Greetings and Welcome Back

Welcome Back!

We are looking forward to sharing a bright, enjoyable, and prosperous 2021 gardening season with you!

Elle and Beth, who you met last year, will be back this season — and we're excited for you to meet Louella, who has taken over for Chris Remsen as our new Commercial Lead. Chris has been promoted to Williston Assistant Store Manager and we're really excited for him in his new role.

This year we've replaced our printed price catalog with a digital one — it's both downloadable and searchable to make finding what you need easier and more efficient.

We look forward to helping you make this a constructive, exciting, and pleasurable planting season!

See you at the Garden Center!

Cold-Hardiness Zones

The Department of Agriculture has divided the U.S. into hardiness zones. In the contiguous U.S., the zones go from 3 (areas with severe winters) to 10 (areas with very mild winters). When buying plants, select varieties that are hardy in your zone, and chances are good that they will survive. Keep in mind that you can sometimes grow plants that are outside your zone; they just require careful siting and, sometimes, extra protection in the winter.

In the eastern half of the country, the USDA map doesn't account for the beneficial effect of a snow cover over perennial plants, the regularity or absence of freeze-thaw cycles, or soil drainage during cold periods.

Average Annual Minimum Temperatures

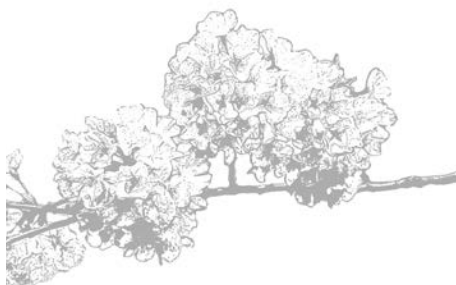

Zone 3b -30 to -35° F

Zone 4a -25 to -30° F

Zone 4b -20 to -25° F

Zone 5a -15 to -20° F

Zone 5b -10 to -15° F

Rosa, Drift Series

Drift roses are repeat-bloomers that are tough, disease resistant, winter hardy and virtually maintenance-free. Prune back to about 6" in early spring (after the last hard frost) for best performance. Regular deadheading encourages re-blooming and helps maintain a tidy appearance but isn't necessary.

Rosa, Easy Elegance Series

This series has been specially bred to be tough and reliable without giving up good looks. Plus, they have disease resistance, superior heat tolerance and extreme cold hardiness. They are easy care and elegantly beautiful.

Rosa, Flower Carpet® Series

Over 25 years of research have developed the award-winning characteristics of this series. They have natural disease-resistance and repeat blossoming, are compact and widespreading, and need virtually no care.

Rosa, Hardy Landscape Series

What makes up a desirable shrub rose? Hardiness, color and disease-resistance. Our selections focus on characteristics such as award-winners, petal color, flower size, delicious flower fragrance, long-lasting blooms, a recurrent bloom cycle, rose hips, glossy and clean leaves and a compact and full form. Salt-tolerant. Adaptable to sandy soils. Effective in hedges.

Rosa, Knock Out Series

This series revolutionized the concept of what a great garden rose should be: hardy, disease-resistant and floriferous, blossoming from spring to frost.

Planting and Care

Planting Guide for Trees

- 1 Dig a round planting hole twice the width of the root ball, but no deeper than the height of the root ball.
- 2 Prepare the backfill with $\frac{1}{3}$ of the topsoil removed from the hole, $\frac{1}{3}$ compost, $\frac{1}{3}$ peat moss, and 1 cup of bone meal.
- 3 For planting in clay soil, prepare the backfill with $\frac{2}{3}$ of the topsoil removed from the hole, $\frac{1}{3}$ compost, 1 cup bonemeal. Omit peat moss and add greensand (use amount recommended on package).
- 4 Set tree straight up in the center of the hole. Make sure the top of the root ball is level with the existing grade of soil.
- 5 Cut all twine and burlap away from the top of the root ball. Cut away or bend back wire loops and burlap.

It is very important to recognize the root flare at the base of the trunk. Pull away the burlap and root ball soil to expose the level at the bottom of this root flare. The base of this flare should then be planted exactly at ground level.

- 6 Fill in around the root ball using prepared backfill, and tamp soil firmly to eliminate air pockets. Backfill to the grade of existing garden soil.
- 7 Mulch around the top of the planting hole with 3-4" of shredded bark mulch. Keep mulch away from trunk.
- 8 Water tree completely with slow, deep soakings. Follow up this planting by soaking the soil at least weekly until the end of the season. A tree's weekly water requirement is approximately 5 gallons, plus 5 gallons per caliper inch. For example, a 2" caliper tree needs 15 gallons. The amount of water will depend on the plant requirements, the weather, and soil conditions. Over-watering in clay soil can be detrimental to the survival of the tree.

Stake tree with 2" x 2" hardwood stakes, sturdy wire, and hose collars, or use the Duckbill Tree Anchor Kits. Remove staking after 1 year.

Pruning Trees

Basic Tree Pruning:

With few exceptions, trees should be pruned during late winter or early spring, just before new growth begins (dead or injured branches can be pruned at any time). Generally, evergreen trees should be pruned by cutting off $\frac{1}{3}$ of the new candles immediately after they harden off.

Pruning Shrubs

Shrubs that bloom on old wood in the spring or summer should be pruned immediately after flowering. Below are some examples:

Spring-Flowering Shrubs Flowers on old wood (previous year's growth)

Aronia arbutifolia	Kalmia latifolia
Chaenomeles speciosa	Lonicera
Cornus	Magnolia
Cotinus	Philadelphus
Cotoneaster	Pieris
Daphne	Rhododendron (including azaleas)
Forsythia x intermedia	Spiraea nipponica
Fothergilla gardenii	Spiraea thunbergii
Hamamelis	Spiraea x vanhouttei
Hydrangea macrophylla	Syringa
Ilex x meserveae	Viburnum
Ilex verticillata	Weigela

Shrubs that bloom on new wood in the spring or summer should be pruned either before or after flowering. Below are some examples:

Summer- and Fall-Flowering Shrubs Flowers on new wood (current year's growth)

Buddleia davidii	Potentilla fruticosa
Callicarpa dichotoma	Rhus
Hamamelis virginiana	Rosa rugosa
Hibiscus syriacus	Spiraea
Hydrangea arborescens	Spiraea japonica
Hydrangea paniculata	Yucca

Calculation and Conversion Guide

Soil and Mulch (coverage in square feet)

Formulas for Finding Area, Square Footage and Volume

Pi = 3.14	W = width	L = length	A = length of one edge
R = radius	B = base	H = height
Area of rectangle = L x W		Area of circle = Pi x R ²
Area of triangle = 1/2 (B x H)		Circumference of circle = 2 x Pi x R
Area of oval = L x W x 0.8
