Sun Tolerant Hostas

Hostas are considered shade-tolerant plants, but most do not thrive if grown in deep shade. Hostas grow best in an exposure with morning sun and afternoon shade. Some cultivars will tolerate some afternoon sun, although plants grown in full afternoon sun (especially variegated plants) will show signs of marginal burning on leaves in the summer months.

In general, the blue-leaved hostas require shade, while the gold, yellow, and white-leaved hostas can tolerate more sun. Fragrant hostas grow best with 5 to 6 hours of daily sun. Morning sun with some early afternoon sun helps the fragrant blossom to develop.

A few examples of sun tolerant hostas are:

We grow for the pros!

Acorus gramineus 'Minimus Aureus' (Dwarf Sweet Grass)

A terrific dwarf Acorus that spreads slowly by rhizomes. Grows very well in moist areas, but not in standing water. Its bright gold color and slow spreading properties make it a fine ground cover.

Excellent for brightening the edges of ponds or water gardens. Rich golden yellow blades provide colorful accents, even in lightly shaded areas. Slowly naturalizes by spreading roots.

H: 6-12" / W: 6-12" / Z: 5

Bamboo 'Rufa' (Bamboo)

Among the most cold hardy of the true clumpers, 'Rufa' is becoming well recognized as versatile, non-invasive bamboo, used to create a medium sized hedge or screen. They usually gain about two feet in height each year.

H: 7-10' / W: 3-15' / Z: 4

Bouteloua gracilis 'Blonde Ambition' (Blue Grama)

Features blue-green foliage and striking, flag-like summer flowers on stiff, weather resistant stems. Provides cool-season interest, as the long lasting blonde seed heads remain through winter.

H: 10-30" / W: 10-18" / Z: 4

Calamagrostis brachytricha (Korean Reedgrass)

Calamagrostis brachytricha is a clump-forming, warm season grass with bright green leaves. In late summer blooms emerge with a pink tint. The feathery flowers fade to cream in fall. A graceful addition to the part shade garden!

H: 3-4' / W: 2-3' / Z: 4

Calamagrostis x 'Eldorado' (Feather Reedgrass)

Upright form like 'Karl Foerster' with central gold variegation on the leaf blades. Elongated inflorescences top off the stems, which can reach six feet. Vigorous growing plant when situated in full or part sun in well-drained soil.

H: 4-6' / W: 2' / Z: 4

Calamagrostis x 'Karl Foerster' (Feather Reedgrass)

Clump forming grass has white plumes on strong upright stems in June. The flowers are long blooming and their plumes persist throughout the winter. This plant has the best winter performance of all grasses.

H: 3-5' / W: 2' / Z: 4

Calamagrostis x 'Overdam' (Feather Reedgrass)

'Overdam' has variegated foliage that starts out with bright creamy-white margins which then fade to white with a pink flush. The upright clump of foliage will remain under 2' tall. In late spring, strikingly erect, feathery plumes with sand-colored seed heads appear.
