Our President Jane welcomed all to the meeting, especially new member Trish Richardson. She then introduced our speaker for the evening - Gary Young Gee.

Speaker: Gary presented an illustrated talk on "Miniature Orchids – a Selection". This was a visual feast of beautiful images, and a challenge for the minute-taker! Gary defined miniature orchids as plants 10–20 cm tall with flowers 3–8 cm wide. He suggested that orchid growers can be attracted to growing miniature orchids in order to fit more plants into limited space. The presentation featured the following species:

Kingidium wilsonii (leafless)
Phalaenopsis parishii
Sarcochilus hartmanii (likes bright light)
Sarcochilus fitzgeraldii (likes less light)
Sarcochilus ceciliae (has exposed roots, dry)
Sarcochilus hirticalcar (long flowering)
Plectorrhiza tridentata
Saccolabocopin armettii
Chiloschista parissii (leafless)
Chiloschista lunifera (leafless)

September Judges' Choice Specimen & Orchid of the Night: Dockrillia teretifolia, grown by Craig Allen

President's Report

- Jane reminded members that name badges will need to be worn for the Regional Show and Conference, so anyone without a badge should let her know. Society t-shirts are available for purchase and should be also worn at the show.
- Members were asked to mark on the timesheets when they were willing to assist with running the show, including entry, parking, café, sales and floor walking.
- Jane presented a certificate to Craig Allen for an award at the 2009 show.
- A new book, The Allure of Orchids, the text of which was written by Mark Clements, has just been published by the National Library. It contains illustrations by various artists which are part of the Library's collection. The book will be launched in a month or two.
- On 26 October, at 1:30 pm, members will be able to see the CSIRO orchid glasshouses. This special tour for members has been arranged because they are likely to be too busy with the show to participate in tours organised for the conference.

Q & A

Ben Walcott asked whether others have similar experience to his where Coelogyne flaccida leaf tips always go brown although C. cristata doesn't do that. Some of Don Chesher's *Coelogyne*s have done it too. No-one could explain why or how to avoid this issue. Jane reminded everyone of the need to start staking flower stems early so the flower presents well when mature. When benching plants, flower stems should be supported below the lowest flower - if it's a single flower, below the ovary. Some judges will want to remove the support to see how strong the stem is, so attachment to the stake should be easily released.

Previous Minutes: the minutes of the last two meetings were published in the bulletin. Moved by Karen Groeneveld, seconded by Ros Walcott - approved

Next meeting: The October meeting will be on getting things ready for the show.

Raffle Prizes: Nita Wheeler, Paul Tyerman, Mark Clements, Ron Doyle (twice), Karen Groeneveld, Don Chesher, Bob Bush, and Yvonne Day

Lucky Door Prize: Jane Wright

General Meeting
2 October 2013

Visitors: 0
Apologies: 9

New Books Available

President Jane Wright welcomed all to the meeting. She mentioned Mark Clements' new book, also discussed at the previous meeting, is now available for $31.50. The second edition of the Orchid Society of Canberra's book, Growing Orchids in Cool Climate Australia, is also available.

Show & Conference

The main subject of the meeting was the upcoming South & West Regional Show & Conference. It begins on Friday 4 October with set up and benching of plants followed by judging from 5pm. The layout of the venue was explained, including provisions for parking. Plants to be included in the society's display are needed as early as possible. Sandra Corbett and Karen Groeneveld are the chief organisers of the display. Plants not used in the display will be benched. Novice members were encouraged to enter plants. Registrations of entries should be submitted to Peter Coyne as soon as possible to enable subsequent processing to be completed.

Karen talked about catering and what is needed. Food will be kept relatively simple. Volunteers are needed to help run the café and for other tasks throughout the weekend. Lists at the front of the hall enable people to nominate specific times and tasks for their contribution.

The conference will include talks by our members, which most in this society have heard before. Hopefully our members will not feel they have missed out by not attending the talks and can help run the show instead. Conference participants will be able to tour the CSIRO orchid glasshouses on the Sunday 6 October, and a similar tour has been arranged for Canberra members at 1:30pm on Saturday 26 October.

The conference/show dinner will be held Saturday evening at 7pm at the Kingston Hotel.

Q & A

A mouse was found to be responsible for flower petals and sepals being eaten, leaving just the centre behind. It can be useful to spread old-fashioned (naphthalene) moth balls around pots to deter a few mice. This tactic is doesn't work against a plague, though.

Treasurer's Report

Current bank balance is $15,037.45. Moved by Nita Wheeler, seconded by Karen Groeneveld - approved

Orchid Auction

Jane offered to bid on behalf of members at the species orchid auction in Sydney on 19 October. She needs to know individuals' limits before she bids.
