The Keuka Outlet Trail

Enjoy Yates County's pathway through history

Let the Keuka Outlet Trail connect you to nature, history, health, and mindfulness with stroll or easy bicycle ride. Enter the trail at one of several locations between the Elm Street Sports Complex in Penn Yan and the Dresden Trailhead on Seneca Street near the railroad crossing.

The Friends of the Outlet are planning a busy year with more improvements along the trail and a variety of activities, including a Half Marathon planned for Sept. 27.

Support the Friends' mission to preserve and protect the Keuka Outlet Preservation Area, and be the first to know about upcoming events with an annual membership! Use the form below or click on "Become a Member" at www.KeukaOutletTrail.org.

Yates County

On the Cover

The 338 square mile territory within the present boundaries of Yates County was part of the original county of Albany, established in 1683. On March 12, 1772, Montgomery County was set off from Albany; Jan. 27, 1792, Ontario County was formed from Montgomery; and Feb. 1, 1823, Yates was taken from Ontario, and named in honor of Joseph C. Yates, then governor of the State of New York.

In 1826, a portion of Steuben County was annexed but sections were lost to Seneca and Tompkins Counties in 1828. The boundaries changed again in 1946, when parts of Seneca Lake were gained from Schuyler and Seneca Counties.

Religion has always been important in Yates County's culture, from the arrival of Public Universal Friend Jemima Wilkinson in the late 1700s to Marcus Whitman in the early 1800s, and Robert Green Ingersoll in the mid-1800s to the growing Mennonite community of today.

Elevations range from 445 feet above sea level at the Seneca Lake shoreline, to over 2,140 feet in the town of Italy. Yates County crosses two major watersheds.

The county's total population has grown to 25,208 from the 19,009 counted in 1830, according to the U.S. Census.

Yates County is home to three public libraries a reading center, the Keuka College Library, and libraries in the Penn Yan and Dundee Central Schools.

This year marks the 100th anniversary of the Dundee Library building's opening. The original structure cost $10,000. Since then it has been expanded in 1971, 1979, and 1994. Later this year, another expansion will begin to add a multi-purpose room and renovate other parts of the library to enlarge the children's and young adult areas.

Like the Penn Yan Public Library, and Modeste Be- dard Library in Branchport, the Dundee Library has consistently sought ways to be responsive to the public's need for information, entertainment, and technology. Turn to pages 68 and 69 for more about the libraries.

Town of Barrington

Barrington, located in the south central part of Yates County, was part of neighboring Steuben County until 1826, and covers almost 40 square miles.

Barrington's population in 2010 was 1,681. The town is bordered by Keuka Lake to the west, Milo to the north, Starkey to the east, Schuyler County to the south, and a small segment of Steuben County.

Barrington is one of the least developed or populated towns in Yates County with approximately 1,681 residents.

Over 100 years ago, people traveled from far and wide to visit Crystal Springs. Years ago, Barrington was known for its mineral springs and was a popular resort destination with a large hotel and auxiliary facilities. Today, not much remains of this former community in the small hamlet of Crystal Springs.

Now, their descendants travel to visit a popular farm and craft market, wineries that produce world class wines, quaint family farms, and the beautiful shore of Keuka Lake.

The only present-day hamlet evident in Barrington is Warsaw, a very small settlement which is located roughly in the geographic center of town.

The first settler in the Town of Barrrington was Jacob Teeples, who erected the first building in 1806, becoming the town's first tavern keeper.

The first store was opened by Elijah Townsend, and William Cummings built the first saw mill. The names Wright, Knapp, Finton, Ovenshire, Disbrow, and Crosby, familiar now, were also instrumental in the town's history.

The Barrington Community Church is the center of many activities. And, as is fitting for a rural community with prime hunting land, the Barrington Rifle Club is second home to many town residents.

Barrington is home to the Windmill Farm and Craft Market, one of Yates County's largest visitor attractions. The friendly market draws thousands of shoppers and browsers every Saturday from April through December.

A rural community dotted with Mennonite farms and businesses, Barrington also has several miles of shoreline on Keuka Lake, and although there are no public beaches, many people rent cottages during the summer, or stay at one of the many bed & breakfast inns which includes Red Brick Inn, and Finton's Landing.

In addition to the beautiful country vistas, Barrington is home to a growing number of wineries, a distillery, and Barrington Holistic Healing Spa.

The Barrington History Group, an active group of enthusiastic volunteers, meets monthly on the third Monday at the Barrington Town Hall.

Town of Benton

Benton is approximately 50 square miles in area, or about 32,345 acres. Seneca Lake forms the eastern border of the town, with Torrey to the southeast, Milo and Jerusalem to the South, and Potter along the west. Ontario County marks the northern boundary. The village of Penn Yan is located at the south central border. The town's population in 2010 was 2,836, up from 2,729 in 2005.

Named for Levi Benton, one of the original settlers of the area, Benton settlement was originally plotted at a crossroads location in the geographic center of the town, and was appropriately named Benton Center.

Farming and related agricultural businesses have always been important economic activities in Benton. The many farmsteads spread out across the township are proof of the excellent soils that make for exceptional cropland, orchards, vineyards, and pasture land.

The communities of Benton Center, Bellona, and Ferguson Corners are located in the town of Benton.

Important activities in the early development in the town include brick making, fruit farming, and the milling of flour and wood from water power on the Kashong Creek.

Town of Italy

Located in the southwestern corner of Yates County, Italy is home to the High Tor Wildlife Management Area, a preserve of over 6,100 acres, and the Italy Hill State Forest. From 1930 to 1938, the state acquired abandoned agricultural land under the Hewlett Amendment and the authority of the Enlarged Reforestation Act. The current size is about 1,898 acres. In 2010, the town's population was 1,141.

The town is roughly a six mile by six mile square, covering approximately 40 square miles. The bordering communities are Jerusalem to the east, Steuben County to the south, Ontario County to the west, and the town of Middlesex is to the north.

Italy crosses two watersheds, according to the United States Environmental Protection Agency. They are Chemung (02050105) and Seneca (04140201).

Italy Hill is the highest elevation above sea level in the county at 2,145 feet, offering dramatic views to the glaciated hills and valleys. Canandaigua Lake, the low point in the town, is 686 feet above sea level.

Originally part of the Town of Naples, which was organized as Middletown in 1789, Italy became a town of its own in February 15, 1815. It was first called Italy Hollow and later, Italy Valley. The town of Italy was taken into Yates County upon the extension and organization of the county in 1823.

John Mower was reportedly one of the first settlers of the town, staking his claim to West River Hollow as early as 1790 at age 19. He built the first frame building in the rugged town.

The first postmaster was Valentine Graham, who was named to the post after building the town's first distillery around 1818. He was also justice of the peace and town clerk for several years. The first physician was Dr. Elisha Doubleday.

The Bristol Hills Branch of the Finger Lakes Trail, a 55-mile hiking trail that is part of the 950-mile Finger Lakes Trail System, extends from Ontario County to the Hi Tor Management Area and south again toward Mitchellsville in Steuben County. It is the only portion of the Finger Lakes Trail that passes over land in Yates County.

Italy was once the home of a sizable Seneca Indian (Haudenosaunee) population. Many legends and Indian tales talk about the region and the birth of the Seneca people, which is believed to have occurred at an opening in the earth at the foot of Clark's gully. In more recent times, the population of the town is the lowest in the county, estimated at about 1,141 people.

Town of Jerusalem

Jerusalem has been the location of many important events in Yates County history, and home to scores of interesting and influential people. Ruins and artifacts from early Indian settlements can be found near Friend and Indian Pines.

Jerusalem is the largest town in Yates County. Covering over 63 square miles, it is located in the south central section of Yates. It is most recognizable by the seven-mile-long Bluff Point jutting into Keuka Lake. A portion of Penn Yan is located at its northeast corner.

The hamlet of Keuka Park, on the east branch of the lake, is home to Keuka College.

Considerable development has occurred along the town's shoreline of Keuka Lake, usually in the form of seasonal and year-round homes.

When Jerusalem was organized in 1789 as part of Ontario County, it included the present towns of Benton, Milo, and Torrey, as well as modern Jerusalem.

It was named in deference to the "New Jerusalem" established there by Jemima Wilkinson, the Publick Universal Friend, and her Society in the late 18th century. There was enough population by 1798 to organize a town. When Benton was established in 1803, the town of Jerusalem was left with township seven in the second range of Phelps & Gorham's Purchase, and that part of the seventh township in the first range that lay west of Keuka Lake. The part of Bluff Point south of the seventh township was annexed from Steuben County in 1814.

The year-round population of Jerusalem is around 4,469 persons, second only to Milo, which includes a larger portion of the village of Penn Yan. But in the summer, Jerusalem's population swells to over 6,000. Jerusalem is home to farmers, retirees, professionals, and the college community. People flock here to enjoy the recreational opportunities of the lake, the vinifera wines of the local vineyards, or the hunting, hiking, and natural scenic opportunities of the area.

A community playground was built near the Modeste Bedient Public Library in 2013, another recent addition.

In 2010, the board of Finger Lakes Museum and Aquarium announced plans to build its facility in Branchport. The former Branchport Elementary School is being renovated to become the Museum.

The museum's grounds consist of 13 acres, with access to Sugar Creek, the Creekside Center, and the Townsend-Grady Wildlife Preserve.

In 2019, The Finger Lakes Land Trust accepted a donation of 28 acres in the town of Jerusalem from Art and Kay Wilder. The property contains a half mile of frontage on Big Gully Creek—a tributary to Keuka Lake that has carved a three mile long gorge.

Town of Middlesex

The town of Middlesex was originally plotted as the town of Augusta in 1797, after the first settlers arrived around 1789.

Middlesex, along with Potter, was sold by Thomas Maxwell to Arnold Potter in 1789. Potter divided the 42,230 acres of land into 11 ranges.

The area known as Augusta was originally part of Ontario County, but its name was changed to Middlesex in 1808 because there was another town in Ontario County known as Augusta. In the years following the establishment of Yates County in 1823, Augusta was divided to make the present day town of Middlesex and its neighboring town, Potter, to the east.

Middlesex borders Italy to the south and Ontario County to the north. Situated along the shores of Canandaigua Lake, Middlesex is geographically the smallest town in Yates County, covering an area of 35 square miles.

The wooded hills and valleys are the pride of the town's inhabitants, who revel in the natural beauty.

Like its southern neighbor, Italy, this area was the location of many Seneca Indian celebrations and legends. For example, Bare Hill is the legendary site of the tale of the Great Serpent in which a young Native American boy kills the great snake with his bow and the hill was cleared as the writhing and dying reptile rolled down the slope.

Other Indian stories include tales about Vine Valley and Whaleback—better known as South Hill or Sunnyside. The last Seneca Indian settlement left the region in 1815.

The first town meeting was held in Augusta April 4, 1797, presided by Arnold Potter. At the meeting, David Southland was chosen supervisor and Nathan Loomis named Town Clerk. Some of the first legislation in the town regulated the height and design of rail fences.

In 2010, the town's population was 1,495. Middlesex is home to Dudley Poultry Co. Inc., wholesale supplier of dressed poultry products and imported hams.

Town of Milo

The Town of Milo has the largest population in Yates County at approximately 7,006 people, and includes most of the village of Penn Yan.

Milo is located in the eastern half of the county, occupying a land area of 48 square miles. It is the only town in Yates County that borders both Seneca and Keuka Lake. Benton and Torrey border to the north, and to the south are Barrington and Starkey.

When Samuel Lawrence represented Ontario County in the Assembly in 1818, he formed a new township by a division of the Town of Benton, and proposed calling the area Milan. Because that name had already been chosen for a town in Dutchess County, he agreed to change the name of this town to Milo.

Long before white settlers came to the area in the 1700s, the land was home to Native Americans who named the principal waterway, now known as the Keuka Outlet, Minnesetah. Traces of these early inhabitants have been discovered in trails and burial grounds.

The names of early settlers included some still familiar names such as Lawrence, Hunt, Birdsall, Briggs, Supplee, Spink, Norris, Castner, Fitzwater, Jones, Goundry, Baker, Hazard, Vorce, Kimble, Knapp, Andrews, Hollowell, Sutherland, and Henderson.

As land became available following the Revolutionary War, early settlers from Pennsylvania and New England migrated to Milo. The first wood frame house in Penn Yan was built by Abraham Wagener in 1800.

Much of the development that followed occurred along the Keuka Outlet as water-powered mills processed locally grown raw materials: corn, wheat, timber, flaxseed, and wool.

Plum Point Creek in Himrod was an important mill stream at one point, but now is simply one of the area's magnificent ravines.

The area now known as Milo Center was originally called Nichols' Corners after early pioneers to New Jerusalem, Isaac Nichols and his wife, Anna Boon.

The first Milo Town meeting was held at Isaac Nichols' house April 7, 1818, when those present agreed to raise $150 for the poor.

The first officers included Supervisor Avery Smith; Town Clerk Charles Roberts; Collectors George Nichols and George Youngs; Overseers of the poor Richard Henderson and Roger Sutherland; Commissioners of the highways Isaac Hedges, David Briggs, and Solomon Finch.

Richard Mathews built the area's first distillery around 1794 on the John Davis farm, near a mineral spring west of the settlement that later became known as Himrod's Corners.

Himrod, on Plum Point Brook, became a busy community after the first store was established there in 1831 by Wilhemus M. Himrod. Within a few years, more merchants came to the area where the first post office was opened in 1832. As advances in road, canal, railroad, and steamboat transportation took place in the 1800s, Penn Yan and the surrounding countryside continued to prosper.

Town of Potter

The town of Potter was established in 1832 by subdividing the town of Middlesex. An additional 1,000 acres of land was transferred in 1856 to complete the present day boundaries.

Originally a portion of "Potterstown," it was named after the former landowner Arnold Potter. The current land area of Potter is approximately 40 square miles.

The town is mainly agricultural with wooded areas, some swamp lands and muck lands for growing vegetables. A 2,000 acre muck land area is primarily owned by Torrey Farms. That broad expanse has been known to attract hundreds of rocket enthusiasts from around the U.S. who thrill town residents with their launches.

The character of the town is rural and quiet. Potter is located in the north-central section of Yates County and is bounded by Benton to the east, Jerusalem to the south, Middlesex to the west, and Ontario County to the north. Potter is the only town in Yates County that doesn't have direct land frontage on any of the Finger Lakes.

According to 2010 census figures, the year-round population of Potter is about 1,865, with the majority of the residents living in rural hamlets such as Yatesville, Cole's Corners, East Potter, and Potter.

The population grew by 33 percent between 1970 and 1980, the largest increase during that time of any town in the county, due in large part to the influx of Mennonite families.

The Village of Rushville, located in the northwest corner of town, is split between Yates and Ontario County and is Potter's most sizable population concentration.

Organizations that meet regularly within Potter are the Rushville Lions Club, and congregations of the churches - Potter Baptist Church, Potter Community Church, St. John's Lutheran Church, and St. Mary's Catholic Church

Town of Starkey

Starkey was originally part of Steuben County, becoming a part of Yates County in 1826. Named for early settler John Starkey, it is located in the southeast corner of Yates County and covers about 40 square miles.

Starkey is bordered by Seneca Lake to the east, Schuyler County to the south, Barrington to the west, and Milo to the north. It also is home to the Glenora Falls that enters into the basin of Seneca Lake.

The area was originally part of a larger town named Frederickstown, after Frederick Bartles on March 18, 1796. Frederickstown included areas now belonging to Barrington, Starkey, Reading, Tyrone, Wayne, Orange, and Bradford. What is now known as Starkey was also a portion of the town of Reading.

The first settlement in Starkey was a place called Eddytown, later named Lakemont, an important point on the stage route between Geneva and Newtown.

The story goes that people living on the east side of Seneca Lake saw a column of smoke across the lake, and formed a group to investigate. Crossing to Big Steam Point, they followed the sound of a bell to a cow, who led them to the cabin of William Eddy, believed to be the first dwelling in what became the Town of Starkey.

John Starkey built the Starkey's Corners first store about 1816 and established a post office in 1820. The Starkey Church was the first church of any denomination for many miles around.

The first Starkey Town meeting was held in 1825 at the inn of Isaac P. Seymour in Eddytown, where Timothy Hurd was named supervisor, James Norton, town clerk; and Samuel Kress Jr., Issac Lanny, and John Roberts, assessors.

The principal waterway in Starkey is Big Stream, which enters the town west of Dundee and pours over waterfalls and hillsides into Seneca Lake in the area now known as Glenora, or Big Stream Point.

The first settler at Big Stream Point was Silas Beers, who came to the area in 1815, and built a log house on the end of the point, followed by a sawmill. This was the beginning of a bustling, industrious time for the place that is now one of Yates County's most scenic neighborhoods.

The point was eventually home to sawmills, distilleries, grain mills, a woolen factory, plaster mill, and port for business and pleasure steamboat navigation, largely under the direction of a very enterprising businessman, Larmond Townsend, who bought the first property at Big Stream Point in 1829.

After Townsend's business empire faltered, the community was renamed Glenora, meaning "Mouth of the Glen," by Joshua Ingalls.

The largest settlement within the township is the Village of Dundee, which was incorporated in 1848.

Other communities in Starkey include the hamlets of Rock Stream, Lakemont, Starkey, and Shannon's Corners. In recent years, new development has occurred along the Seneca lakefront bringing Starkey's year-round population to almost 3,573.

Starkey is home to several favorite local wineries such as Hermann J. Wiemer Vineyard, Glenora Wine Cellars, Fulkerson's Winery, Rock Stream Vineyards, Hickory Hollow Winery, Highland Cellars, Magnus Ridge, Shaw Vineyards, Bellangelo, and Starkey's Landing.

Town of Torrey

Torrey may be the youngest town in Yates County, but it is home to the territory's first white settlement, located near City Hill, where the Public Universal Friend's first home was built near Hopeton in 1788.

Located in the northeast portion of the county, Torrey has a population of approximately 1,282 people, according to 2010 census figures. Covering an area of approximately 40 square miles, Torrey shares a border with Benton to the west and north, Seneca Lake to the east, and Milo to the south.

As it winds from Keuka Lake through Penn Yan and Milo, the Keuka Outlet bisects Torrey on its way to Dresden and Seneca Lake. The Outlet Ravine was the site of many historic events and activities.

The completion of the Crooked Lake Canal in 1833 influenced the prosperity of the village of Dresden and much of the surrounding agricultural community as a means to transport people, goods, and supplies between Keuka and Seneca Lakes.

In 1851, Torrey was formed from Benton and Milo in an effort to make the community of Dresden more important as a social and municipal center.

The County Board of Supervisors initially voted against forming the new township, but approved the proposition on a second vote. Supervisor Henry Torrey, from the Town of Potter, was given the honor of conferring his name on the new town.

In 1867, Dresden became an incorporated village, and in 1884, Fall Brook Railroad replaced the canal and locks.

Today, the Keuka Outlet Trail provides recreational and open space opportunities for hikers, runners, and those interested in learning about area historic sites.

Torrey is home to Ferro Corp., and Abtex in addition to many area scenic farms and wineries, such as Fox Run Vineyards, Seneca Shore, Anthony Road Winery, Prejean Winery, Red Tail Ridge, Serenity Winery, and Torrey Ridge Winery. Climbing Bines Craft Ale Co., one of the area's first craft breweries opened in 2013.

Greenidge Generation Power Plant began generating power after five years of work to secure state and federal permits. The plant was built in the 1930s as a coal-fired power plant, and was operated by New York State Electric & Gas for many years, with coal shipments arriving by rail. Now, the plant is powered by natural gas that arrives via Empire Pipeline.

In early 2020, a data farm was added to the power plant.

Village of Dresden

Dresden is Yates County’s only planned community. The basic design of the village was laid down in 1814 by surveyor Valentine Brother, who designed three large public squares and a rectangular street grid.

The Village is named for a city in Germany, and because of a township in another part of New York State, it was officially called West Dresden for a number of years.

The Crooked Lake Canal, built in 1830-33 along the Keuka Outlet, was the main source of prosperity for Dresden until it closed in 1877 because of dwindling traffic and high operating costs. Dresden was officially incorporated in July of 1867.

The 2016 population of Dresden was estimated by the U.S. Census Bureau at 296.

The Village of Dresden and Town of Torrey maintain a public swimming area in the village. Although the village is located on the shores of Seneca Lake, village residents’ drinking water comes from Keuka Lake via the Penn Yan Municipal System.

The U.S. Navy maintains a barge used for sonar equipment testing in Seneca Lake off the shores of Dresden. Abtex, a company that manufactures industrial brushes, is located in the former Dresden Elementary School, which was closed by the Penn Yan School District in the 1980s.

Village of Dundee

Located in the Town of Starkey, between Keuka and Seneca Lakes, and equidistant from Penn Yan and Watkins Glen, the Village of Dundee has long prided itself on its close-knit community spirit.

On June 24, 1848, 113 voters gathered in the home of Andrew Harpending and cast their ballots to decide the fate of the settlement that began to boom in the 1830s.

With 73 years over 40 nays, the community known as Dundee became a village. The village was named after an old Scottish hymn by a music-loving Presbyterian minister.

The area was originally settled around 1807 in a region with soil so sandy and barren, people nicknamed it "Arabia."

In 1807, Isaac Stark built a sawmill, and the village was known as Stark's Mill. In 1808, Benjamin Potter built a tavern in the village. In 1811, Samuel Harpending bought the tavern and opened a hatter's shop.

Because the Harpending family was instrumental in the area, the community was commonly called Harpending Corners.

Dundee was the premier U.S. market for kiln-dried black raspberries at the end of the 19th century.

The village's downtown area has been rebuilt after two devastating fires in the 1800s. Since then, the community boasts one of the area's most active and well-prepared fire departments.

Outlaw Speedway, where amateur racers are sometimes joined by NASCAR stars in the area for races at Watkins Glen International, is south of the village.

The U.S. Census Bureau estimates the village's 2016 population at 1,654.

The Village of Dundee and Towns of Starkey and Barrington are collaborating on several community health initiatives under the umbrella of Our Town RoCKS, funded by a multi-year grant.

The Dundee Volunteer Fire Dept. celebrates its 180th year in 2020.

Village of Penn Yan

Philimon Baldwin, a miller and farmer who was addicted to wit and sarcasm, according to Cleveland's History of Yates County, is credited with naming Penn Yan.

Cleveland wrote, "It was a vexed question for some time, and other names came near being fastened on the nascent village. Finally, on one occasion, when the congregated wisdom of the place had grown somewhat mellow over the subject, as the liquor flowed and the discussion warmed, Baldwin said, 'Let it be called Pang Yang.' This was deemed a compromise by the Pennsylvanians and Yankees of the locality, and though received with repugnance at first, was finally adopted after being improved into Penn Yan."

Much of the land that is now known as Penn Yan was owned by David Wagener. At one time there were really two little hamlets, one at Head Street (now North Avenue) and one at the foot of the lake, until Wagener's son, Abraham, brought the two communities together.

The second generation Wagener laid out the plan for Main Street, and donated the land where the original Yates County Courthouse stands.

According to the U.S. Census, Penn Yan's 2017 population was estimated at 4,784.

In 1968, the Penn Yan firehouse, which was located on Main Street near the Lown's building, was destroyed by fire. A new firehouse was built on Elm Street later that year and dedicated in 1969.

Penn Yan, the Yates County seat, was rated one of the 100 best American small towns for quality of life in the 1980s.

The current village hall was built on the former site of the Elmwood Theater in 2004. Previously, the village offices were located on Maiden Lane and the Police Department was headquartered on Basin Street.

The village operates two parks on the shores of Keuka Lake — Red Jacket and Indian Pines. The village is joined with Dresden by the Keuka Outlet Trail. The village also maintains a boat launch on the Keuka Outlet near the location where the steamboats of the past docked. The Keuka Arts Festival is now held in that area.

Incorporated as a village April 29, 1833, Penn Yan is home to Birkett Mills, Coach & Equipment, KanPak, Silgan Plastics, Soldiers & Sailors Memorial Hospital, and several other large employers and industries.

Penn Yan, Yates County, Milo, and Jerusalem have established a plan for development on the Keuka Lake waterfront from Red Jacket Park to the area along the Keuka outlet, stretching to the Main Street bridge. In early 2014, officials from the village and Yates County signed agreements that lay the foundation for development of multiple residential units on the former site of Penn Yan Marine Manufacturing.

Penn Yan's water treatment facility on Keuka Lake provides drinking water to thousands of customers in the village, the towns of Jerusalem, Milo, Benton, and Pulteney (in Steuben County), and the village of Dresden. Engineering work is underway for an expansion into the Town of Torrey.

Penn Yan operates a sewage treatment facility that also serves districts outside the village limits. Village residents benefit from low cost electricity provided by the Municipal Utilities Board.

In 2019, New York State officials announced the transformative projects that will receive a total of $10 million from the state's Downtown Revitalization Initiative.

Village of Rushville

Rushville, first known as Federal Hollow in the 1790s, was settled when Elias Gilbert built the first house in a corn field close to an inhabited Seneca Indian village. In 1793, the Nathan Loomis family purchased land in Federal Hollow. The community's name was changed to Rushville in 1818 when Dr. Ira Bryant suggested they honor Dr. Benjamin Rush, signer of the Declaration of Independence, and one of the foremost physicians and teachers in the U.S. at the time.

On April 24, 1866, Rushville became an incorporated village by a special act of the state legislature. Then a meeting of the legal voters of the village voted 109 to 9 to incorporate under the law of April 20, 1870. The village sits on the border between Yates and Ontario Counties.

A dedicated group of volunteers have established the Rushville History Room, which is located at 5 Main Street. The History Room includes a Veteran's Wall of Honor that features photos and information about veterans from 1818 to the present, genealogical data, family files, and scrapbooks on Rushville and other area history.

Other elections

The four villages in Yates County and the public school districts also hold elections.

The village elections are held on the third Tuesday of March, unless that date falls on March 17, in which case the election is held March 18.

The school board elections are held in May at the same time as the district's budget vote.

For information about offices, length of terms, and other details, contact the village or school district you are interested in.

Election workers

Election Inspectors are voters who are appointed by the Board of Elections to work in the polls for the Primary & General Election Days or any other election as needed.

They are responsible for making sure the voting process at the polls is conducted according to Election Law in a fair and efficient manner representing the Yates County Board of Elections.

There are at least four inspectors working in each Poll Site, and more in sites where there are more than one Election District. Yates County calls upon 72 to 109 Election Inspectors to work in 18 Election Districts. About 90% return to work every year; so the majority of inspectors are experienced.

Apply for an Election Inspector position at the Board of Elections page of the Yates County website (www.YatesCounty.org).

Yates County Libraries

What began more than 100 years ago with a few used books has now grown to four locations where patrons can find traditional printed resources in addition to digital entertainment and endless access to the world through WIFI connections.

Moving beyond the books, the libraries offer programs to entertain, educate, and engage all ages in many subject areas. From dance parties for toddlers to pot luck gatherings based on specific cookbooks there's something for all interests. In Penn Yan, you can borrow a hot spot, and in Branchport, you can borrow a fishing pole to hit the best spot on Keuka Lake.

Area libraries began to study a multi-county library system in 1956. The Southern Tier Library System was established, and in 1959, the contract was signed with STLS serving Steuben, Yates, Schuyler, Chemung, and Allegany Counties.

Check out your local public library. You will find just what you need, even if you didn't know you needed it.

32 Water St.,
Dundee, N.Y. 14837
607-243-5938
dundee@stls.org

www.dundee.lib.org

Celebrating 100 years in 2020, the Dundee Library evolved from a group of women who began to meet once a week in 1902 to study civic government. In 1903, the women formed the Woman's Study Club. From the dues gathered, they bought books for use in preparing programs for their meetings. In March 1908, Mrs. E.L. Bailey gave the club 40 books and suggested that a library be opened. On May 2, 1908, the Dundee Circulating Library, owning 290 books opened on Saturday afternoons. In 1912, a building fund was set up. When Mrs. Delia Cooper died in 1917, she bequeathed her house and lot on Water Street to be used for a library and educational purposes. The original present building, costing just under $10,000, was erected and opened its doors to the public Jan. 1, 1920.

The Children's Room opened in 1971 and the build-

Founded in 1895 with 1,400 used books, the Penn Yan library offers its users the latest books, programs, and services to meet all their information needs. The original building, a genuine Carnegie Library, dates from 1905. Several renovations and additions over the years have expanded the library to make room for more resources and program space. The latest capital improvements include enhancements outside the building, such as the new patio and gazebo. A charging station for electric vehicles and a run-in shed for horse-drawn vehicles were both added to the parking lot in partnership with the nearby Yates County office complex.

Penn Yan Public Library’s mission is to awaken and satisfy curiosity in the individual, thus enriching the community.

From the Chronicle-Express Archives: Mennonite Buggies

Our Mennonite neighbors

A visit to Yates County's Mennonite country can be a rewarding and fascinating experience. From tranquil farms and the clip-clop of horse-drawn buggies to energy-producing windmills and delicious foods, plenty of opportunities exist for a glimpse into our neighbors' way of life.

Please be considerate of the Mennonites and their lifestyle. They do not solicit or encourage people to take their pictures or knock on their doors. Please remember that they are not actors or spectacles, but ordinary people who believe deeply in Christianity and have chosen a simple, humble, and peaceful way of life that is different from the outside world.

When visiting the Mennonite community, please keep in mind the following basic rules of courtesy:

- DON'T STARE, gawk, or otherwise be disrespectful. Do not enter private property without permission.
- WHEN DRIVING, watch for slow-moving buggies (especially at night), and give them plenty of room when following or passing. Please slow down. To avoid spooking the horses, keep headlights on low-beam and do not sound your horn.

- BUGGY HORSES are valuable property. Do not feed or pet horses tied to a hitching rail or harnessed to a buggy. Think of them as a service animal with a job to do.
  - THINK ABOUT PHOTOS OR VIDEOS, please. Many Mennonites consider posing for photographs to be an unacceptable act of pride and imagery. They will usually allow you to photograph their homes, farms, and buggies if you ask respectfully, but even this can be intrusive and is better avoided. If you must take pictures, consider a telephoto lens, and avoid taking any photos which include recognizable faces.
  - TO LEARN MORE ABOUT their culture, visit a Mennonite owned business and talk with the shop keepers. Most enjoy a good conversation, especially if they don't feel they are being "on display." Be aware of your own attire. Bathing suits are generally not appropriate in any business. Please respect the "Closed Sunday" signs.
- Enjoy your visit to Yates County, but be sure to follow the 'golden rule,' and treat our neighbors and their property the same way you would wish to be treated.
- Provided by The Yates County History Center
