A word from our CEO

We provide the world's largest selection of superior flowers, plants, bulbs and tubers from our facilities in over 15 countries to growers globally.

As a world market leader in floriculture breeding, we have invested in a new Breeding Technology Centre that will continuously bring new innovations and a dynamic product portfolio with new varieties to our customers. Our development program seeks to identify and apply innovative plant traits such as resistances against viruses, bacteria and yeasts. These are coupled to the development of new breeding and rooting technologies. World class R&D requires a global salesforce that can serve the interests of our customers. Through our global salesforce and partnerships, we aim to drive sustainable growth for our customers at grower and retailer level.

Our people are the key force behind our company and we operate within various cultural settings all over the world. We comply with local environmental laws and regulations and we aim to eliminate the use of chemicals in order to reduce the impact on our environment (something we call our "GreenGuard" program). We also work on process innovations and technologies like Basewell™. This technology enables us to deliver high quality bare-root cuttings directly to growers around the globe that saves time, additional shipments and rooting costs. I'm really excited by the opportunity to drive further change in Dümmen Orange and in our industry by continuously developing and providing high-quality genetics, innovative technologies and sustainable products. Only through innovation and investment can our industry become stronger. For that reason we sponsor training and development programs for our employees and young people looking to enter the sector to become its future leaders. Collectively, we desire to safely and responsibly take care of our planet by providing flowers that are not harmful to the environment. We are looking to create new partnerships and we will continue to build on the achievements of our Research & Development program with even greater transparency and commitment from Dümmen Orange. Together, we will consolidate and improve the global floriculture industry making it stronger.

CEO Dümmen Orange

A collection of decorative floral graphics in the top right corner. It includes several teardrop-shaped leaves in solid colors: orange, dark purple, teal, and green. Interspersed among these are various circular and semi-circular cutouts of carnations in shades of pink, red, and white.
