Standards white ground, stitched light violet, greyed chartreuse band; falls white ground, stitched violet around outer portion, widely banded greyed chartreuse; pale violet beard tipped tangerine in throat; ruffled; pronounced sweet fragrance. Sdlg. 824E: Paul Black's Seedling B80-20 : ('Concord Touch' x 'Daisy') X 'Soft Air'). Mid-America Iris Gardens 1985. Cook-Douglas Medal 1991.

Hybridizer's Comment : When the seedlings from the cross of Black's Seedling B8020 : ('Concord Touch' x 'Daisy') X 'Soft Air') bloomed, they were everything i could have hoped for. They ran the gamut from clean white ground color with sharp purple plicata markings to cream ground with brownish markings. Many had complete bands of color completely encircling the plicata markings and so was born the 'ringed plicata'. There was one that stood out from all the rest, seedling number 824E, later to be named 'Chubby Cheeks'. It had a rather subtle grayed violet plicata band on a warm white ground. The full, fat, rounded and ruffled form was a marked advancement in form and became it's hallmark trait. It begged to be named 'Chubby Cheeks' and as we've come to know, a good name never hurts. (from MEDIANITE-Spring 2008)

CIMARRON ROSE x 3 (Hooker Nichols, 1990) Standard Dwarf Bearded, 14 inches (46 cm), Mid-Late & Remontant Unusual colouring: ochre with a heavy wash of maroon. S. ruffled grey red blend; F. tan grey-red, deeper spot; brown tipped blue beard. Spicy scent and is said to rebloom. HM 1992, AM 1994.

DAZZLING

White standards and purplish violet falls edged with creamy white. Red beards extended with a short white stripe. Really unique.

Intermediate - Mid-season to late - size:60cm - colour:Amoena
2008, Black

'Dazzling' (Paul Black, R. 2008) Sdlg. M143A. IB, 26" (66 cm), ML. S. icy white; style arms white; F. medium dark blue-purple, slightly lighter toward edge, precise 1/4" white band, haft plum in throat, white rays around beard, white dart at end of beard; beards white tipped orange; ruffled; slight spicy fragrance. Q38D, sib to 'Country Dawn' X 'Devoted'. Mid-America 2008. Honorable Mention 2010; Ben Hager Cup 2011; President's Cup 2011; Award of Merit 2012.

Hybridizer's Comment: The color of the Dazzling white standards and styles is repeated as precise narrow bands around vibrant mid purple-blue falls. Bright orange beards arise from a cluster of short white darts surrounding them. Dazzling creates a bright splash of color in your garden.

EARLY FROST x 3 Intermediate. Pure white flowers. Height 40 cms

1977, Gatty

'Early Frost' (Joseph Gatty, R. 1976) White self; white beard tipped yellow in throat. ('Frieda's Favorite' x ('Rehobeth' x ('St. Jude' x 'Lady Ilse')))) X 'Wink'. Keppel 1977

3 X IRIS 'FLAVESCENS'

Intermediate iris. This wonderful iris produces a mass of soft yellow flowers that open over a long period. Wonderful in a border. Scented. Early to mid season with TB irises. Height x spread: 60cm x 40cm

1813, De Candolle

'Flavescens' (De Candolle, 1813). 36", TB. Pale yellow standards over cream falls, lightly reticulated brown at the hafts.

From Cornell Bull. 112: Color effect a light yellow self. Standards martius yellow. falls naphthalene yellow, faintly veined olive-buff. The beard is fine, dense yellow. This variety is a moderately vigorous grower and has stiff, broad foliage which supports the numerous, high, short-branched flower stalks. The blooms are fair sized, sweet scented, and admirable for early cut flowers. Being one of the older sorts and floriferous, this variety is still recommended for mass plantings. Rating 70

3 X IRIS 'FLORENTINA'

Intermediate iris. A traditionally shaped, smallish white flower just touched with blue. Lots of stems. A good border plant. Early to mid season IBs. Height x spread: 60cm x 40cm about 1500, recorded by Linneaus (1753)

'Florentina' (Collected Italy-Introduced N. Europe about 1500) TB-E-W1. Violet fragrance. H.C. "Probably aphylla X pallida"-1939 Checklist. See also a botanical listing as Iris florentina L.

From Cornell Bulletin 112: FLORENTINA (1500. Native to Italy and southern France). Color effect an iridescent creamy white self. Standards iridescent blue-white, fading to cream-white. falls same, yellowish on haft; veined olive. Beard yellow.

This plant is a vigorous grower, and has broad, stiff, glaucous yellow-green foliage which persists in winter. Its spreading, open flowers, of opalescent cream and gray-blue tints, are excellent in the landscape mass or as cut flowers. It is sweet scented and early flowering. It is a common source of the dried orris root. This sort is one of the best ten, and rated too low at 76.

FRITILLARY FLIGHT

Location: in bed by stone steps to West of Garden House

FROSTED VELVET

Pure white standards and flaring purple falls, rimmed with white. The hafts are marked with white veins and on these sit whiskery yellow beards. Laced petals. Slender stems. Lightly scented. Delightful. Mid season. 56cm x 35cm

1988, Fisher

'Frosted Velvet' (Kenneth Fisher, R. 1988). Sdlg. 84-5. MTB, 22" (56 cm). Midseason bloom. Standards white; Falls royal purple, precise white edge; light cream beard. 'Consummation' x 'White Canary'. Kirkland Iris 1989. Honorable Mention 1991; Award of Merit 1993; Williamson-White Medal 1995.

HONORABLE

One of the oldest surviving hybrids. Little bright yellow flowers with yellow beards. The falls are heavily veined with maroon. Carried gracefully on slender stems and produced in profusion. Mid season with the MTB's. Historic variety. Height x spread: 60cm x 40cm

1840, Lémon

'Honorable' (Jean-Nicolas Lémon, 1840). MTB, Mid bloom season. Red and yellow variegata. Mixed with 'Sans Souci'.

NOTE: Although registered as IB, Honorable is considered an MTB.

From: Cornell Bulletin 112: HONORABLE (Lémon, 1840). Color effect, a yellow, red-brown bicolor. S. light cadmium yellow. F. mahogany red. on bronzed yellow ground, flecked deeper. The color is lighter along the dense, orange beard. The coloring in the falls is less intense and solid some seasons, while in others it becomes so intense that it is almost velvety. The plant is a vigorous grower, producing many small to fair-sized flowers. It is a very old sort, found in most early plantings and masqueraded under many names. The most common synonyms are Sans Souci, Brilliant, and Rebecca. The newer variety, Fro, is much preferred today, tho many still retain Honorable for its color contrasts and its historic past. Rating is too low at 40. Also known as Honorable in France.

BLUE RHYTHM

Tall bearded iris. Blue.

From Cooley's Gardens catalog for 1948: "Very large flower of cornflower-blue, softened by a silvery overtone. The large standards are arched and domed, the broad falls are semi-flaring with smoothly colored hafts. Growing from 3 to 4 feet in height, perfectly branched, we consider it just about tops in blue iris." Cornflower blue with a silvery blue underlay, distinctly scented of lemons. An extremely prolific classic variety.

1945, Whiting

'Blue Rhythm' (Mrs. C. Whiting, 1945) TB, Mid bloom season. Clor Code B1M. (Medium blue self). Lemon fragrance. ('Annabel' X 'Blue Zenith'). Honorable Mention; Award of Merit; American Dykes Medal 1950.

BRAITHWAITE

A tried and tested Amoena with velvety, pendulous purple falls with a pale border and lilac-white standards. Yellow beards. Vigorous. Late season. 84cm x 45cm

CHANTILLY

Tall Bearded Flag Iris. Ruffled and feminine flowers, they are a very pretty orchid pink which blends into a pale yellow. The petals are crimped along their edges. An immensely rewarding garden iris, never failing to impress. Height to around 85cm.

1945, Hall

'Chantilly' (David Hall, R. 1943). TB, Midseason bloom. Color Code-R7L. 'Maiden Blush' X Hall pink seedling). Hall 1945. Honorable Mention AIS 1945; Award of Merit 1947.

From the Cooley's Gardens 1949 catalog: A ruffled orchid pink. The edges of both standards and falls are so heavily ruffled and frilled that they have the appearance of being edged with lace of a lighter shade than the rest of the flower. From the same line of breeding as the famous Flamingo Pinks. 36 inch stems strong and well branched. Shown on the cover of the Cooley 1949 catalog

DAUNTLESS

Deep magenta rosy red falls with paler papery standards. Lovely old iris with purple based foliage. US Dykes, 1929

Pattison (1929)

Season: Mid-season

86cm/33ins

1929, Connell

'Dauntless' (Clarence Phillips Connell, 1929) TB, Mid bloom season. Color Code-R9D. ('Cardinal' X 'Rose Madder'). Award of Merit R.H.S. 1938; American Dykes Medal 1929.

From Quality Gardens catalog for 1931: "This is a cross between 'Cardinal' and 'Rose Madder'. The color is red and it is a self color. The falls appear darker than the standards because of their velvety quality. Without question this is one of the outstanding introductions in recent years and we shall be glad when the stock is sufficient that it may be in every garden."

DAUNTLESS. The peer of all red irises, a Dykes medal winner in America, and certainly one of the finest things ever introduced. The blooms are of great size, on tall stems, and flower over a long season. In color DAUNTLESS appears much redder than most other so-called red irises, due partly to the fact that it carries a mixture of orange and brown in its pigment and very little blue or purple. Across the garden it glows like fire. It was the finest variety seen in New England last season. Each $6.50 ; three for $15.00 [Cooley's Wholesale pricelist, 1932]

DEPUTE NOMBLOT

Deep pink standards over velvety maroon falls. Some white veining around a bright orange beard. Another Cayeux classic. French Dykes, 1930 Cayeux (1929)

Season: Mid-season

91cm/35ins

1929, Cayeux

'Député Nomblot' (Ferdinand Cayeux, R. 1929). TB, Mid bloom season. 'Francheville' X 'Bruno'. Cayeux et Le Clerc 1929. C.M; S.N.H.F 1930; French Dykes Memorial Medal 1930; Award of Merit AIS 1936; First Class Certificate Royal Horticultural Society 1936.

DEPUTE NOMBLOT. The world's greatest iris. Blooming for the first time in America during the season of 1930, it almost bowled over all who saw it. During the past season it has proven worthy of first impressions, and from England and France, as well as from all sections of this country, come songs of praise for this imposing giant of the race. Standards light glowing rosy-purple, overlaid bronzy-gold. Falls very wide, spreading, purplish garnet-red, shading to lighter rosy-bronze at the edge. Deep orange beard. Over four feet tall, wonderfully well branched. DEPUTE NOMBLOT received a certificate of merit in 1929 at the Paris show, and in 1930 was awarded the Dykes medal. Each $20.00; three for $50.00 [Cooley's Wholesale pricelist, 1932]

FRIVOLITE. This French introduction is offered as a great improvement upon the variety MARQUISSETTE. The general effect is one of rich and brilliant shrimp-pink, the entire blossom seemingly dusted with gold dust. Mr. Sherman Duffy, eminent iris authority and writer, states in Bulletin No. 41 for October, that during the past blooming season FRIVOLITE made a distinct impression upon him, and that he considered it the finest thing in its class. A very lovely and unique novelty. Rapid of increase. Each $6.50; three for $15.00 [Cooley's Wholesale pricelist, 1932]

3 X GOLD OF AUTUMN

Austin, R. 1960 I. 1961 TB 34" Re

From Lloyd Austin's catalog for 1963: "Starts second bloom in early Sept.; continues all thru Sept. & Oct. First bloomed at only 9 months from seed. Increased to 9 rhizomes by second fall & every one bloomed in Sept. Stalks exceptionally heavily branched, with up to 20 delectable golden flowers per stalk. Standards bright, light yellow; falls deep yellow, burnished with soft crimson, giving an attraction bronzy effect. Pollen plentiful.

From Kelways catalogue 2008: Gold of Autumn Tall bearded Golden bronze standards with deeper falls liberally flecked with tan markings. A repeat flowering iris which will usually bloom for a second tiime in the autumn. Ht 85cm. Austin 60 (Autumn Twilight X April Showers).

'Loreley' TB. Midseason bloom. Color Class Y3D. [now a BB or IB] (Goos & Koenemann abt 1909) note: this is the form often seen. Cornell Bulletin 112 : "Color effect a flecked yellow, velvety pansy violet veined bicolor. Standards amber yellow flecked raisin purple. Falls velvety blackish red-purple, veined violet-purple on lavender outer haft and reticulated red-brown on bronzed base. The blade is bordered light yellow. The plant is a vigorous grower, with stiff, medium, deep green foliage, tinged at the base. The spathe valves are green and slightly keeled. The flowers are borne on widely-branched stalks, and the segments of the blooms expand so that the general effect is that of a short, open bloom with cup-formed standards. Under some circumstances, Fall blooms appear. Their bright colors make interesting masses in the border. Rating 79. --Cornell Bulletin 112

LOUVOIS

3 X MA MIE

It is a pleasure for us to reintroduce this historic variety registered by Ferdinand Cayeux in 1906. This is a disloid plicata with a white ground and blue-violet border. It produces a lot of small-sized flowers and is very vigorous.

Tall bearded - Mid-season - size:90cm - colour:Plicata
🌱 Cayeux (1906)

1906, Cayeux

'Ma Mie' (Ferdinand Cayeux, 1906). Registered as an IB, now considered a TB, Midseason bloom. Color Code-W8. Cayeux et Le Clerc 1906.

From Cornell Bulletin 112: Color effect white, plicated light violet. Standards white, penciled light lavender-violet. Falls clear white, plicated lavender-violet; tinting lighter on outer blade. The beard is fine and sparse, and yellows at the base. The style branches are showy lavender-violet. The flowers are larger than those of 'Mme. Chereau' due to the spreading carriage of their falls. The growth of this variety is moderate and erect, and the fragrance is very good. It is an excellent cut flower. Rating 81

MADAME CHEREAU

Tall, upright, well-branched stems carry white flower with a broad band of violet stitched around the petals. Early season. Historic variety. Height x spread: 91cm x 40cm

1844, Lémon

'Mme. Chéreau'. (Jean-Nicolas Lémon, 1844) TB, Mid bloom season. Color code-W2. Fragrant. High Commendation R.H.S. 1916.

From Cornell Bull. 112: Color effect a lavender- white plicata. Standards white, bordered hortense violet, beautifully ruffled. falls white, with deeper hortense violet, slightly purplish tinged plications. The base of the blade becomes cream-white with a waxy sheen. The styles are showy, hortense violet, and the beard is dense, white, and yellow tipped. The growth is moderate, and the foliage lax, slender, and green. The flowering stalks are tall and well branched, and carry the smallish blooms well above the compact foliage. The delicate coloring, the clear penciling, and the symmetrical form of the individual bloom have not been rivaled by the productions of the modern hybridist. This is one of the best ten, and absolutely lovely, despite its low rating of 74

From Cornell Extension Bulletin 112, 1925: "Color effect a smokey lavender, ageratum-blue, bronzed and blended bicolor. S. pale purplish venaceous, of silky surface texture, bronzed throughout. F. mauvette to deeper ageratum-violet, bronzing at the edge and becoming yellow-olive on outer haft. Reticulations deep gold to olive brown.

The beard is fine, projecting, and yellow-orange, and the styles are cream-buff. The growth is vigorous, and the plant has lax, slender, deep yellow-green leaves, tinged at the base. The flowering stalks are freely produced, above medium height, well branched, and carry their numerous bolooms in a fine mass. The soft, smokey lavender, blending with old gold in the fair-sized, firm-textured flowers, is very pleasing when used in mass with bright yellows. This variety is a late bloomer. Rating 84."

SABLE has also been used in his hybridizing, and he had several seedlings of the same color, one of which, No. 15039, was, in my opinion, the equal of SABLE in color, was of better form, and had a better branched stalk. In discussing the matter with Mr. Cook, he was extremely cautious about introducing a second variety of the SABLE coloring. Several of the judges, however, were of the opinion that a seedling showing decided improvements over its parent should not be discarded. [William J. McKee, "Our President Travels", *A.I.S. From Cooley's Gardens catalog for 1938: "A new iris so far in advance of others of similar color combination that they are simply not in the race. With clean white standards and bright purple falls, it might have been called 'Elk's Temple,' so well does it call to mind the colors of that well known fraternal organization. The flowers are large and are borne on well branched stalks reaching almost forty inches in height."

Note: The variety 'Bright Hour' has been known to be grown and passed around under the name 'Wabash' - the true 'Wabash' has purple based foliage (PBF), 'Bright Hour' does not.

"The variety Wabash is a good example of top-branching, but the habit has rarely been held against it for two reasons; first, the proportions of the plant are such as to help disguise the poor branching; and, second, there is as yet no widely grown substitute for Wabash. There are better amoenas, to be sure, but it will be several years before they are as widely grown, and as widely known". [What Makes a Tall Bearded Iris Good or Bad. 5 x GRAND VENEUR

We believe this "Rougissant" offspring is one of the reddest ever irises we have produced, with its medium wine-red standards and vivid, velvety garnet-red falls. The beards also retain warmth with their copper-toned heart and violet-red tips. The long flowering period of these flowers will delight gardeners as will their wonderfully low-branched stalk (8 to 9 buds).
