Added value is bred into our products. Find out how SunPatiens® gives back to nature, and about the amazing weather tolerance of BeautiCal Petchoas. See the latest developments in Osteospermum Cape Daisy. Our attribute guides will help you to determine the best assortment for your success.

SUNPATIENS® GIVES BACK TO NATURE

ARTIS Amsterdam Royal Zoo

ARTIS

SunPatiens® has been giving back to nature since the early 2000s, when Sakata Seed Corporation, the breeder of SunPatiens®, reached an agreement with the Indonesian Government (IAARD) in relation to the botanical species of Impatiens from which SunPatiens® is partly derived. The agreement that was reached between Sakata and Indonesia was a forerunner of the current Nagoya Protocol. This protocol determines rights and obligations for the countries that signed it. This means that for every SunPatiens® plant that is sold, a contribution is made to Indonesia for local research into the maintenance of the biodiversity in that country. When you buy SunPatiens®, you give back to nature.

Air Purifying

An outstanding side-effect is that SunPatiens® is beneficial for its immediate surroundings. Independent research has proved that SunPatiens® absorbs nitrogen dioxide 3 to 4 times better than the average plant. Planting SunPatiens® can therefore contribute to air purification. In countries with a warm climate, it has even been demonstrated that SunPatiens® can contribute to air cooling.

Since January 2018, Sakata, breeder of SunPatiens®, proudly adopts the anoa in ARTIS, Amsterdam Royal Zoo. The anoa originates from Indonesia, as does SunPatiens®.

SuperCal®, is the ideal solution for the landscape. Low maintenance across 3 seasons - the nonsticky foliage means that older flowers drop easily from the plants, with a new cover already in place. After the rain, SuperCal® stays fresh and full of colour. Mildew resistance: low mounding, spreading SuperCal® plants fill in really fast in beds. Unlike standard Petunia, it really holds up in all kinds of weather, constantly producing masses of medium sized flowers.

SuperCal® Choice selection colours are the go-to varieties for growers and landscapers who want to programme production and plant to schedule.
