; S. J. Leeper, variety store; M. R. Long, postmaster, furniture; Mathews and son, general merchandise; Charles E. Minnich, physician; W. S. Owens, harness makers; Mrs. S. Pappert, bakery; Samuel S. Pennepacker, real estate, insurance; L. A. Reynolds, hardware.

W. B. Reynolds, real estate, farm machinery; Ring Brothers, livery and feed; G. S. Round, livery stable; P. W. Round, real estate; Scott Hotel, R. M. Scott, proprietor; H. J. Shupp and Co., general merchandise; State Bank of Arcadia, S. H. Burnham, president, E. T. Garland, cashier; V. H. Stone, attorney; John Wall attorney at law, real estate, drugs.

A number of the people mentioned in the above list became well known in county circles later, notable George S. Round, who served as sheriff of Valley county for more than two decades. V. H. Stone lived in Ord for a time and finally became a district judge. John Wall served as clerk for the Nebraska legislature.

W. F. Jenkins had been running a nursery for many years before 1889, supplying trees for settlers to plant on their timber claims as well as fruit trees. Beagle served a term or two as county sheriff before the time of George Round, in fact about 30 years before. M. L. Fries was county treasurer in the '90s and also served as a member of the state senate.

A. E. Charlton was perhaps the best known of those men of the early days. He lived in Arcadia, in Ord, and in Loup City, and was in business in all three towns, in the implement business in Ord about 1900. E. T. Gardner served a term or two as county surveyor.

The "Trail of the Loup" published by Harold W. Fought in 1905, gives the following order to the early settlers of the Arcadia area. First to come was George McKellar, who, according to history, was no credit to the community. Second came Porter Brown. Third was Mingserson Coombs, then came W. H. and Alonzo Fradenberg, and the next family was that of Samuel A. Hawthorne.

The same source has it that in 1874 a post office was established in the Samuel Hawthorne home. The people wanted to call it Brownsville in honor of Porter Brown, but there was already one Brownsville in Nebraska, so the name of Arcadia was adopted instead. It is also stated that Mingserson Coombs was the first school teacher, and that there were seven children at the time of school age.

Continuing, the book gives credit to John Wall, who arrived in the valley in 1880, for the idea of building a town. The town was platted in 1882, but was not put on record until three years later on the date mentioned above. It also tells that the third and fourth buildings in Arcadia were W. S. Owens harness shop and George Hastings general store.

The town grew by leaps and bounds, but in the fall of 1880 the heart was burned out of the business section and eight leading firms put out of business, several never to reopen. This was followed by the drought years and for some time Arcadia lost more in population than it gained. By 1900 the rallying point had been reached, and the town has put on a healthy growth since that time.

In 1905 Arcadia was enjoying a building boom, and the following were mentioned as building homes: Mrs. Salisbury (2), O. D. Henry, A. Lane, H. E. Sawyer, E. H. Peck, E. F. Milburn, C. Landers, Peter Christian (2), F. H. Davis, F. H. Kinsey, C. O. Blomquist, H. O. Cooley.

In addition the Odd Fellows were erecting a hall and opera house at a cost of $6,000. This is still one of the finest buildings in Arcadia. G. H. Kinsey was building a barn and a bank. M. L. Fries and J. P. Leiminger were building additions to their lumber offices and sheds.

Special mention is made of Dr. A. E. Bartoo, who was doctor in Arcadia for many years. He was also elected to the state legislature and served two terms, beginning in 1902. Mentioned also is M. L. Fries, who served on the (Continued on Page 5) county board for several terms and was twice elected state senator.

The above is written for the benefit of the younger generation, as much of it, though history, may have been forgotten. A few more paragraphs will serve to bring some of the more important features of the town of Arcadia down to the present time.

The school, District No. 21, continued to grow through the years, and higher grades were added until there were ten. This continued until 1917, when a full 12 grade school was organized. Paul Dean is president of the school board, Clarice Bellinger is secretary, Mrs. Ben Mason is treasurer, and Jess Waddell, Floyd Bossen and Harold Elliott are the other members.

Arcadia has an active Community club, of which Otto Rettenmayer is president and Dick Marvel, secretary, and there are about thirty members. Bill Ramsey is chairman of the village board, the other members being John Kaminski, Clarence Starr, Paul Dean and Gilbert Gregory. H. D. Weddell is the clerk.

Of special interest and value to the community is the Arcadia township library, built in 1917. Mrs. W. J. Ramsey is president of the board. Mrs. Inez Lewin is secretary and the other members are A. E. Haywood, Mrs. Lorena W. Doe and Mrs. Ella Baird. Mrs. Doe served as the first librarian, and the present librarian is Mrs. Irene W. Dalby.

Arcadia is the location of the offices of the Middle Loup Public Power and Irrigation district, a project costing approximately $1,400,000 to build and which first began operation in 1939. Reorganized in 1949, the project is now locally owned though still run as a municipality. Paul Dean serves as manager and Lorena W. Doe as secretary.

E. G. Stone of Comstock is president, William Couton, Loup City, vice-president, Clark S. Reynolds, Loup City, treasurer, C. A. Sorenson, Lincoln, attorney, and Floyd E. Bossen of Arcadia and Glen Heller of Comstock are directors.

Arcadia has a health center which will be under active construction as soon as the structural steel is available. The contract was let in the amount of $24,500 on Aug. 31 to Melvin Swanson, Arcadia Lumber firm, and the work will be completed as soon as circumstances permit. The excavation for the footings for the building have been dug on the lot just west of the Ramsey drug store.

In spite of a fire that took a severe toll of business buildings and contents some ten years ago, Arcadia is again on the upgrade, and the future looks bright for Valley county's town on the Middle Loup, which is second only to the county seat in securing natural gas. It is predicted that several new businesses will come to the community as the result of this latest development.

Gets Hole in One

Otto Rettenmayer, one of Arcadia's most ardent golfers, has realized a lifetime ambition—he made a hole-in-one.

Rettenmayer has played golf for more than 40 years and has come close to an ace several times, but until a couple of weeks ago he was still hunting for the perfect stroke.

His big moment came on the Riverside course at Grand Island, where Otto was playing with Ray Waterbury of Arcadia, Bill Vanderhoff of Pickrell, and Gus Warneke and Dale Park of Sterling. It was the third hole—177 yards down the fairway. Rettenmayer swatted the ball. It landed short of the green, bounced high in the air and landed squarely in the cup.

Alexander Majors Is Famed for Edict Banning 'Swearing and Intemperance'

Alexander Majors, sparkplug of the famous freighting firm of Russell, Majors and Waddell, probably is best known as a man who could issue an edict against "swearing, gambling, and intemperance," and make it stick even among a motley assortment of bull-whackers, traditionally among the toughest characters on the plains.

It is not so generally known that he was an administrator of exceptional ability and that much of the spectacular success enjoyed by his firm was due to the skill with which he managed its freighting caravans.

In his autobiography, "Seventy Years on the Frontier," Majors devotes a chapter to the management of an overland train. Reading it gives one an inkling as to why his firm stood pre-eminent in the overland freighting business out of Nebraska City and Leavenworth.

He was convinced of the superiority of oxen as freighting animals. "Oxen proved to be the cheapest and most reliable teams for long trips, where they had to live upon the grass," he wrote. "They did good daily work, gathered their own living, and if properly driven would travel 2,000 miles in a season, or during the months from April to November, traveling from 1,000 to 1,200 miles with the loaded wagons, and with plenty of good grass and water, would make the return trip with the empty wagons in the same season."

Even more important was the skill and discipline of the teamsters. Unlike many freighters, Majors did not leave the management of the train solely to the discretion of the master. He drew up and had printed a set of "Rules and Regulations" for the conduct of a wagon train. They were distributed among the men and it was expected that they would be strictly observed. It was in these that the famed injunction against "swearing, gambling, and intemperance" appeared.

The "Rules and Regulations" included everything from how to say "whoa" in the proper manner to the statement, "We expect our trains to observe the Sabbath, and whenever an opportunity occurs to hear preaching, embrace it." When with a train, Majors himself frequently provided that opportunity. He gave each man in his employ a Bible and expected him to use it, if he could read.

Though some of the bullwhackers must have chafed under the rigid discipline, Majors was satisfied that his system produced the desired results. He records in his autobiography, for example, that his men could yoke six pairs of oxen and keep them hitched to the wagon and ready to move in 16 minutes—a job that often took undisciplined teamsters almost an hour.

Cat Worship

The ancient Egyptians worshipped cats and even built temples in their honor. When a favored cat died, its body was often mummified. Placed in a prayer-decorated coffin, it was sometimes buried in the tombs of princes or princesses.

Proceedings of the County Board

October 3, 1950
The Board of Supervisors of Valley County met on the above date with all members present on roll call.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved as read.
Bank balance as of September 30, 1950 read as follows: North Loup Valley Bank, $15,876.07.

Supervisor Hansen then introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

RESOLUTION.
WHEREAS it is provided by law that the County Board of Supervisors may select and designate from the laid out and platted roads within the County certain roads to be known as county roads, which shall be roads leading to and from rural schools, highways connecting cities, villages and marketing centers, and shall be main traveled roads, and the road hereinafter described is such a road,

NOW, THEREFORE, be it resolved by the Board of Supervisors of Valley County, Nebraska, that the following described road be designated as a county highway, to-wit:

Starting at the junction of the present road and state highway No. 56 on the section line between Sections 26 and 27 in Township 17, North of Range 16 in said County and running thence South on the section line between said Sections 26 and 27 and between Sections 34 and 35 in said Township 17, North of Range 16, along the present road in Sherman County now forming a junction with said present road on the section line.

Motion to adopt was seconded by Jablonski, and on roll call, all supervisors voted "Yes." Motion carried and resolution was unanimously adopted.

Motion made and seconded that the County of Valley match the $200 to be appropriated by Garfield counties, north of Sections 5 and 4/Township 20, Range 13, and running East to the State Highway. Motion carried.

Being noon, meeting recessed to 1:00 p. m., when again called to order with all supervisors present upon roll call.

The bond of Fred B. Appelget as Superintendent of Schools in and for the County of Valley was approved by the Bonds Committee. Motion made and carried to accept the report of the Bonds Committee.

The following Resolution was presented:

RESOLUTION
WHEREAS, H. M. Daters is the owner of the following described real estate, to-wit:

Parts of Lots 19 and 20 in Block 5, Original Townsite of Arcadia, Valley County, Nebraska, described as beginning at a point 20 feet West of the Northeast corner of said Lot 20, thence South 30 feet, thence West 55 feet, thence North 30 feet, thence East 55 feet to the point of beginning.

and is contemplating selling the same for the sum of $75.00, and WHEREAS, a lien for assistance has been filed against said property, which lien is recorded in Book 1 at Page 140, and

WHEREAS, this Board believes that it would be for the best interest of all parties concerned if said property is sold for the above amount.

NOW, THEREFORE, be it resolved that the County Treasurer be and he hereby is authorized and directed to release said lien as to the above described property upon receipt of the purchase price above set out and that said amount be credited to the assistance fund.

Signed, S. V. Hansen

Motion to adopt was seconded and on roll call unanimously carried and resolution adopted.

The applications of James F. Zulkoski, Henry Hiner and L. H. Covert for the position of temporary Custodian were presented. Motion made and seconded that L. H. Covert be appointed temporary Custodian of the Court House, beginning October 4, 1950 at a salary of $150.00 per month. Motion carried.

In the clutches of THE LAW and he doesn't know why

Most of the teen-age youngsters who run afoul of the law do not know why! They can hardly be expected to realize that a lack of proper moral and religious training has left them ill-equipped for honest, decent living. In many cases, their parents did not give them the advantage of religious education in the Church. And so, all their lives they may have to pay the penalty of their parent's neglect. Juvenile Delinquency is hard to cure, but it is easy to prevent. The Church, with the support and cooperation of faithful parents, can equip every child with the sure foundation of Christian truth.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) child's sake, (2) for his own sake, (3) for the sake of his community and nation, (4) which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Married Tuesday Morning in Ord

Mr. and Mrs. Albin Urbanski.

The marriage of Lucille Volf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Volf, and Albin Urbanski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ignatius Urbanski, was solemnized at 9:00 a. m. on Tuesday, Oct. 24 in Our Lady of Perpetual Help church in Ord. Father Thomas Siudowski officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of white slipper satin with the full skirt falling into a train. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a shadow neckline with a lace bertha around the lower part of the neckline. Her long sleeves came to a point over the wrist. A beaded crown held her fingertip veil which was edged with lace. She wore a three strand pearl necklace and matching earrings, a gift from the bridegroom, and carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mary Ann Tvrdek, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gold satin gown with matching mitts and headband. Dorothy Volf, sister of the bride, and Geneva Benson, friend of the bride, were bridesmaids. Their gowns were of aqua and coral satin respectively. They also wore matching mitts and headbands.

All carried colonial bouquets of white carnations. Donald Swanek was bestman and Joe Setlik and Paul Petska were the groom's attendants. Ted Setlik and Ernest Parkos were ushers. Carol Joyce Hulinsky, niece of the bride, and Marina Wadas, niece of the bridegroom, were flowergirls. They wore identical gowns of gold satin with mitts and headbands and carried baskets of yellow and white carnations. Larry Parkos, cousin of the bride was ringbearer.

Following the ceremony the wedding dinner and supper was served at the Legion hall for 100 friends and relatives with Mrs. Laddie Kvetensky and Mrs. Emanuel Bruha waiting tables. The four tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the bride's table. Marjorie Swanek had charge of the guest book.

A dance honoring the newlyweds was held at the Ord Bohemian hall with Ernie Kucera and his orchestra furnishing the music. The couple will make their home on a farm ten miles northeast of Ord.

When You and I Were Young

Ten Years Ago—John K. Jensen, well known Ord contractor, died at the age of 69 years. A big suit was to be tried in court, in which the Columbus project was claiming the Loup irrigation projects took too much water from the Loup. The Burlington railroad was also to be aired Oct. 31, in which the company sought to discontinue two trains.—S. J. W. Brown, former hardware merchant of North Loup and Ord, and once Valley county treasurer, died in Lincoln.—The Valley county Republicans opened headquarters in the Valley Bottling works.—John Conner, 66, died at his home near Ord, having lived on the same place for 47 years.—Sheriff Geo. Brock of Loup county was shot by Birkes when he tried to serve papers on them.—Ord defeated Burwell, there, score 7 to 0.—Allen Zikmund made a touchdown for the Huskers against Indiana.—Herschel McGrew moved his barber shop to the new building north of Aables, and is still doing a fine business there.

Reclamation Research Is Started at Ashton

Paul L. Harley, area engineer for the Bureau of Reclamation in the Lower Platte Basin, announced today that a contract had been awarded to the Raymond Concrete Pile Company of New York City to drive various types of concrete and steel piles near the Ashton Dam site, five miles northwest of Ashton. This operation which has just started and which will be carried forward during the next two weeks is a part of a research program which is being conducted at this site to determine the load-bearing capacities of cast-in-place and driven piles in the typical loessial soils found in this area and throughout a large part of the area contemplated for development under the Missouri River Basin in Nebraska.

Reclamation Research Is Started at Ashton

Work at the Ashton site has been proceeding over the past several weeks to prepare the site for the driving of the piles and for load tests which will be undertaken as soon as the pile driving has been completed. Both the driving and subsequent loading will be conducted on dry soils in their natural state and on pre-wetted soils to determine the effect of moisture on the ability to resist loads that might be placed on friction or bearing piles.

One of the major problems that will be encountered in building large structures on the soils found in this general region is the settlement which is experienced with the wetting and loading of the loessial soils. Information formerly available was very meager in this respect and upon completion of the tests at the Ashton Dam site, much more will be known about the behavior of these soils under conditions of wetting and loading and thus permit the designing engineers to proceed with more confidence in working out their final designs. While the research work is being accomplished near the Ashton Dam site the results will be applicable to many of the sites that are under consideration in the Loup River Area and even in some locations in the Platte Valley.

This is another of the major research projects of the Bureau of Reclamation which have been conducted over a period of years and which have made it possible for Bureau engineers to give advice on design and construction programs that are carried forward not only in this country but in most countries of the world.

Mr. Souba is Superintendent of the Raymond Concrete Pile Company in charge of its operations at the Ashton Dam site and Mr. William Mullen is Resident Engineer in charge for the Bureau of Reclamation.

Visitors are welcome at the test site but must observe caution due to the safety hazards that exist in connection with an operation of this type.

Forty Years Ago—There was a strong demand for farms to rent for the coming year, and many farmers were having a hard time locating a place. It is even worse today.—Bud Shirley followed his habit of long duration and headed the Ord trashshooters with a score of 21 out of 25.—A bridge was built near the Midvale corner, ostensibly to carry traffic from north, south, east and west, but it failed to suit anybody and was finally moved.—A son was born Oct. 5 to Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Trefen, who at that time lived on the old Lanphere place near Elyria.—Company "B" formerly of Ord, was transferred to St. Paul, where H. J. Paul was captain and Ralph Bower and Roscoe A. Seward first and second lieutenants, respectively.—The sugar beet business was flourishing in the valley. Agent P. H. Frick reporting that several cars had been shipped out already, and that eight cars would be shipped out within a week. If irrigation had been available then, the valley would have developed a huge beet raising business.—John Meese and W. L. McNutt were advertising a coming sale of pure bred Poland Chinas.

Sixty Years Ago—N. J. Keown of Ord and Miss Sally Wise of Selet, Kentucky, were married in Kentucky.—The bride was 55 years of age and the groom was 78. Ord had a real athletic club with a membership of thirty, and with J. L. McDonough as president.—The populists were in their glory then, and out of a list of sixty jurors named for the fall term of court only seven were Republicans.

Reclamation Research Is Started at Ashton

Work at the Ashton site has been proceeding over the past several weeks to prepare the site for the driving of the piles and for load tests which will be undertaken as soon as the pile driving has been completed. Both the driving and subsequent loading will be conducted on dry soils in their natural state and on pre-wetted soils to determine the effect of moisture on the ability to resist loads that might be placed on friction or bearing piles.

One of the major problems that will be encountered in building large structures on the soils found in this general region is the settlement which is experienced with the wetting and loading of the loessial soils. Information formerly available was very meager in this respect and upon completion of the tests at the Ashton Dam site, much more will be known about the behavior of these soils under conditions of wetting and loading and thus permit the designing engineers to proceed with more confidence in working out their final designs. While the research work is being accomplished near the Ashton Dam site the results will be applicable to many of the sites that are under consideration in the Loup River Area and even in some locations in the Platte Valley.

This is another of the major research projects of the Bureau of Reclamation which have been conducted over a period of years and which have made it possible for Bureau engineers to give advice on design and construction programs that are carried forward not only in this country but in most countries of the world.

Mr. Souba is Superintendent of the Raymond Concrete Pile Company in charge of its operations at the Ashton Dam site and Mr. William Mullen is Resident Engineer in charge for the Bureau of Reclamation.

Visitors are welcome at the test site but must observe caution due to the safety hazards that exist in connection with an operation of this type.

West Kearney Wins from North Loup

North Loup football team played West Kearney Friday afternoon, October 20, at Kearney and lost a close game by a score of 26-20. Kearney won the game in the last two minutes.

North Loup could not seem to get back into high gear after the second quarter. Meyers was lost by an injured ankle, at the start of the second quarter and Willoughby got time in his eyes from the side lines. North Loup could not stop West Kearney passing, and Kearney took advantage of every North Loup mistake, to take a hard fought battle.

Most of the high school Pep club and some patrons attended the game.

Rev. Paul Travis, formerly of the Travis Cleaners of Loup City, will give an illustrated lecture at the Seventh Day Baptist church both Thursday and Friday evenings this week. Rev. Travis, who has traveled extensively in foreign countries, more than 100,000 miles in the past two years—has many pictures taken on his trip. He personally interviewed Pope Pius XII in Rome, former Governor Dwight Griswold in Greece, Admiral Decker in the orient and many others. His subject for both evenings is "How Christianity Battles Communism." There is no charge for the lecture, but a free will offering will be taken.

Kebby's Comments

The writer who penned the lines "... up hill and down dale" must have been thinking of the football field at Loup City.

We read that Kansas is a 6 1/2 point favorite over Nebraska Saturday. Will somebody explain to us how they'll make that half-point?

It appears that Broken Bow will replace Ord as champion of the Northern division of the Trans-Nebraska conference. They rolled over Burwell, 47-0, Friday evening.

When the Ravenna Bluejays invade the Ord gridiron Friday, a former Ord boy will be carrying a big part of Ravenna's offensive load. He is Eddie Furtak, a personable sort of fellow with a lot of courage. He's a nephew of Syl Furtak, Ord artist.

While drinking coffee the other morning, we were aroused from our usual stupor by this conversation between two women: "I'd like to get a divorce. My husband and I just don't get along." "Well," asked the other, "why don't you sue him for incompatibility?" "I would, if I could just catch him at it," came the reply.

The usual winter re-adjustment of the baseball world has started. Connie Mack retires, Branch Rickey sells his share of the Dodgers, Luke Appling's playing days are coming to an end, and a hike in the price of hot dogs is rumored.

When Purdue beat Notre Dame the South Bend, Indiana, "Tribune" ran the headline, announcing the defeat, upside down. And when Indiana humbled the Irish, the same paper ran a black border around the story.

We have been urged to tell about the girl who looked so luscious in a sweater that she didn't have any trouble pulling the boys' eyes over the wool, but we have decided not to say anything about it.

Vets Cautioned on Insurance Payments

The Veterans Administration today cautioned veterans against forming the habit of making their National Service Life Insurance premium payments during the "grace period"—the extra 31-day period allowed after the due date before a G. I. insurance policy lapses.

Ashley Westmoreland, Lincoln Regional Office Manager, said a recent survey showed that about 20-percent of the nearly 120,000 G. I. insurance premium payments mailed each month to the Fort Snelling, Minnesota, VA insurance office by veterans from Nebraska and four neighboring states were mailed during the "grace period." Westmoreland urged Nebraska veterans to use the "grace period" only for true financial emergencies, and to make a habit of paying their premiums on or before the normal due date. He suggested that one safeguard against lapsed policies would be for veterans to mail their payments promptly in the special return-addressed envelope sent by the VA in the form of a premium due notice. He also reminded veterans who are paying premiums each month that they could help insure against lapsed policies, and save up to three percent per year by making premium payments three or more months in advance.

Sudsing in Middle Ages

In the Middle Ages the peasants had only three formal baths during their lifetime—at birth, before marriage, and when they died. The scarcity and high cost of soap was largely responsible for the widespread epidemics of that era.

Rules Are Given for Pheasant Hunt

With many a shotgun already powder-burned during the opening week of duck season, Nebraska hunters are completing last-minute preparations for the 23-day pursuit of the ring-necked pheasant, the state's king bird. The season gets underway one-half hour before sunrise Saturday.

Hunting is permitted each day until one hour before sunset. The hunt ends on Sunday, Nov. 19, whereas the duck season winds up on Sunday, Dec. 3. The bag and possession limits on pheasants are four and four as compared to two and two last year.

The outlook for this fall's pheasant shoot is the most optimistic in recent years. Favorable reports on pheasant broods and populations have been received for most of the open area. The best hunting will probably occur south of the Platte river where pre-season reports have been very encouraging.

Hunters are reminded that all pheasants taken must have sex identification—either head, tail feathers, or feet must be left on the cock birds.

The following counties or parts thereof are opened to pheasant hunting: Adams, Boone, Buffalo, Burt, Butler, Cass, Cedar, Chase, Clay, Colfax, Cuming, Custer, Dakota, Dawson, Dixon, Dodge, Douglas, Dundy, Fillmore, Franklin, Frontier, Furnas, Gage, Gosper, Greeley, Hall, Hamilton, Harlan, Hayes, Hitchcock, Howard, Jefferson, Johnson.

Kearney, Knox (East of State highway 13 to the intersection with State highway 12 and thence east of a line due north from the intersection of State highway 13 and number 12 to the head of the channel of the Missouri river), Lancaster, Lincoln, Madison, Merrick, Morrill, Nance, Nemaha, Nuckolls, Otoe, Pawnee, Perkins, Phelps, Pierce, Platte, Polk, Red Willow, Richardson, Saline, Sarpy, Saunders, Scotts Bluff, Seward, Sherman, Sioux (South of a line parallel to and one-half mile north of the Inter-State Canal), Stanton, Thayer, Thurston, Valley, Washington, Wayne, Webster, York, except for Federal and State sanctuaries and refuges.

All other counties in the state are closed.

Grain.

The first part of this week grain markets showed some strength in wheat and rye but corn was on the weak side. There are heavy discounts on wheat for sprouted and damaged wheat. The Mill buyers seem to want only high grade milling wheat and the export trade has been very weak now for some time. If you have grain to move we will be glad to make offers on your grain on samples.

Alfalfa Seed and Sweet Clover.

The Sweet Clover market remains very weak and crop reports indicate that we need not look for a very high market on this seed. Alfalfa seed has been maturing well in most sections and now crop reports indicate a much larger crop than expected. Our section will not have a large crop but there will be more seed than the local demand will take. We are interested in your alfalfa seed at a very good price. At present we have a large quantity of sweet clover.

Protein Feeds.

We have just unloaded another load of 12% protein Beefmkr. This feed contains 45% molasses and is in nice pellet form. The price at present is only $68.00 per ton. This gives you an excellent feed at a very low price. Can also furnish it in 20-30 or 40% protein feeds. Let us deliver this feed now and you will have it later when you need it.

We rather feel that molasses feed will be higher priced this winter; as molasses and some kinds of proteins are not plentiful.

Tulip Bulbs.

We still have a few dozen of those nice Holland Tulip Bulbs. They should be planted soon. And we are digging our Glad bulbs now and the crop is very good. Why not get several dozen now while you are thinking about it and have them for next spring.

King and Queen of Ak-Sar-Ben Chosen in Pomp and Ceremony

E. F. Pettis, secretary-treasurer of Brandeis Store in Omaha, one of the greatest friends of the 4-H club movement in Nebraska and southwestern Iowa, received the city's highest civic award when he was crowned the 56th King of Ak-Sar-Ben.

Mr. Pettis with Queen Gertrude Stewart, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stewart, presided over the Ak-Sar-Ben coronation and ball. The two events attracted over 20,000.

Mr. Pettis has played a prominent role in many civic and state boosting activities, especially in stimulating interest in 4-H work, livestock, and agricultural programs. The new King of Ak-Sar-Ben is known to thousands of 4-H club members of this region because every year he presides at the dinner Brandeis Store gives the 4-H boys and girls attending the Ak-Sar-Ben Livestock Show here. In addition, every year at the Ak-Sar-Ben 4-H Club Beef sale, Mr. Pettis has purchased for Brandeis Store many animals at liberal premiums, above the market, in order to encourage the youthful exhibitors.

Kountze Stewart and the late Ella Cotton Nash Heth.

During the coming year the Royal couple will serve as Ak-Sar-Ben's ambassadors of good will, visiting many cities in Nebraska and southwestern Iowa.

SOMETHING YOU CAN DEPEND ON!

Every minute... every day... the whole year round... Natural Gas is on the job to bring better living into your home.

Fast, clean, automatic cooking... silent, trouble-free refrigeration... instant hot water service... automatic clothes drying ... care-free winter heating and delightful summer air-conditioning... these are the important comfort conveniences which Natural Gas brings to you and your family. You can enjoy their benefits without thought or attention to their operation.

That's the kind of service you like. It's the kind of service we are proud to be able to give you.

Bringing you dependable Natural Gas Service is a big and costly job. It requires an investment of nearly $24,000,000. Extending from the gas wells in southern Kansas to the 135 communities we serve is a network of more than 2,700 miles of pipe line. Fourteen Compressor Stations... each equipped with several large engines ranging up to 1,600 horsepower each... are located at strategic points to force the gas through the pipelines. Similarly, Dehydration Plants representing investments of as much as $250,000 each, remove all moisture from the gas. This assures the pipelines operating at full capacity.

Our 500 skilled employees work round-the-clock shifts doing the multitude of jobs necessary to keep the huge system going. Our own F.M. radio system co-ordinates the efforts of production men, compressor station operators, dispatchers, line crews and service men stationed over the vast area we serve.

Your Natural Gas service is as good as the best in the world. But you might well ask, "What about future service? What kind of service will we get five... ten... fifteen years from now?"

Kansas-Nebraska draws gas from more than 185 wells in south-central and south-western Kansas. These wells plus our undeveloped proven reserves will provide an ample supply of Natural Gas to serve our customers for over 25 years! Yes, supply is assured. And furthermore, to us, the future is a challenge... a challenge to continue finding ways and means of making your Natural Gas Service even better and helping you receive greater convenience and enjoyment from it.

The 38th Parallel.

It is not often that a more momentous decision has to be made than that of crossing the 38th parallel in the present conflict in Korea. Only a few such instances have occurred in history, the most notable of which was when Caesar crossed the Rubicon in Northern Italy.

The great Roman had been fighting his Gallic wars in the north, and his enemies took advantage of the opportunity to set up an opposing regime in the south. He had been warned not to return, but he decided to cross the Rubicon, and in so doing made history and kept his place at the head of the Roman empire for several more years.

The Rubicon is not an important stream. It is not a large river. If it were not for the incident mentioned above most of the people of the world would never have heard of it. The stream is not important in itself, but is important for what it represented at the time.

The 38th parallel in Korea is not important in itself, and most Koreans did not even know where it was until the Yanks and the Russians decided upon it as the division line between North and South Korea some five years ago. Then border posts and patrols were set up and the little nation was divided against itself.

Because Russia practically forced the division of the country at the 38th parallel, the crossing of that line by the UN troops can be viewed by Russia as an act of aggression. In the crossing the nations were running the risk of a world war, but it was a planned risk.

In crossing the parallel, defeating the North Koreans and forcing them to return to the former condition of a single nation, the cause of the United Nations will have been greatly enhanced, and their position as a factor of peace in the world will be better understood.

To date Russia has apparently chosen to take a "hands off" policy.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait. Doan's Backache Kidney Pills. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

A Point to Remember... GO BY TRAIN

Whether going to that football game...taking a fall vacation...or any journey...there's a point in remembering that travel by Union Pacific is dependable, convenient and comfortable. Another point—those excellent dining-car meals. Through October, charcoal-broiled steak will be featured. And in November, tempting roast turkey. For good meals...good service, go Union Pacific.

the last moment and many a man is defeated because he was not given the time or opportunity to refute lies told or opportunity to evening of election.

Politics differs from statesmanship in that it is strictly a partisan affair. The statesman can afford to rise above politics but the politician who lives for politics alone cannot attain the stature of a statesman.

Politics is usually act from purely selfish motives, always asking themselves the question: "What is in it for me?"

The man who is wise will take any statement from a professional politician with a grain of salt. The candidate for office who makes extravagant statements he knows he cannot fulfill is not deserving of either credence or support. The wise candidate will refrain from making any promises at all except those both he and his hearers know he can and will fulfill.

++ Something Different ++

I don't recall how goes the life cycle of a fly, but surely if there's anything in that old survival-of-the-fittest wheeze, those two or three flies that get in the house about now must be the toughest, stickiest flies of the whole summer.

They are so hard to catch!

Another little thing I don't know a thing about... cedar bugs! What do they eat? How do they live? Do they really crawl out from under the bark of trees, come spring? Or does it only look to be that way? That may not be the right name for them, for all I know about cedar bugs!

Do you notice, Omaha is a bit friendlier to the rural areas of the state? The hearty, substantial out-state areas upon which Omaha bases her prosperity are getting more notice from her.

For instance, those page ads in the World Herald that talk about "Omaha is a friendly city," a "convention city."

Suddenly they appreciate our dollars. Maybe all our yakking about how everything from better highways to politics is centering in our two metropolitan areas... maybe our yakking is paying off.

You have probably eaten at Dresbach's, on the south edge of Grand Island, for it has been famous for good food for many and many a year. It has furnished the reason for many a trip to that city, with half-a-dozen specialties of the house such as rabbit livers, French fried onions, fried chicken, super steaks, hot biscuits, and so on.

While the little old German fellow owned it, he invented a deal he called sunflower potatoes, and unless you insisted volubly, he would fix them for your order. He was mighty proud of 'em. They seemed to be sliced whole potatoes, arranged in a circle, and centered with another circle, then some way dropped into hot fat and fried as a unit. Like a sunflower, see?

Oh, yes, they were delicious.

Coming home from the game at Lincoln Saturday evening we stopped in at Dresbach's to eat.

First, the old German, sold out a few years ago, and few sunflower potatoes are to be seen there now. Perhaps they aren't served, I must try and find out, now that I've got myself curious.

But on the cashier's desk is a sign that intrigued me for it read: Uncooked chicken backs, 25c per pound.

And since my husband and his sister will practically start a good fight over who gets the chicken backs... well, I paid good attention to that sign.

And tonight gives chicken backs and dumplings.

Oscar Nay should be here. He is a dumpling addict.

Some people can take dumplings or let them alone.

But Oscar can't.

Speaking of Band Day at Lincoln, it was as beautiful as a dream. Sixty-one bright, gay, bands marching merrily and tootling in the jolliest fashion, on a dream of a fall day... it's simply marvellous.

If you have never gone to Lincoln for Band Day, do make plans now to go next year.

If you don't say it was worth any trip and any amount of bother, I'll eat your hat or mine, you say what!

No feathers though!

Now that the fishing contest is over and the smoke has cleared away and the Mrs. has won a prize in three divisions, I guess I might as well admit that she is the best fisherman. But I just must tell a good one on her, or rather, a bad one, since it cost her five dollars.

It was in that crappie contest. Son Guy and family were here from Newman Grove, and we all went up to the Ord dam to fish. The Mrs. got a real prize winner, one that weighed several ounces more than the one she entered in the contest. As we were getting into North Loup I told her to get her big crappie off the stringer so we could weigh it. She did, and at the same time we weighed one I caught that was all of ten ounces. Hers weighed 13 ounces, just an ounce less than the first place winner. Guy's drove on home, and a few days later they chanced to open the door of their car and discovered a fish that had been left in there several days too long.

It was the big crappie the wife had caught, and which she lost in the shuffle. I am certain that it would have topped the list if she hadn't lost it and weighed the second largest by mistake.

Down in Grand Island last week, we had a most enjoyable day, perhaps because the people of the big town believe in carrying out the invitation they have posted on light poles all over the business district: "Welcome to Grand Island." One of the objects of going there was to have this typewriter given a going over, and that is just what it got. I know it will spell a lot better now. While the reader may not notice it, the typing is much easier to read and Lou McCormick may not have so much difficulty translating it on the linotype, I hope. At that, I am lucky I am writing for the Quiz and have people who can guess what I mean doing the translating. Half the battle in life is to be living with people who understand you. However, before you complain that you are not understood, examine yourself and find out if you are making yourself easy to understand. The art of being understood goes hand in hand with Dale Carnegie's "How to Make Friends and Influence People."

The past week probably saw the windup of the fall conventions, and it was a great week for conventions. The weather was perfect all week, probably making up for the cold summer we had. In fact, October so far has been much more like summer than July was, and is doing wonders in ripening and drying out the fields. While very little of it is ready to crop yet, many farmers have been out to get a load or two to feed, and most of them are well satisfied with the quality of the corn as well as the yield. As on previous occasions, we noticed the fact that farm tractors pulling a wide variety of machines were on the highway, forming a condition of danger to themselves as well as the rest of the traffic. This is still an unsolved problem, and nobody seems to be near a solution. They must travel the highway in order to get to and from their fields, and, not requiring a license, they are traveling by special permit of the state highway department.

We saw a number of Legionnaires in Grand Island, where they had gotten off the buses that were bringing them back from San Francisco and the national convention there. If they were any sample of what occurred in the city of the Golden Gate, they must have had a lively time, for they were still having a lot of fun after traveling half way across the continent. The trouble is, the public is prone to judge a whole convention group by the men who get out at every stop and whoop and holler and have fun. They forget that there are always the majority who stay inside the bus and keep quiet. The actual truth is, judged by past experience, that not more than one delegate in ten gets more than is good for him, but the whole group is always judged by the fellows who make the noise.

In rather severe contrast were the carload of firemen from Gering we saw in St. Paul that evening. They were on their way home from the Omaha convention and stopped there for supper. Had it not been for their distinctive blue hats and coats with "Gering Fire Department" on the back nobody could have told them from any other group of visitors in town.

I was certainly lucky. After lunch I had some time to kill, and right then I ran across Gus Fonner, who had time to spare, also. You may have made a hundred trips to Grand Island, but if you have not met Gus Fonner and had a chance to hear him talk you have missed something worth while. If you want to get a liberal education, make it a point to talk with people who know more than you do, and Gus is one of that kind. Perhaps he may not have gone to college, perhaps he did. In any case, he has a diploma from the school of experience, and he does not have to have it framed on the wall to prove it. In addition he spent several years in the school of hard knocks, without which experience no man can hope to get very far in this world. Gus is a man who can talk interestingly on any subject. He has been about everywhere, and knows everything, including the first name of 90% of all the people living in Grand Island. He still lives on his little ranch on south Locust street, where he has all the buildings on the place bulging with antiques of all kinds. If you want to spend one of the most enjoyable days of your life, you should make it a point to call on Gus some time. At 77 he is still a busy man, but he will find time to show you around.

Had lunch in Wolbachs, which would be quite a surprise to my mother, if she were living and knew about it. As Amanda Honnold she was employed in the first hotel in Grand Island for several years before coming to Valley county to take up a homestead. Either there was no bank at the time or she did not want to trust her money to a bank, so she turned her pay over to Mr. Wolbach from time to time, and he kept it for her until she came to the Loup valley and needed it. In those days they did not lunch in Wolbachs, but would buy cheese and crackers in the grocery store and eat there. Meals were reserved for the hotels and cafes. Today you can get a meal at the big department stores and many of the drug stores, as all of them have lunch counters. In addition, there are cafes in every side of every block and they are all busy. Either people are eating more, or there are more people eating, or both.

A good friend of mine told me this week that I was crazy in what I had to say about hybrid corn. I freely admit I don't know the first thing about the subject except what the farmers tell me, but I can dream, can't I? Besides, it is nice to be crazy and get paid for it. A lot of people have to be crazy for nothing.

On the way down we went through the underpass, which is quite an impressive affair. It is well engineered and well built, and should last for many years, and it took a lot of money and time to get the job done. I was not so much impressed by the structure itself as by the measure of safety it represents to the traveling public. There will be many lives, nobody knows how many, saved because it is there, and we cannot place a value on a human life. However, the place where an underpass is really needed is at Chapman, where several persons have been killed by the fast trains in recent years. The trains slow down through Grand Island, but most of them travel through Chapman at fifty miles an hour or more. And, speaking of underpasses, or overpasses, St. Paul has had one of them for the last seventy years and it didn't cost the public a cent, either.

At Midway, where there isn't a building in sight except the elevator on the Burlington off the south, three buses meet in the morning and three meet at night. As we came home some men were just finishing a bulletin board at that corner, and were probably going to put up another of those "Vote No" posters. I am not arguing the question. I am not taking sides. But I do say that, when I see a poster demanding that I do something, I am very likely to do just the opposite. After all, Nebraska is still a free country, and we have a right to think for ourselves. Anybody has a right to request my support for a measure, but nobody has a right to demand it.

Greeley County Kids Exhibit Ak-Sar-Ben Stock Show Winners

Donald Wagner and prize Hereford

Three local boys put many an old time feeder to shame when their 4-H calves were shown and sold at the Ak-Sar-Ben stock show in Omaha this month.

Donald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Wagner, received a purple ribbon on his calf at the Greeley county fair and was given a red one in Omaha.

When Donald purchased his Hereford calf last November, it weighed 125 pounds, and when sold at the stock show he tipped the scales at an even 1200, making a gain of 775 pounds.

Harold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Flacke, ran a close second to Wagner. His Hereford weighed a little heavier, 550 pounds when put into the feed lot, and gained 725 pounds. A nice fat check was received for his efforts, besides a white ribbon at the show.

David, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Peterson, had the baby of them all, but not as far as money was concerned. His Hereford weighed 300 pounds when David started to feed him, brought him a red ribbon and made a good gain of 645 pounds. Many a good steak could be had from that baby beef.

Ten Greeley county boys and girls showed 14 calves at Ak-Sar-Ben in Omaha this month, and brought home many ribbons. Betty Larsen won a blue ribbon on her Angus heifer and a red one on another she showed. Janice Larson received a purple on her Hereford heifer and a red on another. These girls are from Wolbach. Betty's calf won a blue ribbon at the Greeley county fair this year.

Other awards were Jack McManaman, Bob Zan, Jack Leonard and Harry Pritchard, all of Spalding, who took white ribbons. Jack Leonard had two calves to show and brought home two white ribbons. These calves sold at a good price that was above today's market. Janice Larson received 40c for her Angus.

The Comstock Junior High football team emerged victor over Scotia by a score of 13-12, Thursday afternoon on the local field.

Week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Erickson and daughter were Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Woods and two children of Grand Island.

Adolph Bartu accompanied a truck load of cattle to Omaha, Monday.

A bridal shower, honoring Mrs. Robert Trudik was held on the Legion hall Tuesday evening, Oct. 17. The hall was decorated very beautifully, following the Halloween theme of corn shocks, pumpkins, black cats, cat tails, harvest moon, witches and ghosts. The witches and ghosts met the guests at the door and escorted them to their seats and furnished entertainment throughout the evening. Out of town guests included Mrs. Albert Patkos, sr. and Mrs. Albert Patkos, jr. Ord, and Mrs. Ernest Kotrc, Sargent. Lunch of ice cream, cake and coffee was served by hostesses, Mrs. F. C. Montanye, Mrs. H. V. Florida, Mrs. Glen Nelson, Mrs. Carmen Eller-sick, Mrs. Bill Marsh, Mrs. Gerald Dockhorn, Mrs. Jamie Riddle, Mrs. M. F. Henderson and Misses Mary Plock and Maxine Anderson.

Mrs. August Bartu and Miss Avis Lee Copp entertained their grade school pupils at a Halloween party Thursday evening. The children came dressed in costume and prizes were given for the funniest and the best costumes.

From Miss Copp's room, Gary Petet had the funniest costume and Shiela Krikac, the best. From Mrs. Bartu's room, Joy Brown had the funniest and Lana Hall, the best costume. Games were played and a lunch was served.

The C. H. S. sophomore class picked up potatoes at the Philip Dowse farm Thursday. They picked 650 bushel of potatoes and netted about $16 for the class.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Dowse purchased a purebred Hereford bull from Zangger's at North Loup, which was delivered to them Saturday.

Guests at the Albert Treptov home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Almqvist, Grand Island, Miss Rae Jean Bossen, Arcadia, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Erikson and David, Erikson.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Petet and family of Henningford were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Petet, Mrs. Gladys Petet and children and Mr. and Mrs. Murl Amos.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Skala and family and Mrs. Mary Nejdil of Dorchester were Sunday dinner and overnight guests of Mrs. Skala's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Minar and family. Mr. and Mrs. Anton Kolar and Johnnie called Sunday afternoon. Mr. Kolar is a cousin of Mrs. Nejdil. Sunday evening the Minars, Skalas and Mrs. Nejdil called at the home of Mrs. Mary Janicek and Johnnie at Burwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Erich Ritz and family entertained the following at their home Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Will Kuhl and family of Ravenna, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Kuhl and Mrs. Sophia Scherzberg of Loup City, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Plambeck of Ashton and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Obermiller, Rockville, the above mentioned ladies are all sisters of Mrs. Ritz. Also Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Schwaderer and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Schwaderer and family of Loup City, brothers of Mrs. Ritz, and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Thornton and family, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Haesler of Loup City and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Jelinek of Farwell, these ladies are nieces. Mr. and Mrs. Ritz were presented with a lovely table in honor of their twenty-first anniversary which occurs Tuesday, Oct. 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Boyer of Escondido, Calif., came Wednesday and stayed until Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Dye.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Dye entertained the following guests at Sunday dinner. Mrs. Jennie Leudtke, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Leudtke and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gogan and family all of Arcadia and Pfc. Donald Leudtke, who is stationed at Sam Houston, Tex. and was recently wounded in the Korean war and is on furlough visiting relatives in Arcadia.

Mr. and Mrs. George Guggenmos, Saskatchewan, Canada, Mr. and Mrs. George Pejet of Mont., and Mrs. Ben Petet, Comstock, left Monday morning to visit relatives in Denver, Colo.

IMAGINE! IN JUST 5 MINUTES TIME WE SAVED $1,000!

say Mr. & Mrs. Franklin J. Knight
Oak Park, Michigan

Come in... see why you could pay $1,000 more and still not get all the extra room, ease of handling and famous dependability of Dodge!

WHAT BETTER way to spend 5 minutes than by saving $1,000? Yes, just 5 minutes is all it takes for us to show you why owners say you could pay $1,000 more for a car and still not get all that Dodge gives you!

We'll show you roominess inside—head room, leg room, shoulder room. We'll let you sample handling ease, the start-and-stop smoothness of Fluid Drive.

You'll learn about famous Dodge ruggedness and dependability that saves you money year after year.

Before you decide on any car, come in! Don't wait, spend 5 minutes with us—save $1,000!

YES, ANY OTHER CAR THAT PLEASD US BOTH COST $1,000 MORE!

LISTEN CLOSELY!

Another weekend is here! Soon the Church bells will again tell us that it's Sunday morning.
How are we to spend this day? A picnic or an outing might be fun, or maybe a visit to Aunt Mary's. Of course, we can turn over and go back to sleep, or maybe we should complete that delayed chore. As individuals, we have these choices to make—and more.
But as human beings whose destiny is guided by a greater power, we have no choice. Our blessings and our very lives have been bestowed and not earned. They have been entrusted to our care while on earth, and they are not ours to squander or to abuse.
If you begin now to attend Church regularly and to support its work, you will want no other choice—for you will be turning an obligation into a great joy. As men and women, it is our divine privilege to dedicate one day each week to the glory of our Benefactor and savior.
Listen to the Church bells ringing on Sunday morning! Listen closely, for this is a day of worship, of prayer and thanksgiving.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every citizen should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

LEGAL NOTICE

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF VALLEY COUNTY, NEBRASKA. IN THE MATTER OF THE APPLICATION OF GORDON SEERLEY, ADMINISTRATOR, FOR A LICENSE TO SELL REAL ESTATE. ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE. Now on this 13th day of October, 1950, Gordon Seerley, Administrator of the estate of Helen Thompson, deceased, having presented his Petition under oath praying for a license to sell the following described real estate of the said Helen Thompson, deceased, to-wit: Lot One in Block Thirty-one, Original Townsite of the City of Ord, Valley County, Nebraska, for the purpose of obtaining money to pay the debts allowed against said estate and costs of administration for the reason that there is not a sufficient amount of personal property in the possession of said Gordon Seerley, Administrator, belonging to said estate to pay said debts and costs. It is therefore ordered that all persons interested in said estate appear before me, E. G. Kroger, one of the Judges of the District Court within and for Valley County, Nebraska, at Chambers in the District Court room in the City of Grand Island, Hall County, Nebraska, on the 20th day of November, 1950, at the hour of ten o'clock A. M. to show cause if any there be, why a license should not be granted to said Gordon Seerley to sell the above described real estate to pay said debts and costs. It is further ordered that a copy of this Order be served upon all persons interested in said estate by causing the same to be published three successive weeks in The Ord Quiz, a legal newspaper printed, published and of general circulation in said County, NEBRASKA. BY THE COURT, E. G. Kroger District Judge Oct. 19-3t

Proceedings of the County Board

October 17, 1950 The County Board met at a recessed meeting on the call of the chair with the following members present on roll call: Smith, Jablonski, Hansen, Ball, Roe and McClellan. The matter of the public road designated as a "County Road" by the Board in session on the 3rd day of October, 1950, came on for consideration, and hearing of claims and/or objections thereto according to legal notice given as provided by law, and this being the date set for said hearing, and it being past the hour of 2:00 o'clock P. M., as set out in said notice. No claims for damages, or objections thereto, were on file, or were presented by person. No further action was taken by the Board, in the matter. SUPERVISOR HANSEN then introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption to-wit: RESOLUTION. WHEREAS, the road described as follows: to-wit: Commencing at the Southwest corner of Section 28 in Township 17 North of Range 16 West of the Sixth Principal Meridian, Valley County, Nebraska, and running thence West a distance of two miles on the section lines between Sections 29 and 32 and 31 and 30, all in Township 17, North of Range 16, West of the 6th P. M., Valley County, Nebraska, and being 66 feet wide, as a county road and turning the same back to Arcadia Township. NOW, THEREFORE, be it resolved that a hearing on the matter of abandoning said road as a county road be held before this Board on the 9th day of November, 1950, at 1:00 o'clock P. M. Leonard B. Woods, County Clerk of Valley County, Nebraska. By Wilma D. Cochran, Deputy. 29-3tc. IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF VALLEY COUNTY, NEBRASKA. IN THE MATTER OF THE APPLICATION OF GORDON SEERLEY, ADMINISTRATOR, FOR A LICENSE TO SELL REAL ESTATE. ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE. Now on this 13th day of October, 1950, Gordon Seerley, Administrator of the estate of Helen Thompson, deceased, having presented his Petition under oath praying for a license to sell the following described real estate of the said Helen Thompson, deceased, to-wit: Lot One in Block Thirty-one, Original Townsite of the City of Ord, Valley County, Nebraska, for the purpose of obtaining money to pay the debts allowed against said estate and costs of administration for the reason that there is not a sufficient amount of personal property in the possession of said Gordon Seerley, Administrator, belonging to said estate to pay said debts and costs. It is therefore ordered that all persons interested in said estate appear before me, E. G. Kroger, one of the Judges of the District Court within and for Valley County, Nebraska, at Chambers in the District Court room in the City of Grand Island, Hall County, Nebraska, on the 20th day of November, 1950, at the hour of ten o'clock A. M. to show cause if any there be, why a license should not be granted to said Gordon Seerley to sell the above described real estate to pay said debts and costs. It is further ordered that a copy of this Order be served upon all persons interested in said estate by causing the same to be published three successive weeks in The Ord Quiz, a legal newspaper printed, published and of general circulation in said County, NEBRASKA. Keep Good Government in Nebraska—

Re-Elect Your Governor VAL PETERSON

Despite the inflation, high prices and crushing taxes brought on by the spend-thrifts in control at Washington, Nebraska taxes to run our state are among the lowest in the nation. Nebraska, under the leadership of Governor Peterson, has gone ahead without bungling and waste.

How To Hunt Pheasants & Waterfowl

(Adapted)

(TRUE OF SOME HUNTERS)

1. Before leaving town, get plastered, but good. Take plenty of whiskey along (for snake bites, you know). It helps to keep you warm and steadies your aim.
2. If you have a car that will make 75 miles per hour, drive 85. You must get to the hunting area before anyone else does.
3. Drive through all the open fields you can find and don't close any gates. Even cut the fence if it is in your way. (Farmers love to have their stock out and mixed up with their neighbors'). Never ask permission from a farmer, to hunt, or pay any attention to posted land. Who do they think they are, anyway?
4. Be sure to load your gun before leaving, putting a shell in the barrel. This is important. You may only have two friends to bring back when you started with three. This is the best method of helping a friend avoid his income tax that there is.
5. On with the hunt! Drive all around the lake before daylight, shining your lights over it to see if there are any ducks on it. If you see some, all jump out of the car and start shooting at once. Other hunters who have been waiting for sunrise will be delighted.
6. If you notice someone in a good spot who is having pretty fair shooting, walk up to him and strike up a conversation. If any more ducks come in sight, empty your gun on them long before they are in range.
7. When hunting pheasants, every time you return to the car, shut your birds up tight in the trunk and everybody take time off for a few snorts. It will pep you up and you'll be able to shoot much better.
8. Shoot everything that gets up in front of you. If you discover that you have shot a hen, laugh it off and get ready to again blast anything that flies up.
9. On field drives, always hurry ahead of the others. If you run, you'll get to the end of the field as soon as the birds do and you'll get all kinds of shooting. Get mad when they all fly up out of range. Make it a practice to shoot low, especially when in tall weeds, corn or brush. The rest of the fellows will duck when they hear you shoot. Besides, the doctor will appreciate all the business if they don't.
10. When you get home, pile the birds in a warm place and let them lie there at least over night, preferably for a day or two. Shot up entrails give your birds a real "gamey" taste when given this treatment. Then decide you'd rather not clean them yourself and take them to the locker. They will keep well and taste real fine. The locker man will enjoy processing them for you and never has anything else to do but explain why your birds are spoiled.
11. Throw the whole works in the garbage can and decide that you just don't like (duck) (pheasant), or (other game). Cross out two.
12. Isn't it lucky that only some hunters, (not you) hunt and take care of their game like this?
